

Chapter 98

William was stunned, but his face remained calm. "Why do you say so?" he asked.

Felicity stared at him. Although she couldn't believe that William had done that, she still asked, "How did you know that the contract terms have changed?"

William smiled and was relieved that her question wasn't too tough.

He responded casually, "The floor was too cold last night and I couldn't fall asleep. I got up and accidentally bumped into your bag. Then, the agreement fell out and I read it."

Felicity didn't believe him.

When William saw the disbelief in her face, he continued to explain, "In fact, you've already guessed that the Genuine Care Medical Center and the North Wind Fund are working together, haven't you?"

Felicity was stunned, as if she discovered an important clue.

There was only one possibility for the agreement to be changed.

Baxter must have done it the previous night when she signed the contract. At that time, due to her nervousness, she signed without verifying the terms.

There's also a chance that everything was secretly planned by the Genuine Care Medical Center.

"Even so, you must have contributed in some way, right?" Felicity asked.

William smiled sweetly from seeing his cute silly wife giving him credit for everything.

He nodded and said with a bitter face, "Yes! In order to convince the Genuine Care Medical Center, I paid a high price."

It was indeed a high price to pay.

William knew that even if Felicity signed a contract with the North Wind Fund, the Bai family would still turn against her.

Therefore, William had to eliminate all possibilities for that to happen.

Each of the terms were specially designed and thoroughly crafted.

Except one.

One of them had made William sustain significant losses.

In order to appease the ten loan companies including the North Wind Fund, William secretly paid millions of yuan to them.

Hearing William's words, Felicity immediately patted his head sympathetically. She thought that he had gone to convince the owner of the Genuine Care Medical Center.

No wonder the Genuine Care Medical Center would change their offer so drastically.

"Thank you, William. Without you, I really don't know what I would've done!" Felicity said gratefully.

"If you really want to thank me, let me sleep on the bed!" William joked solemnly.

Felicity blushed and rolled her eyes, "Don't fool around!"

William sighed. Felicity was so adorable, even when she was evading his request.

He knew that the Bai family was not really convinced.

But hopefully they would restrain themselves for some time after this blow.

There was still one step left before Felicity could assume control of the Bai family.

At this moment, the contract signed between Genuine Care Medical Center and the Bai family was left on Melissa's table.

Lydia was confused and asked, "Melissa, why did he do this? What does he get out of this contract?"

Melissa's brain almost exploded.

She too couldn't understand why...

Nor what the benefit was.

From a literal point of view, the biggest benefit for the Genuine Care Medical Center was that the selling price of the goods was increased by 10 percent.

But that little b*stard William shouldn't have been satisfied with just that.

Melissa glanced at the contract and suddenly fixed her eyes on the fifth clause.

Her heart skipped a beat.

The fifth clause stated: Felicity's company was to appoint Genuine Care Medical Center to nominate more than a dozen pharmaceutical companies in the city as secondary agents.

Before that, it was always the Bai family who appointed their own agents.

Now, the Genuine Care Medical Center would make the decisions for them.

On the bright side, no matter who made the decision, whoever got the secondary agent dealership would still be overjoyed.

However, what Melissa had in mind was....

She didn't know whether it was all William's plan or things just happened coincidentally.

At that moment, all the pharmaceutical companies in Qena City were like little fish forced by William into the same pool, which was the Genuine Care Medical Center.

Then, the next move for them would be...

To catch them all in one big net!

Thinking of this, Melissa shuddered!

"What the h*ll is this little b*stard trying to do?"

Melissa asked.

The trap that he set up was not finished yet!

It had only just begun!

It was also possible that helping Felicity was just a side task. It could be entirely coincidental.

William's ultimate goal was to dominate the pharmaceutical industry of Qena City!

"F*ck!"

Melissa cursed silently. "This little b*stard, his every move was designed to well and truly trap everyone in his little prison!"

It was unprecedented!

At night, Felicity couldn't fall asleep and was tossing and turning in bed. Suddenly, she turned on the light and asked, "William, do you think I would meet Flavia when I go to the Genuine Care Medical Center?"

She looked silly but cute.

William couldn't help chuckling on the floor, "Do you like Sister Flavia so much?"

Felicity looked like a crazy fan, her eyes sparkling as she continued, "Yes, the last time I sang with her, it was like a dream. It felt so unreal. I really want to see her again."

William nodded and said casually, "Okay, I know."

Felicity was stunned. "What do you know?"

William did not speak.

Felicity fell back into bed, resorting to playing with her mobile phone in boredom.

While playing, she suddenly exclaimed in a low voice, "Wow! Sister Flavia will come back the day after tomorrow. She is going to participate in our high school's 100-year anniversary celebration!"

William was stunned. He studied in the same high school with Felicity, but he did not know Flavia was their senior.

"William, let's go together, okay?" Felicity asked, flashing him an adorable glance.

William answered casually, "Okay, I'll follow you wherever you go."

Felicity had faced much criticism in Qena City in recent years, so she had basically never attended any school reunions before.

But this time, Flavia would attend the school celebration. Felicity had to meet her favourite celebrity!

However, as soon as William agreed, Felicity suddenly looked bitter again. "No, I can't go. The day after tomorrow, the Genuine Care Medical Center will be signing a contract with us. We also need to settle the matter regarding secondary agents. Oh no... I don't feel like being the President now..." Felicity complained.

This avid fangirl would give up her position as President to worship Flavia! William really felt like smacking Felicity's little b*tt!

William thought for a moment and said, "Then you should sign it in the same hotel."

Felicity was stunned. "But this time, the school celebration party is held in the Peaplum Resort. The entire resort is fully booked."

"Peaplum Resort?" William clarified.

"I'll sort that out."

After that, he went out to make a phone call.

Felicity stared blankly at William as he walked out. She then wondered, "Since when did my husband have such a say in the Genuine Care Medical Center?"

"Did he rekindle his past romance with Melissa again?" The thought crossed Felicity's mind.

Felicity felt a little jealous. She decided to let him share the bed that night...

William went out and made a call to Tyler Li, "Hi Tyler, it's William here. Is the Peaplum Resort under your company?"

Tyler was at a nightclub. When he saw William's call, he was shocked and hurriedly picked up the call, "Yes, yes, yes! Brother Lu, tell me what you need, your wish is my command!"
