

Levi Garrison: The Return of the God of War [The Protector] Chapter 1131

Just as Levi was headed toward the North, his cell phone unexpectedly rang.

The sound broke the silence that lasted for two hours. All attention was now focused on Levi.

Levi looked at the screen and saw that the caller ID was "Honey".

Just when he was going to answer the call, he hesitated.

He struggled to make a decision...

Levi's veins bulged and he frowned as frustration surged from within him.

He took a deep breath and decided not to answer the call.

He knew that if he took the call, he would not be able to stick to his decision to leave.

Truth be told, it was a tough choice for him to choose between heading to the North or staying with his family.

However, now that the rampage of the Blood King Palace was even more horrifying than before, Levi had no choice but to settle in his role as a warrior from Erudia.

For the sake of Erudia, he must head toward the North.

One should prioritize the country before the family.

He decided that he must protect his country with all his might.

His family was less important compared to the safety and sovereignty of Erudia.

Levi held onto his phone tightly and crushed it forcefully.

“Mom, I’m sorry. I’m a useless son that is unable to protect you.”

“Zoey, I’m sorry that I cannot take care of you anymore.”

“My child, I’m sorry that I will not be there to witness your birth.”

Levi held back his emotions and mumbled on his own.

Everything happened so suddenly that he could not make arrangements for the safety of Zoey and the others.

He could not find any person to help him in such a short span of time.

After all, the enemy was just too strong.

It was not something any ordinary people could handle.

The only plan that Levi had in mind now was to head toward the North, eradicate the Blood King Palace, and rush back as soon as possible.

He wanted to return in the shortest possible period of time.

“That’s weird... Why is Levi not picking up his phone?” Zoey repeatedly dialed his number but to no avail.

Her heart sank and she had a bad feeling about this.

“What? He’s not picking up his phone?” Emma then tried calling Levi on her phone.

“Sorry, the number you have dialed is unavailable,” the robotic voice sounded from the phone.

"What does this mean?" Emma felt uneasy.

Zoey's face turned sour immediately.

Not only he didn't pick up the phone, but now he had his phone switched off?

This meant that Levi did it on purpose!

He's not picking up the phone...

This is bad.

What I feared the worst may have happened...

Meredith and the others repeatedly tried to contact Levi, but he was unreachable.

"I was right! Levi is scared off by the Garrison clan!" Meredith said in a cold voice.

"He must have run away... Didn't you all notice that he's gone right after Tyrone's warning? It has already been a few hours, and he's still nowhere to be found. I'm sure he has run away!" Logan scornfully remarked.

Everyone pondered about Logan's statement.

What he said is true.

Levi did disappear right after Tyrone's warning.

"Emma, didn't you say that you were proud that your son is a fine gentleman that will never run away? How about now? Now that he's gone you should give us an explanation!"

"That's right! For the past few months, he has always been by Zoey's side to the point where if the situation permits, he'll even want to follow her to the toilet! Now, it's been a few hours, he's nowhere to be seen and his phone is even switched off!"

Harry and Robert joined the conversation.

Unfortunately, their proposition indeed made sense.

Emma could not rebuke their allegations.

Her face turned pale and she started shivering uncontrollably.

She thought to herself, Son, please don't follow in Tyrone's footsteps and abandon your family.

"I tried searching for him but Levi has vanished without a trace!" Aaron was infuriated.
