

My Dreamy Old Husband

Chapter 94

Michael was furious at this point and barked, "Who's there?"

He opened the door to see Hale and Nathan standing there, and the former looked apologetic as he said, "I'm sorry, sir. But the Young Master insisted on sleeping with you."

As soon as Hale said that, Nathan quickly ducked under Michael's arms and ran straight toward the bed. Kicking off his slippers, he jumped onto the bed and hid himself under the blanket.

When he was taking a shower just now, he realized that he wouldn't be the only child in the family anymore if Michael and Sophia were to have a baby girl.

By then, Sophia would be too busy taking care of the baby and wouldn't play with him anymore. How boring his life would become!

Upon seeing Nathan, Sophia's face lit up as if she had been thrown a lifeline, and she asked, "What happened, Nate? Are you afraid of sleeping alone?"

"Yes," Nathan answered, a gloomy look on his face.

At the same time, Michael closed the door with a gloomy face as well. He stalked over to see both Sophia and Nathan had made themselves comfortable on the king-sized bed. The red blanket was tucked up to their chins, and they stared at him with sparkling eyes.

With a motherly smile in place, Sophia said, "Dear, Nate said that he was scared to sleep alone."

Hearing her words, the child quickly nodded in agreement.

Michael merely stared at them in silence. After a while, he adjusted his clothes and switched off the lights, only leaving a night lamp on.

All the while, Nathan stared at Michael with wide eyes, as if he was afraid that Michael would really stuff a baby sister into Sophia's belly. If his mother were to get pregnant, she would be too weak to do anything, let alone play with him.

On the other hand, Michael couldn't fall asleep and stared at the ceiling for a long while. He glanced at Nathan, only to find the child's black eyes staring back at him warily.

Annoyed, Michael glared back before looking at Sophia. Exhausted from her military training, she had fallen into a deep slumber after taking a comfortable shower, and was sleeping like a log.

Michael averted his gaze, and it wasn't long before Nathan had fallen asleep as well. The child looked extremely adorable with his chubby face and long eyelashes fanning his cheekbones. He was such an angel!

Turning over, Michael fell into a deep thought as he stared at Nathan's sleeping face.

He had once lost everything dear to him; if it wasn't for the newly born Nathan, he might not have gotten through that dark period in his life.

There was nothing in this world that could compare with Nathan.

On the other hand, Sophia was already in her dreamland. Sleeping soundly, she habitually held onto Nathan out of fear that he would roll off the bed. She clutched him tightly, ensuring he was sleeping on the innermost part of the bed.

As he stared at the mother and son duo, Michael's lips lifted into a gentle smile. He leaned forward to kiss Nathan on the forehead before kissing Sophia's cheek.

When Sophia woke up the next morning, she saw that Nathan had already gotten up as well. Shocked, she quickly looked down and was relieved to see that her clothes were still in place. It seemed that Michael didn't do anything to her yesterday.

Speaking of which, he had left early since he was the protagonist of his current movie. If he was late, he would be dragging the entire production's progress. So, he had to arrive two hours early to get his hair and makeup done.

In the meantime, Sophia took Nathan for breakfast, and they got on the Company 49 bus and returned to the barracks. After settling down, she went about and started her busy day.

Perhaps everyone was too excited when they saw the idols yesterday, so they didn't seem to be in the mood during the morning training. Even the energetic Nathan looked spiritless and had fallen asleep while munching on a slice of watermelon.

Once the morning training was over, everyone gathered under the shade, whereupon a wave of girls surrounded Nathan.

"Oh, Nathan, can you give me the iPad that Mr. Prince gave to you yesterday? I'll buy you a new one!"

"Nathan, I have something more interesting over here!"

"Natie, if you give the iPad to me, I'll give you ten back!"

Although everyone had seen the idols from afar yesterday, they seemed cold and distant, so no one dared to ask for their signatures. However, there were two lucky people who had received gifts from the actors—one boy got Ethan's signed album, but traded it away for a luxurious bungalow in the capital, while the other gift was Nathan's iPad.

However, Nathan only looked at the girls with a long face, obviously rejecting their proposals.

Even so, the girls continued to pester him, but to no avail. In fact, Nathan had nothing to give since the iPad was with Sophia. She had never seen Michael's acting, and wanted to catch up with his movies.

Just then, there was a sudden commotion on the training field, and everyone quickly went in the direction of Company No. 23.

After inquiring, it turned out that Xyla had gotten Taylor's autograph, and she even got him to sign on her cap and take a photo together!

This made the other girls really mad—how did Xyla manage to get an autograph when no one else did?

Green with envy, the girls complained, "Who does Xyla think she is? How could she take a photo with my idol?"

"That's right! I was chased away by the bodyguards when I wanted to take a photo yesterday!"

"All of you are so ignorant. The Harper Family invested ten million in the production of 'Doctor Invincible'. I heard that Xyla got the signature through her connections with Richard Harper!"

"This is so frustrating! If that's the case, I'll have my daddy invest fifty million in the production, so that I can take a photo with my idol too!"

As everyone was talking, the atmosphere suddenly became awkward, and they turned to look at Sophia. After all, she was Richard Harper's "mistress".

It looked like Richard treated his real girlfriend very well; not only did he manage to let her take a photo with her idol, she even got a special autograph on her cap.

Apparently, it was also due to the Harpers that Xyla was able to become the emcee!

Unlike the mistress who, as expected, received nothing. Indeed, the girlfriend's position was much higher than that of the mistress.

However, Sophia was focused on watching the movie, and wasn't aware that people thought of her as a mistress.

In fact, the iPad that Michael gave had a really big memory storage. Not only was it filled with movies and MVs since his debut, the videos were all in HD!

To be honest, Michael was truly a great actor. He had participated in over twenty productions and each movie was a blockbuster; from posing as an adorable child to a solemn middle-aged man, his acting was flawless.

How could someone so powerful exist in this world?

Sophia felt that she was about to fall in love with him.

On the other hand, Xyla had become the envy of many girls in the barracks, and she wore the cap with Taylor's signature with pride.

But it wasn't enough, and she wanted to show it off to Sophia as well.

Xyla knew that Richard had put in a lot of effort to help her to become the emcee, as well as getting Taylor's room number for her.

As expected, her dear Richard would do anything for her!

As for Sophia, he probably had forgotten about her existence.

This went to show that Xyla had not only received a special autograph from her idol, but also Richard's special love for her!
