

Chapter 1161

Later, when I heard people say that working in the South is very profitable, Collin thought about going to the South International South City to work.

But what about the mother?

Later, Collin thought of a way to give his mother's money to a neighbor's honest family. After he found a job, he would send money to the house every month. He would give the neighbors a portion of the money and let the neighbors help take care of his mother.

Collin is a down-to-earth, hardworking, and very intelligent man. Not long after he came to Nancheng, the southern metropolis, he really found a job.

However, this job is in a garment factory.

Moreover, the job he does is a garment worker in a garment factory.

There are not many boys doing this kind of work. They are all done by women first, which is shameful.

But Collin can't take care of that much anymore. He wants to make money as quickly as possible, and then send it home to support his mother.

In just over a year, Collin earned more than 10,000 yuan in wages in the clothing factory. He only left 2,000 yuan for living expenses, and all the rest was sent to his mother.

That year, Collin did not go home for the New Year.

He wants to insist on insisting, and after earning more money, he won't come out, and then he can introduce a girlfriend at home, marry a wife and have children, and take care of his old mother.

Another year has passed, and Collin has earned more than 20,000 yuan.

Collin, who had not returned home for more than two years with more than 20,000 yuan in his arms, was considered a small amount of money 20 years ago.

However, when he returned home, what Collin didn't expect was that his old mother was so skinny and unable to move in bed.

After asking the old mother, I found out that the neighbor he entrusted to give the old mother a meal every day, and all they ate were leftovers.

When it's busy, they don't even deliver a meal in two or three days.

That family is good. With more than 10,000 yuan sent back by Collin, they built four large brick houses.

Collin was so angry at the time that he almost fell ill.

But when he thought that if he died of illness and the old lady was not taken care of, he insisted on not letting himself be too angry. He persuaded himself in his heart that one day in the future, he would become so prosperous that he must repay the family twice.

That year, Collin did not go out to work, but concentrated on taking care of his mother at home.

Twenty thousand yuan can allow a mother and child to live in the local area for a year and live a very good life. In one year, the old mother's body is also well maintained, and she can work in the fields and go to the market to sell eggs, fruits and the like for their own expenses.

A year later, the old lady urged Collin: "My son, go out to work again, come back and make more money, build a house and introduce a girlfriend."

Collin thought so too.

Collin worked in Nancheng for another year.

This year is already the fourth year he graduated from high school. If he could go to college, he would be considered a college graduate.

At that time, Collin was twenty-two years old, young and strong, and strong in his length. He was also practical and hardworking. Before he knew it, he was actually taken by the factory boss.

At that time, the owner of his clothing factory was worth about 70 to 80 million.

It's a rich man.

The factory owner called him directly into the office to talk: "Xiao Han, I heard that you are the only child at home? And besides an old mother, there are no relatives in your family?"

Collin doesn't know what the boss asks him for, but he can do it neither humble nor overbearing: "Boss, if you are looking for Xiao Han, please tell me directly, Xiao Han has no other skills, but he will definitely work in the factory."

Hearing Collin's words so neither humble nor humble, the boss was even more happy.

He simply said bluntly: "Xiao Han, I want to recruit you as a son-in-law, do you agree?"

Chapter 1162

Collin was dumbfounded at the time.

Him!

A young man who came out of a rural village in the northeast had no great abilities.

I worked for four years in a clothing factory where men were unwilling to enter.

He couldn't believe it himself, the boss could actually like him.

But Collin was not excited either.

He was born a kind and calm person, he said slightly shyly: "Boss, how can Xiao Han Hede, you are attracted to you, and you want me to be your son-in-law?"

The boss also said very bluntly: "I have seen the handwriting you wrote. The handwriting is called a beautiful one. I have also seen you remember your working hours. Once the leader of your group asked for leave to go home. The management team is well organized, and you are an individual."

Collin: "..."

"If I guessed correctly, did you graduate from high school?" the boss asked again.

Collin nodded: "Yes, boss."

"The family is too poor and there is no money to supply you, so I dropped out of school?" The boss is really a human being, and he can guess everything.

Collin nodded again: "The people in the northeast mountainous area are really poor. Up to now, we don't have as many garment factories in the south as yours. Many young and strong boys have no work."

Hearing Collin's words, the boss looked even more happy.

He bluntly told Collin: "Xiao Han, to tell you, I have a daughter who is two years older than you. She has graduated from university for two years. In her junior year, she fell in love with a boy in the same class and became pregnant."

Collin: "... " He felt a little sudden in his heart.

The boss continued: "My daughter just gave birth to the child, but the male classmate went abroad. My daughter got angry and jumped upside down from the second floor. She wanted to commit suicide. As a result, she didn't fall to death. She fell into a leg and became disabled."

Collin: "... "

"Xiao Han, you are a talented person who is also a high school student. If you are willing to be my son-in-law, my 70-80 million family property is yours. In the future, if you manage this factory, you will be righteous. My boss is now."

"My daughter is pretty good, only two years older than you, and her son is just over a year old. It doesn't affect your relationship. You...consider?"

Faced with such a big temptation. To be honest, it is impossible for Collin to have no fluctuations in his heart.

He hesitated and said to the boss: "Boss, let me think about it."

After a pause, he asked again: "If you ask me bluntly like this, you are not afraid that your daughter will not see me?"

The boss laughed: "My daughter has seen you many, many times. Let me tell you the truth. She first fancied you. If she doesn't care about you, how can I find you? I'm just such a daughter. Of course I Let's get close to my daughter's liking first."

Collin: "... "

At that moment, he didn't know what to say.

It's impossible to say that you don't have a heartbeat.

He was a young man who had never seen the world in the mountains. He even had a meal in a big city. He didn't know how to eat. He was afraid that he would be jokes when he was eating too much.

He is just a mess.

People can be admired, even if it has a broken leg, even if it has a son.

What are you afraid of?

Like him, what can he marry when he returns to the mountainous countryside in the northeast?

Collin said that he went back to the dormitory to consider it. In fact, he tried hard to press his heart of surprise.

The next day, Collin deliberately went to the public telephone booth in the city and called the town where he was.

On the third day, Collin went to the city to make a phone call.
