The Divorced Billionaire Heiress Boss Chapter 1916 – I'll Never Believe You Again “If I hadn't seen you guys together, would you have planned to hide it from me forever? Did you two plan on cheating behind my back?! Every time you said that you were on a business trip, you came to see her, didn't you? Every time you worked overtime, you went to keep her company, right?”

Lumi finally voiced out all the suspicions in her heart.

She did not need to hold back any longer.

Perhaps she used to believe every word Samuel said.

But now, if Samuel's mind wandered off when he was with her, Lumi would doubt if he was regretting that she was not Kirsi.

Samuel's face stiffened and turned slightly pale.

He was also anxious. “No, never! I'm not that nasty!”

Samuel gritted his teeth, frowned at her, and took a step forward, wanting to touch her shoulder to soothe her.

However, Lumi took a step back and avoided his touch.

His eyes were sore. He clenched his fists and spoke patiently.

“I only went to pester her shortly after our wedding, but later on, I made it clear to her. We never crossed paths again since then. Running into her this time was just a coincidence. She had offended someone, so they wanted to blacklist her. That's why I took her to a social engagement to back her up. We haven't even met at the hotel these days. I came here because of a last-minute arrangement with clients. I didn't tell you that I was back from my business trip because I was afraid that you'd misunderstand..."

By the end of the sentence, Samuel's voice was hoarse.

"I came here today to discuss something with the director. It's not what you think..."

He looked at Lumi and felt complicated and torn.

At first, Samuel thought that it was easy to get Lumi's unconditional trust. However, after he broke up with Kirsi and put more effort into his marriage, he finally realized how despicable he was.

Kirsi had been in the entertainment industry for a while, so she had a lot of stories. At first, Samuel found that kind of complexity really attractive.

However, Lumi was very different from Kirsi. She was naive, kind, and thought the best about everyone. Her world was spotless.

Samuel felt that he did not deserve to be with Lumi.

However, his initial detachment did not make Lumi disappointed.

Lumi was always so positive. When Samuel was with her, he had never felt so at ease, happy, and reckless.

However, he had only just lied this one time, yet Lumi bumped into him, and all hell broke loose.

The way Lumi looked at Samuel now is like the way she looked at those hateful relationships before, with a disgusted, contemptuous, and indescribably cold gaze.

This made Samuel feel extraordinarily burdened.

Lumi looked at him silently for a while with red eyes before she reached out to wipe her eyes.

She did not shed tears.

However, her expression of forcibly holding back was enough to make Samuel feel heartbroken.

Lumi took a deep breath and pointed behind him. Her hand was trembling slightly.

“Get out! Get the hell out of here! I’ll never believe you again.”

Samuel’s body stiffened. He took a step forward, but her avoidance was too obvious.

He stood there motionless and hesitated to speak.

“I know that you can’t accept all this at once, but I’ll try my best to make it up to you.”

Lumi let out a light laugh. “No, I don’t want it. I’ll have the Makinen family’s lawyer draft a divorce agreement. Let’s talk about this matter later, when our families discuss whether to settle this publicly or privately.”

“You want a divorce?!”

Samuel was shocked. His eyebrows were tightly knitted.

His chest was stuffy with unspoken emotions.

He clenched his fist. “This is really just a misunderstanding, and I’ll take care of it. It’s not so serious as to get a divorce, right?”

The Divorced Billionaire Heiress Boss Chapter 1917 I Don’t Want to Get a Divorce

It was hard to tell whether Lumi was crying or laughing, but her expression was extremely unsightly.

Lumi stared at Samuel. Her tone was cold.

“I thought you would be happy, Samuel. Anyway, Kirsi and I are both daughters of the Makinen family, so isn’t it the same who you marry? Just marry the one you like so that you won’t have to sneak around in the future. Isn’t that what you want?”

When Lumi finished speaking, Samuel’s face instantly froze.

It was as if he was slapped in public.

After that, Lumi lifted her feet and left. She looked back at the cubicle and thought that there were still two other people watching.

Thus, Lumi deliberately raised her voice.

“I know you all heard it. There’s no need to keep this a secret either. Since the cheaters aren’t afraid to get humiliated, what should I be scared of?”

Lumi finished speaking and walked past Samuel to leave the room.

Samuel wanted to grab her hand, but he did not manage to.

His mind was suddenly in turmoil.

Divorce.

He had not even thought about it.

“I’m not getting a divorce...”

He muttered, “I’ve already let her go... I was planning on living the rest of my life with you...”

Lumi, who had not gone far, could hear his words clearly.

However, she did not pause in her footsteps.

A dull pain came from his chest.

That feeling of having his heart tightly clenched made it seem like even breathing brought a throbbing pain.

Suddenly, Samuel realized that he seemed to have lost something important.

Nicole and Julie only came out when they heard no more movement outside.

Lumi and Samuel had left.

Julie snorted lightly.

“A leopard can’t change its spots. At least Lumi’s pretty tough! I’m relieved!” Nicole raised an eyebrow and sighed.

“Yeah, that was unexpected. She kept saying that they were only together for the money, but now she wants to get a divorce because of this matter. I’m afraid only she knows whether she’s with him because of money or feelings...”

“You’re saying that she likes Samuel?”

Julie was doubtful.

Nicole pursed her lips. “She puts it lightly every time she talks about Samuel, but her eyes are always glowing. Haven’t you noticed?”

Julie was silent for a moment.

“Then won’t Lumi be depressed now? It would’ve been fine if it was another woman, but that’s her most beloved sister!”

The corner of Nicole’s mouth twitched. She did not say anything.

At this time, the door was pushed open.

Kirsi was held by someone inside. It was then that they noticed her knees were scraped and covered in blood and dirt. She looked extremely wretched.

Her clothes were also covered with dirt.

Seeing that Nicole and Julie were there, Kirsi’s assistant froze. She quickly apologized.

“Sorry, Ms. Stanton and Ms. Nixon. Kirsi accidentally fell, so she needs to take a break. She’ll continue filming after applying some ointment...”

Continue filming ?

Kirsi obviously did not look like she was in the right mental state. How could she continue filming ?

She was moved to a chair on the side like a puppet. The assistant then turned to find a medical kit.

This room was originally a lounge, but it was reserved for only a few people.

Other small-time actors used the common lounge, so it made sense that Kirsi would come to this lounge for a break.

Julie pursed her lips. She did not ask how Kirsi was doing because she saw no point in acting.

Instead, Julie turned to look at Nicole.

“Shall we head out ?”

Nicole nodded. She was not familiar with Kirsi and was closer to Lumi anyway.

Thus, Nicole subconsciously stood on Lumi’s side.

No matter what, Kirsi did hurt the person who loved her the most.

Just before the two ladies left, Kirsi moved her eyelids and spoke in a hoarse voice, “I fell and hurt myself when I went after my sister earlier.

She didn't even look at me and drove away. She's never been so cold to me before. Will she ever forgive me?"

The Divorced Billionaire Heiress Boss Chapter 1918 No Conscience

There were just four people in the room.

The assistant was looking for a medical kit on the side, so Kirsi was definitely not talking to her.

That meant that Kirsi was directing it to Julie and Nicole.

Nicole blinked and looked back at Kirsi.

Sure enough, Kirsi raised her eyes to look at them. Or to be precise, she was looking at Nicole.

Kirsi moved her lips with some difficulty.

"Lumi said that you guys are good friends. I'm so envious of her because no matter what I become, I can't be friends with everyone without any worries like her."

The assistant at the side sensed Kirsi's depressed mood and hurriedly came over with the medical kit.

"Kirsi, don't say anything first. Just explain later..."

Kirsi stopped her. "You can leave first. I want to talk to them."

The assistant hesitated for a while but still left in the end.

Nicole stood there. “What do you want to say? If you have the time, why didn’t you explain it to your sister?”

Kirsi lowered her head and let out a light laugh.

“I will, but I know that you guys have seen me and Samuel together. I just want to make it clear that it’s purely coincidental.”

Julie looked away and did not believe her at all.

Nicole said, “Why didn’t all these ‘coincidences’ happen to others but you? It truly is coincidental, huh?”

Kirsi gritted her teeth and spoke.

“I already let go of that relationship when they got married. I was resentful and unwilling before. I hated myself for being Kirsi and not Lumi. I hated that my father was always biased. Did you think that I didn’t know that they were getting married? At that time, I was at a low point in my career, and I was toyed around by Samuel, so I was living in fear the entire time. You guys think that I have no conscience, but who in the entire Makinen family, besides Lumi, has one?”

Julie looked at Kirsi with wrinkled brows.

“What’s the use of you saying all this to us? If you feel aggrieved, you can explain to Lumi. We only believe what we see, and we won’t change our stance just because of your words.”

Julie obviously did not want to stand there and listen to Kirsi’s nonsense any longer.

She used to think that Kirsi was straightforward and friendly because Kirsi did not climb up the ladder in the circle through connections.

But now, it seems that Kirsi was not much better off.

Kirsi was despicable for leveraging her sister's marriage to make it big.

Nicole silently glanced at Kirsi and followed Julie out.

Kirsi watched them leave with red eyes.

After a while, the assistant came in.

The assistant was a little heartbroken when she saw Kirsi's downcast appearance.

"Everyone's waiting outside. If you're not in the mood, I'll tell the director that you're not feeling well so that we can postpone the shoot."

Kirsi shook her head, wiped her eyes, and stood up.

She regained composure in an instant.

"It's okay. Nothing can delay the shoot. This job is my everything. I have no other way out."

"Don't worry, Kirsi. Didn't Samuel say that he'd explain? Besides, you didn't betray your sister. You were with Samuel first, and after they got married, you haven't contacted him. Samuel was the one who sought you out repeatedly..."

"Shut up..."

Kirsi interrupted the assistant and took a deep breath.

“My sister didn’t do anything wrong. Why does she have to pay for what we did? I must apologize to her in person regardless of whether she forgives me or not. I wanted Ms. Nixon and Ms. Stanton to help persuade her, but now, they don’t want to get involved in this matter. I guess that’s for the best since this isn’t something to be proud of. My sister has always been prideful, so she definitely won’t make a big deal out of it.”

Kirsi stood up and straightened her hair as she said, “I want today’s shoot to be over by five. Tell the director that I don’t care if others drag their feet, I’ll leave when I’m done shooting my part.”

The assistant nodded. Kirsi always had this temper.

When Kirsi was in a good mood, she might be willing to wait for the other actors to repeat the shoot.

However, when she was in a bad mood, she would impatiently finish filming her part and leave.

This time, it happened that Kirsi was in a bad mood.

Julie and Nicole left. Julie’s face was visibly glum.

“That idiot Lumi! I knew that this day would come sooner or later!”

Nicole glanced at Julie.

“Forget it. Should we go see her?”

Julie was a bit hesitant. “Won’t she feel embarrassed? It’s better to be alone at this time, right?”

“Hmm... We can call and ask her?”

Nicole took out her phone and dialed Lumi’s number.

“If she hangs up, we won’t go...”.

As a result, the call was answered in less than two rings.

“Sob sob sob... Do you guys wanna come over? I’m at home, so just come over.”

After that, Lumi hung up the phone.

Nicole and Julie heard it clearly. Julie wrinkled her brows. “This woman is really unpredictable!”

Nicole sighed. “If I’d known this earlier, I would’ve just gotten Clayton to recommend some good investments for her. Maybe now, only money can bring her happiness!”

As they spoke, they got into the car and went to Lumi’s house.

Nicole sent a message to Clayton telling him not to pick her up from the set.

Clayton replied quickly and asked her to text him as soon as she arrived.

The sky darkened quickly.

When the two ladies arrived at Lumi's house, the sky was cloudy.

It looked like it would rain soon.

Once they entered the door, they heard glass shattering and Lumi's hysterical cries.

"It's all your fault! Why did you have to let me marry him? You all actually knew about them already? Then what am I?!"

Nicole and Julie were dumbfounded.

The two of them looked at each other and hesitated whether they should still go in.

At that moment, the maid on the side came over to welcome them.

"Ms. Stanton, Ms. Nixon, please come inside..."

Nicole smiled and thought, 'It's too late to leave now...'

It just so happens that the rest of the Makinen family was there. Thus, it would be a little awkward for them to stay.

The maid went over and said thoughtfully, "Ms. Makinen is upset, so Mr. and Mrs. Makinen came over to comfort her. Please wait a moment."

Julie raised her eyebrows and waited for the maid to go away before she leaned closer to Nicole and spoke in a low voice.

"I've heard that Julian Makinen spoils his daughter as much as your father."

Nicole raised her eyebrows. “Isn’t that normal?”

Before the two ladies could say another word, a voice came from upstairs.

“You guys need to leave! My friends are here, and I don’t wanna see you!”

As Lumi ran down, her sobbing voice got closer.

Lumi ran halfway down the stairs and saw Nicole’s and Julie’s shocked faces. Then, she immediately stopped crying.

She calmly walked down.

Behind her, Julian and a beautiful, stern-looking woman came downstairs. That woman was Julian Makinen’s wife, Mia Lichen.

Many people knew that before Mia became Mrs. Makinen, the Lichen family was also a substantial and wealthy family.

Without the Lichen family, Julian Makinen would not be what he is today.

Julian frowned and looked at Lumi with concern. “Don’t cry, Lumi.”

Mia followed behind with a layer of gloom in her eyes. It could be seen that Lumi’s reaction was out of their expectations.

Nicole and Julie stood up and greeted them.

Julian froze for a moment and hurriedly regained his composure.

“Ms. Stanton, Ms. Nixon, you’re here. I’m sorry you have to see this...”

The Divorced Billionaire Heiress Boss Chapter 1920

The Divorced Billionaire Heiress Boss Chapter 1920 – Enjoy the Benefits Although with Nicole’s status in the industry, Julian also had to show her some respect, Nicole was clearly not here to talk business at this time.

Julian smiled bitterly and helplessly, then he glanced at Mia.

Mia nodded and politely extended her hand.

“Please, sit down. Since you’re both Lumi’s friends, please make yourselves at home.”

Nicole and Julie sat down.

Lumi sat on the side. Her eyes were extremely red, so it was obvious that she had been crying a lot.

She did not want to look at her parents and said to them, “You two need to leave! I don’t want to see you!”

“Lumi, don’t make a scene!”

Mia spoke in a dull voice. She felt heartbroken when she saw her daughter’s aggrieved look “Although we’ve known about their relationship for a long time, Samuel didn’t take it seriously. He chose to get into a marriage alliance with our family, which meant that he gave up Kirsi! He knows this clearly. How dare he bully you?! We won't let him off so easily!"

Julian nodded to the side. "That's right! Dad will definitely stand up for you!"

Lumi looked to the side. "Kirsi is also part of our family. Why didn't you guys just marry her off?"

Mia narrowed her eyes. Although some things should be kept from outsiders, she could not care less at the moment.

"You're so naive!"

Mia sneered and glanced at Julian, who was next to her, with gloomy eyes.

Julian was at fault, so he lowered his head without saying a word.

The guilt he felt was overwhelming.

Mia spoke in a cold voice.

"We don't even know if she's your sister! In the future, everything in the Makinen family will be given to you solely, and she has nothing to do with it. A marriage alliance is a matter of great importance since it involves the interests of two families. How can we humiliate ourselves by letting an illegitimate daughter that came from nowhere, who even became someone's mistress, marry Samuel? Not everyone is qualified to join our family and enjoy the benefits,"

After Mia finished speaking, the living room fell into silence.

Julian sighed and looked at Lumi.

"Lumi, it's all my fault. Your mother has a point. We let you marry Samuel for your own good. It's not that our family needs the Lindstrom family. It's just that the Lindstrom family is the most suitable match for you. You don't need to care what he thinks. He also won't dare to bully you..."

Mia interrupted him. "It's all because of that heartless and ungrateful wench! What's the use of you being so nice to her since you were young? Did she consider your feelings before hurting you?"

Lumi's eyes abruptly reddened.

"Is it my fault? Since it's just a marriage alliance, I shouldn't care if my husband has another woman outside our marriage. But you guys shouldn't have lied to me like that! That woman is my sister! No matter how much you hate her, I still treat her as my sister! If she liked Samuel,

I wouldn't have married him in the first place. You guys went too far!"

Lumi's voice was sorrowful.

Mia was about to say something else, but Julian pulled her back.

"Well, what's done is done, Lumi. Don't worry, we won't let you suffer."

After that, Julian smiled at Nicole and Julie.

“Please try and persuade her to not get too angry. We’re always there for her.”

Nicole and Julie smiled, nodded slightly, and watched Julian pull his wife away.

Lumi sat there, covering her face. She struggled for a long time before she looked at Nicole and Julie listlessly.

“Isn’t this ridiculous?!”

There was silence.

Nicole sighed and said, “Your parents are right. They’re always there for you, so if you can’t face it, you can hide behind them.”

Lumi closed her eyes and let out a cold laugh.

“Will they get a divorce for me? No, they’ll only go after Kirsi.”
