Kai frowned in disbelief. "I'm really a resident here. I even have a key to the house!" Kai exclaimed as he took out a key from his pocket.

That was the key that was given to Kai by William. It had the crest of Dragon Bay in gold on it. Because of how exquisite the key looked, the security guard did not doubt its authenticity.

After taking a closer look at the key, the security guard sized Kai up once more.

"Hey, where did you get this key from? It's a key to the mansion on top of the mountain in Dragon Bay. This mansion is the most expensive of all the properties here. Since it was purchased by Mr. Sullivan, how did this key end up in your hands?"

Kai was shocked upon hearing that. Wow! The mansion William gave to me is the most expensive of them all? What a gift!

"Indeed, Mr. Sullivan gave it to me," Kai answered truthfully.

"Nonsense! Why would he give it to you? You must've either stolen it or found it on the ground somewhere, am I right?" the security guard shouted suspiciously. He then waved for a few more of his fellow security guards. "Keep your eyes on them! I need to make a phone call to clarify this."

After giving out the order, the security guard left hurriedly with the key.

After noticing the tense situation, Gary grabbed Hannah, and they both also got out of the car. Furthermore, the taxi driver was also spooked. He took out their luggage and left the scene in a hurry.

"Kai, what's going on?" Hannah asked worriedly since she couldn't see what was happening.

"Don't worry, Mom. Everything's fine. It's just a normal security check. They're very strict here at Dragon Bay," Kai consoled Hannah.

"Of course, they should be strict! This is the most luxurious neighborhood in Horington. I can even smell the fragrance of flowers from here!" Hannah couldn't contain her excitement.

However, Gary was fed up. We're being held up by the security. Obviously, something's wrong here. I shouldn't have trusted Kai! Why would someone lend him a house in Dragon Bay?

Just then, a black Mercedes-Benz drove up slowly and stopped right next to them.

"Hey, isn't that you, Kai? What are you doing here with your whole family along with your luggage? It can't be that you're moving in to stay at Dragon Bay, right?" Warrick asked in a sarcastic tone as he was getting out of the car.

After that, Sandy and Juliette came out of the car as well.

The three of them then looked at the family of three mockingly. They were there to take a tour around Dragon Bay because Sandy wanted to show them the house Leyton had bought for her as a wedding gift.

However, since they bumped into Kai and his family, they decided to stick around and find out what was going on.

After giving the trio a cold glare, Kai ignored them.

"What's going on here?" Sandy questioned one of the security guards.

Having noticed that Sandy came in a Mercedes-Benz and also, she was in designer clothes, he said politely, "Miss, these people said that they're the residents of Dragon Bay. One of them even took out a key to a mansion. Our captain suspects that they must've somehow found the key somewhere or stolen it. Hence, we're waiting for our captain to come back with a confirmation."

Upon hearing that, Sandy, Warrick, and Juliette burst into laughter.

"Hahaha! Kai, you're ridiculously funny! Just because you found a key and you dare to come here calling yourself a resident? What a fool!" Warrick mocked.

Juliette, while laughing uncontrollably, added, "Do you know how much it costs to buy a mansion here? Do you really think you can afford it? I think even after sweeping the streets for a hundred years, your dad still can't afford one!"

"Hurry up and get rid of these people! Especially that fellow, he's an ex-convict. He has just gotten out of jail today. If you let him set foot in there, he's going to ruin the reputation of Dragon Bay!" Sandy told the security guards while pointing at Kai.

pon hearing that, the security guards started panicking, and they all took out their batons. If the other residents were to find out that an ex-convict was present in the vicinity, the security guards would be in big trouble.

"Kai, why don't you just get lost? Please bring along your blind mother and your sanitation worker father. Do you really want to wait until the security guards put their hands on them?" Warrick continued mocking.

"What did you just say?" Kai clenched his fists angrily.

"What? Are you going to hit me?" Warrick teased. He then laughed hysterically and walked toward Kai. "I suppose you might've learned a move or two in jail, but do you know where you're at? Trust me; I will send you back in there if you dare to lay a finger on me." He then put on an arrogant face and shoved Kai.

Seemingly frightened, Hannah softly gave Kai's elbow a nudge and pleaded, "Kai, let's just leave."

Hannah was afraid that Kai might get himself in trouble again. Since Kai had a criminal record, the authority might not be lenient toward him if a commotion were to break out. She definitely wouldn't be able to handle it if Kai were to be sent back to jail.

At the same time, Gary was also getting increasingly worried. He stared at Kai and said, "Get our things now. We should leave. This is so humiliating."

Gary then started to pick up their luggage as he was determined to leave immediately. He could no longer bear the humiliation.

"Hahaha. Yes, get lost! If I ever see you again, I'll take my revenge and beat you up!" Warrick pointed at Kai.

"All right, let's get back into the car. It's embarrassing to be seen talking to these people!" Sandy yelled at Warrick. After they had all gotten back into the car, they drove straight into Dragon Bay.

"Mom, wait! I'm telling the truth! My friend really lent this mansion to me!" Kai reassured Hannah.

"Wait? What are we waiting for? Do you really want us to be dragged out of here?" Gary was fuming.

Just when Kai was about to retaliate, he saw how old and weak his father had grown. Because of that, he swallowed his pride and kept his mouth shut. At that moment, the security guard that took the key had returned. When he saw Kai, he said to him apologetically, "Mr. Chance, I'm so sorry. We've made a mistake. We're a bunch of fools! We'll send you up this instance!" After he said that, he turned and ordered the rest of the security guards, "Keep all your batons! Go get the car now, and send Mr. Chance and his family in!" "Roger that!" The security guards nodded frantically. Then they brought a car and escorted Kai and his parents into Dragon Bay. While in the car, Gary's expression had changed. He had no idea what to say to Kai because he was skeptical of him the whole time. "Oh my god, Kai! How generous of your friend to lend you a mansion!" Hannah was extremely excited to be in Dragon Bay and to be able to smell the fragrance of the flowers. "Don't worry, Mom. If there's an opportunity, I'll definitely bring you to meet this friend of mine!" Kai knew that Hannah was dying to know who his generous friend was. So, he planned to let Josephine meet his parents in the near future. Sandy and the others had arrived at a mansion halfway up the mountain. Sandy stopped the car, and they got out. "Sandy, I'm so envious of you! This mansion is magnificent! I'd trade ten years of my life just to have a mansion like this!" Juliette exclaimed when she saw Sandy's mansion. "This is nothing! The prices for mansions here at Dragon Bay depend on how high it is located at the mountain. Do you see the one at the top of the mountain? That's the most expensive one. I wonder who bought it!" Sandy pointed at the mansion on the mountain top.

Right at that moment, a car was slowly driving past them. One of its windows rolled down, and they saw that it was Kai. He was smiling mischievously while staring at the three of them. "Kai? Isn't that Kai in the car?" Warrick was the first person to notice that. By then, Sandy and Juliette had also seen him. Sandy was furious when she saw the expression on Kai's face. "How did that brat enter? Those security guards are useless!" "Could it be that he's really a resident here? It was a security guard that was driving them in!" Juliette furrowed her brows in confusion. "And they are driving up the mountain! Could it be their mansion is located at a higher point than yours, Sandy?" Warrick's eyes were glued onto the car as he saw it travel further up toward the mountain top. "That's impossible! Kai could never afford it. I know how his family is doing financially." Sandy refused to believe what was happening before her eyes because she knew Kai's financial situation best. "Could it be that the mansion was given to him by the Sullivan family? I've heard it from Mr. Sullivan that Kai had saved his life before!" Juliette speculated further.

"That could be it!" Warrick nodded. "What sheer luck he's having! If he didn't just so happen to have saved Mr. Sullivan's life, he would've died in Glamor Hotel earlier!"

Sandy was utterly dissatisfied. She gritted her teeth as she opened the car door and said, "Let's follow them and see for ourselves!" She was eager to find out if Kai had really gotten himself a mansion in Dragon Bay.

As Sandy's Mercedes-Benz followed closely behind, they were heading straight toward the mountain top.

"This... This can't be possible! Could Kai really be heading toward the most expensive mansion?" Juliette was getting anxious when she saw that Kai's car wasn't stopping yet.

"It can't be. That mansion on the mountain top is worth at least a hundred million. Kai wouldn't be able to afford it even if his whole family were to slave for their whole lives. Besides, why would the Sullivan family be as generous as gifting him a mansion worth a hundred million?" Warrick refused to believe it as well.

Eventually, they arrived at that mansion they had mentioned earlier. Sandy's Mercedes-Benz was stopped by one of the security guards. "Hello, Miss. You're not allowed to go any further. This is private property."

Kai knew that Sandy and the others were following behind. So when he saw that they were stopped, a cold smirk appeared on his face.

When Kai and his parents arrived at the mansion, it was surrounded by clouds of thick fog. The scenery was breathtaking.

Both Kai and Gary were astounded by what they saw. And although Hannah couldn't see, she could feel the fresh air in the surrounding.

The security guards proceeded to help Kai bring their luggage into the mansion. Before they left, the captain apologized to Kai again.

"Mom, you'll be staying here with Dad from now on. The environment is splendid here. It's good for you!" Kai was holding onto Hannah as he brought her into the mansion.

Gary was stunned when he walked into the mansion. He had never seen such luxury in his life!

Realizing his mistake, Gary intended to apologize to Kai. But no matter how hard he tried, his pride wouldn't let him.

After a short tour around the mansion, Kai wanted to show them the surroundings. "Mom and Dad, let's go have a look outside. You should get familiarized with the place. Otherwise, you'd get lost in no time!"

"All right! Since I can't see, describe everything to me so I can feel it!" Hannah exclaimed with a bright smile on her face.

"Mom, don't worry. I'll get your eyes fixed!" Kai then brought his parents for a tour around the mountain top while treating their eyes to the magnificent view

As Kai was bringing them around, he could feel the spiritual energy the place had. It was essential to Kai because he needed that for his cultivation. "What a perfect location this is for training!"

"What did you say?" Hannah asked.

"Oh, it's nothing. I said this is a perfect place for retirement!" Kai laughed awkwardly.

When they were walking around, they arrived at the entrance gate. That was where Sandy's car was stopped. Apparently, Sandy and the others were still there, and they saw Kai walking by.

Kai smiled coldly at them as they stood on each side of the gate. Behind that smile, contempt was written all over his face.

Sandy was clenching her teeth so forcefully it could be heard from miles away! She couldn't accept the fact that Kai had become the owner of the most sought-after mansion.

"What a friend you got there, Kai! He's so generous that he's willing to lend you his mansion! Would you ask him out for a meal with us?" Hannah had no idea they were standing right in front of Sandy and the others.

"Sure!" Kai nodded.

Oh! So the mansion isn't his after all! Sandy was somewhat satisfied when she heard Hannah's words.

"I've asked my friend. This mansion belongs to the Sullivan family. It seems like Kai is just showing off something that isn't his!" Warrick exclaimed while seemingly reading a text on his phone.

"Just because he saved William's life, he plans to leech off of him for life! What a shameless guy!" Juliette mocked.

All thanks to Hannah, Sandy and the others no longer feel inferior.

"Even if I've only borrowed the mansion, it's still far better than yours! Come on over then, if you could." Upon hearing their mockeries, Kai beckoned them by wagging his finger.

"Don't get ahead of yourself, Kai. I don't believe that the Sullivan family is going to stand by you forever!" Sandy blurted before she turned and left.

Due to the structure of the road, the side of the gate Kai was standing on was higher. Hence, it was hard for Sandy not to feel as though Kai had one over her.

"Kai, just stay away from Sandy from now on. She's a vicious lady!" Hannah advised after hearing the way she was speaking to Kai.

"Got it, Mom. Let's continue our tour!" Kai held onto Hannah as they continued walking. Gary was following them from behind.

After a while, they went back to the mansion to get some rest. That was when a red Porsche suddenly appeared at their doorstep.

Kai glanced outside and noticed that Josephine had arrived.

"Ms. Sullivan, what are you doing here?" Kai was surprised by her visit.

"Please stop calling me Ms. Sullivan! Josephine will do. I received a call from the security guards saying that you might've stolen the key to the mansion! I came here to clear up the confusion."

After knowing that Josephine had gone all the way there just to help him, Kai felt grateful. "It's okay. Everything's fine now. But I do have a favor to ask of you!"

"Go ahead!" Josephine nodded.

"I told my parents that a friend of mine lent me this mansion. Could you just play along? There are a lot of things I'd rather keep from them at this moment," Kai whispered.

"Sure, no problem!" Josephine smiled before heading into the mansion. But suddenly, she turned back toward Kai. "So, does this suffice to me asking for their blessings for our relationship?" she teased.

"Umm..." Kai was stunned

"I'm just kidding!" Josephine chuckled and went into the mansion.

Upon hearing that, Kai smiled wryly and followed behind. In fact, he did feel butterflies in his stomach when Josephine teased him. I'm just a commoner compared to her. She's the daughter of the wealthiest man in Horington! How could I ever live up to that!

"Mom, Dad, let me introduce the friend that lent me this mansion. Her name is Josephine Sullivan," Kai introduced Josephine to his parents after they had gotten inside.

The moment Gary and Hannah heard that Josephine was the owner, they both got up from the couch respectfully.

"Hello! Mr. and Mrs. Chance. It's nice to meet you. Please forgive me for coming empty-handed. I was in a rush," Josephine said politely.

"You're too kind, Ms. Sullivan. We are so grateful for the mansion you're willing to lend Kai. I'm afraid that if it weren't for you, I would never be able to stay in such a luxurious house!" Hannah exclaimed humbly. "Gary! Go get Ms. Sullivan something to drink!"

"All right!" Gary nodded.

He was flabbergasted when he saw how beautiful Josephine was. Judging by her clothes and aura, she must be the daughter of someone of high social status. Not only that, she must be from a filthy wealthy family. Otherwise, how could she afford this mansion!

If only Gary knew that Josephine was the daughter of William, the richest man in Horington, he would be even more shocked.

"It's okay, Mr. Chance. I'll help myself!" Josephine went ahead and poured herself a cup of tea.

After that, she even helped Gary and Hannah prepare a cup of chamomile tea each. Since it was her house, she knew exactly where everything was.

"Mr. and Mrs. Chance, this is chamomile tea. It helps with your digestive systems. It's good for elderlies!" Josephine said when she served them.

"You're too polite, Ms. Sullivan! Although I can't see you, I can tell that you're a beautiful and kind lady! Whoever gets to marry you would be the luckiest man on earth!" Hannah exclaimed in a way that she was hinting at something. Regardless of her status, she must have feelings for Kai. Otherwise, she wouldn't be so generous toward him.

Hannah was trying to pry some information out of Josephine with her hint.

"Mrs. Chance, you're overcomplimenting me! I do have my flaws! That's why Kai doesn't want me. He has even scolded me before!" Josephine was not so gullible as to not see what Hannah was implying.

"Oh, is it?" Hannah paused and waved for Josephine to approach her. "Ms. Sullivan, come here and sit with me. Actually, Kai is a good guy. It's just that he can be as stubborn as a mule sometimes. He got that from his father! If he were ever to scold you again, let me know. I'll teach him a lesson!"

Upon hearing that, Josephine burst out into laughter while casting a glance at Kai.

"As stubborn as a mule?"

Kai was embarrassed when he heard that.

“Mom, stop talking nonsense! She’s a busy person. Don’t keep her around for long!” Kai was trying to get Josephine to leave before Hannah exposed more of his embarrassing stories.

“I’m not busy! I’d love to chat with Mrs. Chance!” Josephine went toward Hannah and sat down beside her.

Hannah was so happy that she couldn’t stop smiling. She then held Josephine’s hands, and they chatted for more than two hours. Josephine only left when it was getting dark outside.
