

Chapter 129

At this moment, Henry was having tea with Melissa.

Henry was indeed once a famous figure. However, at this point in time, he was working as an ordinary doctor in the Genuine Care Medical Center. He often felt that he was under-appreciated as he had more to offer.

Melissa's phone rang. She looked at it and sighed. "Oh, another ten million dollars in the bag."

Henry paused for a moment as Melissa continued, "It must be that little b*stard again. He must be somewhere making money effortlessly. The brat is practically a walking ATM."

As she spoke, Melissa glanced at Henry from time to time sympathetically.

Henry was getting even more jealous and resentful.

Coincidentally, Henry's phone rang too. While he was talking to the person on the phone, the discontent in his heart vanished. "If you want my help, sure! My consultation fee is two million dollars, nothing less."

On the other end of the line, Lincon felt exploited.

"Two million? F*ck! This is a robbery under broad daylight!" he cursed in his heart.

However, when he gave it a second thought, he knew that it was still a good bargain. After all, he would need to spend at least 10 to 20 million yuans if he were to use the usual way to make his company the official collaborator in Frank's movie.

Two million yuan was not worth mentioning.

Hence, he agreed without saying much.

Henry asked him to send the address and said that he would be there in half an hour.

After hanging up the phone, Henry's eyes were sparkling with pride. He held his head high as if to tell Melissa he also had his ways to make a fortune.

Melissa found him even more pathetic.

How miserable it was for Henry, who was once an acclaimed doctor, to be fighting against William who was nothing better than a young rascal.

Vinson was so excited that he immediately made a phone call after he managed to strike a deal with Henry.

Then, Zhao Lin started to stroll in Vinson's room.

When he was near Vinson's desk, a gleam of light flashed across his eyes all of a sudden.

His gaze was fixed on a file on Vinson's desk.

It was a crumpled document. Written on it was 'the Deadly Heption Herb'.

He took a closer look as his heart began to beat wildly in his chest.

When he heard incoming footsteps, he quickly took his phone and secretly photographed the top sheet of that document.

As soon as Lincon slid his phone back in his pocket, Vinson came in and voiced, "It's strange. Why didn't Director Chien answer the phone? I think we better visit him now."

Lincon nodded and pretended to be calm as he casually, "Elder Zhang, this document of yours..."

Vinson followed Lincon's finger and saw the document on the desk. Vinson's face fell instantly before he quickly put it away. "Oh, that is a paper from a few years ago. I found it interesting, but I haven't studied it thoroughly yet. Nothing to be concerned about."

Lincon nodded his head, curiosity began to fill up every chamber of his heart.

Heption Herb...

Deadly...

When they arrived at the hotel, they happened to bump into William, who was leaving.

At the sight of William, Vinson was taken aback and asked, "Why are you here?"

William replied, "Nothing much. I came to treat

Director Chien."

At that moment, Lincon asked Vinson, "Is this the lousy doctor that you talked about in the morning?"

There was an awkward expression on Vinson's face. When Lincon saw this, he immediately understood the situation.

"You brat, how dare you pass yourself off a famous doctor in front of us? Believe it or not, I'll shred you into pieces on the spot!" Lincon hissed, his face contorted with ferocity.

William was undaunted.

Vinson finally spoke to William in an apologetic tone, "William, you should not get involved. I know that you need a favor from Director Chien, and you have tried your best. But, we can't let Director Chien's condition deteriorate. I have found an expert. You should leave."

When Vinson spoke, he didn't dare to look William in the eyes.

"Elder Zhang, don't waste your time on him! It's obvious that he is trying to take advantage of you. He's a b*stard! Now you, get out of our way!" Lincon uttered.

However, William replied, "I'm done treating Director Chien. He is sleeping right now. The two of you better not disturb him."

While speaking, William was about to close the door.

A flicker of irritation began to surge up in Lincon.

He blocked the door and scorned at William, saying, "How dare you treat him and stop us from entering? Are you trying to hide the fact that he had died under your hands?"

After hearing that, Vinson's expression changed at once too.

However, he suppressed himself and said, "I don't think so. Director Chien knows what's best for him. Besides, I believe William is not that kind of person."

"Elder Zhang, Director Chien is critically ill and in a state of despair and panic. It's unsurprising for him to seek treatment from just anyone! This lousy b*stard is just exploiting every opportunity he gets." Lincon sneered as he pointed at William. "F*ck off and let us in!"

As Lincon spoke, he pushed William aside and strode into the room.

When they saw what was in the room, Lincon, despite being such an experienced doctor, couldn't help but shout in shock!

Vinson's heart skipped a beat!

Was there really an incident?

What act of wickedness did William commit?

Vinson followed suit and his face paled when he saw the eerie and wearisome scene before his eyes!

Frank, at this moment, was soaked in blood.

Bloodstains had completely drenched the bedsheet!

That scene was too dreadful to look at!

Lincon realized what was going on immediately. He shouted, "Don't let that b*stard escape! I knew it! He's just pretending to be a doctor. But he is in fact a murderer!"

Vinson trusted in William at first, but now that the truth was right in front of him, he had no choice but to accept the reality.

Both of them rushed over at the same time to obstruct the door.

William frowned and ordered, "Get out of the way."

"D*mn! You have killed someone and now you are trying to flee! If we didn't arrive here on time, you would have made your escape! Elder Zhang, you finally see his true colors!"

Vinson's face was pallid. He thumped his chest and stamped his feet. "Director Chien, I'm sorry! It's all my fault!"

Lincon immediately took out his phone and called the police.

At that moment, they could hear footsteps approaching them.

As soon as Henry got out of the elevator, he heard Vinson's sorrowful moan instantly.

His heart skipped a beat and was worried about what could have happened.

Hence, he came over hurriedly.

Lincon, who was blocking the door, caught sight of Henry and ran towards him instantly.

"Mr. He, you're finally here! Hurry up and save Director Chien! He's been wrongfully treated by this idiotic doctor. No one knows if he's dead or alive."

Henry frowned and rebuked, "Nonsense! How can there be such a reckless doctor? Bring me in!"

Lincon nodded. He grabbed Henry's hand and dashed into the room.

Henry was greeted by the unconcerned William who was standing in the room.

Henry was completely dumbstruck.

"Why is William here?" he asked inwardly.

Lincon immediately pointed at William and roared, "It's this b*stard! I've already called the police. If we don't put him behind the bars today, who knows what he will do in the future?"

Instead of being furious, Henry walked towards William and greeted politely, "Director Lu..."
