

Chapter 16

After returning home, Rebecca threw herself into the arms of her mother, Karma Beaufort, and cried loudly. "Boo hoo hoo, mom, why did he do this to me? This is going to ruin me!"

"Now child, don't cry. What did Mr. Toland say? Did he really have someone do it?"

Rebecca clenched her fists and stopped crying. "He admitted it. Not only that, but as early as the first time I slept with Edward, he knew it. He had a lot of evidence that I was having a pre-marital affair with Edward!"

Suddenly Karma Beaufort felt a little dizzy. "How could this be? Did he lie to you? If so, how could he have kept it to himself all this time?"

No man would put up with his fiancée having s*x with another man. What's more, Karma knew that it had been two years that Edward and Rebecca had maintained that kind of relationship.

When Rebecca thought of this, her whole body was about to collapse. "I couldn't believe it, but he said that everything was for Sigrid!"

Rebecca's expression became hideous. "I should have noticed it sooner. That little b*tch has the face of a vixen and she had probably long ago seduced George's soul away!"

"What... what the hell is going on?" Karma was shocked. "Rebecca, what are you talking about? Isn't this some kind of mistake? Mr. Toland clearly admitted that he liked you! Everyone knows that!"

"No!" Rebecca gnashed her teeth. "Before I was his fiancée, he had shown his kindness to our family many times. Many people guessed that he might be interested in me or in that cheap slut Sigrid. Later, a few days after that little b*tch started a relationship with Edward, George said it was me he wanted."

Karma was speechless for a moment. Rebecca smiled bitterly and said, "When his parents had noticed the difference he treated our Vincent family differently and asked about this matter. He only said that he liked me so that he could use it as an excuse to see that little b*tch. What's ridiculous is that I acted so proudly in front of Sigrid. Yesterday, I even mocked her saying that George wouldn't touch her at all... I was wrong. He took a fancy to Sigrid from the beginning, not me..."

"Mom, what should I do? So many people know about it now. Am I really going to marry Edward?"

Although the Finn family was small but powerful, after all they didn't have the clout that the Toland family had.

If George hadn't been so difficult to get close to and if it weren't for the fact that he hadn't touched her for nearly a year, she wouldn't have had a relationship with Edward.

"We need to make a good plan for this." Kama patted Rebecca's hand.

"No matter what, I can't bear it. Why should I be the stand-in for that b*tch? I think he must have planned to expose the relationship between Edward and me on the day of the wedding so that Sigrid would have no time to prepare and had to marry him!"

Upon hearing this, Kama's face turned ugly. "He'd even considered that as well?"

"I'm guessing so. Otherwise, if he liked Sigrid, why didn't he tell her Edward's true colors and let them break up?"

"Well this is just unacceptable. He clearly took advantage of you!" Kama was angry. "Did you ask for any compensation from him? He has wasted three years of your youth!"

"...Yes, I deserve compensation... I, Rebecca Vincent, am not so easy to be handled with." she gnashed her teeth with a sneer on her face.
