

Medical Genius's Unspeakable Marriage

Chapter 694

Pete didn't dare to speak, so he just knelt on the ground and waited.

Only after Tiger had dealt with all his work did he glance at him. "Mr. Larson asked you to come here?"

"Mr. Matthew mentioned that I should come and learn from Master Tiger," Pete quickly replied. "If I make any mistakes in the future, please instruct me!"

Tiger nodded. Since this was Matthew's orders, he wouldn't make things difficult for Pete.

"Alright, get up," Tiger said. "Since we'll be working together in the future, I will forget about petty grievances. If there is anything you can't deal with in the future, just give me a call."

Pete was overjoyed. With Tiger's words, not only was his problem resolved, but he also gained Tiger's support, which was the key thing.

Tiger said that if there was anything he couldn't deal with, he could contact him. To put it simply, it meant that if he faced any problem outside in the future, he could use Tiger's name to get things done.

In a word, this incident was a blessing in disguise for Pete.

Of course, he was even more thankful toward Matthew and Sasha now.

If it wasn't for Sasha pleading on his behalf, he didn't know what state he would have been in now. Tiger was not someone to mess with!

“Thank you, Master Tiger! Thank you!” Pete thanked him repeatedly and bowed as he backed out from Tiger’s office.

When he got out, Pete felt refreshed. All of his worries and fears disappeared.

As he drove out of the construction site and reached the entrance, a BMW Series 7 drove over.

Pete took a glance and his gaze turned fierce immediately.

The one driving the BMW was Liam. Ever since Liam became the general manager of the construction company, he had been driving the BMW Series 7.

He had long forgotten that this BMW was something that James had promised to give to Matthew.

Liam drove this BMW Series 7 every day to show off to his friends, and he kept boasting about his business that was worth billions of dollars.

During this period of time, Liam had a lot of people gathered around him.

Those who used to be better than him also started to flatter him.

Liam’s ego was greatly satisfied by all this!

Pete stepped on the accelerator and stopped in front of Liam’s car, blocking him.

For this period of time, Liam had been swaggering around with his nose up in the air, and no one would dare to do something like this to him.

Liam instantly rolled down his window and swore. “Are you f*cking blind? Can’t you see that I’m driving here? If you scratch my car, I’ll kill you!”

Pete didn’t waste his breath replying. He just opened his car door and stomped toward Liam.

Liam smiled when he saw that it was Pete. “And here I was thinking who would dare to do that! What’s up, Pete? Oh right, about my in-laws visiting the company, how did it go? How about we call the others out for a meal tonight and have a feast? It’ll be my treat.”

Liam didn't know what had happened at the company.

Pete's face was dark and when he reached Liam, he opened the car door roughly. Then, he grabbed Liam by his collar and pulled him out of the car.

"Pete, what are you doing?" Liam exclaimed in shock.

But Pete didn't reply to him. He punched Liam directly in the face and kicked him in the stomach.

Getting kicked to the ground, Liam was furious. "Have you gone crazy? I'm Liam Hayes! How dare you hit me? Do you know how much the business I'm in charge of is worth? Billions! If I want you dead, it'd be as easy as crushing an ant. You f*cking—"

Pete didn't wait for him to finish talking and kicked him in the mouth.

Liam's nose and mouth started bleeding instantly, and his words were kicked back into his throat too.

Liam pointed at Pete while muffled cries escaped his mouth. He looked a mess.

Pete then picked up a brick from the floor and pointed it at Liam. "On your knees!" Pete yelled angrily.