

The King's Protector Chapter 1

The Great Continent

In the world where humans are living with magical creatures in The Great Continent, there are four Kingdoms namely Mordeux from the West, Divinos of the North, Magia from the East and lastly Eterna from the South.

For more than a century, the four Kingdoms were without the one true King, uniting all four Kingdoms, called The Magni King. The last reigning Magni King was King Daevas of the Daemones species, living in Mordeux.

King Daevas was an evil king who devours souls making him powerful by killing innocents who he thinks are unworthy to live. Being from the species called Daemones, who are born from fires of hell, Daemones are the descendant of demons breeding with human thousands of years ago. They lived among the many frightening species that exist in Mordeux Kingdom.

The reign of Daevas ended by a war led by the Kings united from the other Kingdoms. The war called The Great War.

After the fall of King Daevas, the four Kingdoms was in peace and prosperous for many years.

However, the peace treaty was broken by the rise of the new Kings from the next generations of those Kings.

There were civil wars within the Kingdom and wars between Kingdoms. It led to Kings killing Kings.

For many decades, hope was lost.

Until one fine day, a prophecy came to light by the gifted Visioners, living in the mountains of the Northern Kingdom. Visioners wish to restore balance between good and evil.. once again.

A prophecy of a Human King that will rise among Kings uniting Kingdoms, making The Great Continent great again.

Once the prophecy of the rise of a new Magni King, or what they later call The Chosen One, reached the ears of the Kings, hope is restored again.

It was a good news to many but some wants The Chosen One dead.

*****

Mordeux Kingdom occupied with beastly species namely the Bestia, Daemones, Giants, Ogres and Monkers. The people from other Kingdoms fear the people of Mordeaux for their frightening features with horns and tusks. Mostly hideous looking.

They are mostly trained warriors being very tall with muscular physique. Both male and female.

The borders of Mordeux Kingdom are guarded by the Monkers that look like two legged giant hairy apes with tusks. They also guard the dark woods of Mordeux Kingdom, where other species live like the Giants and Ogres.

The Mordeux Kingdom is most of the time in darkness where volcanoes and geysers are visible and commonly seen. There were also unique flying creatures seen in the sky namely the Giant Eagles, Pegamons, Leones and Flares.

In the training ground of Bestia Castle of Mordeux Kingdom, there stood a Princess with the name Aria, being the half sister of King Argan and Prince Armand of the Bestia species.

In the current world, King Argan is the ruler of the whole Mordeux Kingdom where other species too bow to him.

Being at the height of 220cm, broad shoulders with hard muscles and a large pointy horn on his forehead, King Argan is a magnificent sight to look at. His Beastian face that is angular to perfection, making most Beastian female swoon if he touch them.

Beastian are known as merciless warriors that does not leave any enemy survivors alive in war.. wars which they never lose under the reign of King Argan.

Princess Aria standing at the height of only 170cm and with the weight of 55kg, is considered as tiny and too skinny for Beastian male. Beastian species are tall at an average height of 200cm at least.

Naturally tanned skin with dark brown eyes and dark hair are the typical features of Beastian. They have a horn in the middle of their forehead. The bigger the horn, the more respect they get.

Unfortunately, Princess Aria has no horn.

To Beastian men, not only Aria is considered weak and tiny, she is also ugly to them. Too fair and her golden shiny hair is an eye sore to them. Being without a horn on her forehead, causing some Beastian calling her a freak of nature. A curse.

"Again Aria! Pick up the sword you weak thing!" Vena, the leader of the female warriors of Beastia, who stood at 210cm in height, shouted at Aria. She is very strong and feared by most male and female Beastian.

Aria has light brown eyes that would turn reddish when she gets angry. She has long slender legs with small waist but blessed with fairly large breast and sexy curves. She may be considered very beautiful for human, but in Beastia.. she is the ugliest female Beastian in history of Beastian existence.

So ugly for Beastian men that when she reached the age of sixteen about two years ago, King Argan got a headache as no male Beastian wants to marry her. King Argan even offered wealth to any male Beastian that is willing to marry his sister.

But Beastian are proud species that only prefer to marry their own kind rather than a half breed like Princess Aria. She is no pure blood of Beastian. A shame to the male Beastian if married to her.

In Aria's heart, only one male Beastian that she dreams of marrying. His name is Jor, the second in command of the male Beastian warriors. Standing at the height of 210cm with a handsome face by Beastian standards, he is the most eligible bachelor most sought after by any female Beastian in Mordeux Kingdom, besides King Argan and Prince Armand. He has fairly large pointy horn, a symbol of his strength.

However, Jor is only attracted to physical strength. For male Beastian, beauty is referred to as courage and strength not pretty face or body.

To be considered as the strongest Beastian, one needs to be the champion of the Mordeux Warrior Tournament held on annual basis. A tournament opens to all species in The Great Continent.

The defending champion for three years in a row is currently King Argan and was won once by Armand, Vena, Jor and Kole.

As for Aria, she has never even pass the first round of the total three rounds of the Mordeux Battle Tournament since the first time she entered the tournament at the age of fifteen. This year, at the age of seventeen, she is determined to win.. or at least pass round one.

While currently in combat training with Vena preparing for the coming Mordeux Warrior Tournament, Aria saw the handsome Jor coming to watch them practice. Both Aria and Vena were always trying to get the attention of Jor.

Despite he is not sexually attracted to Aria, they are still friends. He also respects her as the half sister of his King Argan and Warrior General Prince Armand.

Waving like a small girl in the training ground, Aria shouted to Jor "Hey Jor, you came to watch me practice?"

From far, she saw him nodded. Aria grinned.

Looking at Jor, Aria smiled as she saw him looking at her with that handsome face. While Aria still in a daze looking at Jor, Vena came closer to Aria and punched her pretty little face.

"Ouch.. what the f**k Vena?" Aria shouted wiping the blood at the corner of her mouth.

"That's for not concentrating.. you half breed scum! Now, fight me!" Vena shouted. Aria is not afraid of Vena and aim to punch Vena's face back for embarrassing her in front of Jor.

In Aria's mind, she has the imagination of choking Vena repeatedly till she dies.

Vena, who is also attracted to Jor, knows that Aria too has strong feelings for Jor. Competing with a Princess is not an easy task.

Realising Jor is still looking at her, Aria pick up her sword and swing it with all her strength to strike Vena. Vena was stunned but being a trained warrior, she manage to avoid it on time and pushed Aria back dropping the heavy sword.

Not wanting to show how hurt the push was, Aria decided to cheat. She used her magic.. a forbidden thing to do in Beastia. She secretly freeze Vena, just enough time to give her a strong back kick that push Vena back to the ground.

Vena knew something was not right. 'That b***h used magic, eh? I will teach her a lesson!' Vena thought.

Vena got up and marched towards Aria in anger "You Evangeline Witch. I'm going to kill you, B***H!"

Vena is always jealous of Aria who is loved by King Argan and Prince Armand. Since the death of Vena's parents in a war with the Evangeline of the North in the past, Vena became an orphan at a very young age.

Her father was a good friend to former King Anton. When her father died, King Anton took her to live in the castle as his ward. Vena was loved and taken good care by Anton and his first wife.

When Anton remarried to Isadora and had Aria, Vena's life changed. She was forgotten and often being left behind. Seeing Aria being loved by the late King Anton and Queen Isadora in the past, it made Vena sick of jealousy for many years.

"Aria!! Stop! Put off your magic. The training today ends. Everyone go back to your quarters!" King Argan shouted to Aria. Being scared of Argan, Aria bowed to him, nervously.

Walking closer to her brother Argan, Aria opened her mouth to say something but then.. 'PANG!'

A slap was given by King Argan who stood tall above her, staring down at Aria who fell on the ground in pain and embarrassment.

Vena smiled with a look of victory.