Darryn

When Ryan grabbed Reighly's arm I was surprised. It took a lot for him to get pissed. I thought I was going to lose my shit when I heard the recording of what she told Kaycie. That fucking bitch. I have been trying to convince Kaycie that I and Reighly are not together.

Reighly pulling that shit did not help. I laughed so hard when Davina called an uber for Reighly.

When Brett told her she was no longer welcome here I wanted to scream for joy. The look on Reighly's face was priceless.

When Felipe said she went to her room because she wasn't feeling good I knew why. I wanted to go and check on her but I saw Brett head into the house. When Brett came running back out to us and said that Kaycie was not in her room and that her phone was on her bed I began to worry. All I could do was sit down in the closest chair and place my head in my hands.

Where would she go? I was glad when Felipe remembered the security cameras that we installed around the outside of the house. I want to go after her but I know that I am probably the last person she wants to see. We continue with our bar-b-que and I can't help but glance at the woods every now and then. I am sitting there when I feel a hand on my shoulder. I am expecting Brett but it is Davina.

“You really like her don’t you?” She asks.

“Yes, from the moment I saw her. There was something about her. I know I don’t have a chance with her now thanks to Reighly.” I tell her.

Davina gives me a smile and a hug and we return to eating. Davina and Sammy hang out for a few more hours. It’s dark and I am laying in my bed. Kaycie still has not come back yet. I am sure none of us are asleep. We are all worried about her. I leave my door open so I can hear when she opens the door to her bedroom. Her door squeaks when it opens.

I wake up the next morning. Fuck I must have fallen asleep. Shit, I get up and head downstairs to find Brett and Felipe. Ryan had to leave early for work. I look out the window and Kaycie’s car is gone. She did leave a note telling us that she went to work and sorry she couldn’t make breakfast. We looked at each other and I let out a sigh. She had managed to sneak by three guys. We parted ways and I went back to my room. I went and hopped into the shower.

I left the house and headed for work. I work at my uncle’s bar as the manager and bartender. I am also an underground fighter. I work an average job to cover up who I really am. I walk into the bar and hear my aunt yelling at my uncle in Italian. My entire family is Italian. I smile at the scene. My aunt goes full on Italian when she is mad. I step behind the bar and begin to set everything up for the day. I hear footsteps and turn to see my uncle walking up.

“homing.” He says.

“Morning, what did you do to warrant Aunt Millie revert to talking in Italian?” I ask

He just shrugs his shoulders and I laugh. We continue to get the bar ready to open for the day. I can't stop thinking of Kaycie. I hope she is alright and that this doesn't cause her to take a step back in her process. I let out a sigh and turned the sign on to say. Kaycie

It's been a week since the bar-b-que. I know the guys are worried about me. I have started to wear hoodies more again and I make sure I keep myself covered. I keep my head down most of the time. I only eat when I am around the guys at home. I only eat enough for them to not be suspicious of me.

We are currently getting ready to watch a movie in the rec room. I walked and saw that the guys had already chosen their seats. I looked around and noticed that the only open spot was by Darryn. I sat down at the opposite end of the couch and made sure I was not close to touching him. I have been doing good at not getting close to him. Even though I really want to be close to him. We had finished the first movie and I took a quick bathroom break. I came back out and sat down. About halfway through the second movie I woke up and noticed that Darryn and I were the only two left. I instantly got nervous. This is what I have been trying to avoid.

I am trying to figure out what to do when I feel something touch my hand and I look over to see Darryn's hand on mine. I know I should pull away but every time he touches me I feel tingles dance along my skin. I still have not looked at him. I feel him intertwine our fingers together and my heart rate speeds up. I can't bring myself to move or look at him no matter how much I want to.

I pull my hand out of his and leave the rec room. I just can't let him get to me. I get to my room and shut the door. I go lay down on my bed and for some reason, the tears start falling.
I keep to myself for the next week. Again only eating when I am home.
I have been working more than normal at the store so I can be at home less often. I am trying to avoid the conversation that I know they want to have with me. Darryn has tried to talk to me several times, but I usually just walk away from him. It breaks my heart every time. I am on my lunch break when my phone beeps. I look at my texts and it's from Davina.
"What time do you get off work?"
-I get off in an hour
-Can you stop by after work? I need to talk to you
-0
I wonder what she wants to talk about. My mind goes back to Darryn, god I hate trying to stay away from him. He's a player and I know I would just be his next game. I get up to walk back to the front of the store when I am hit with a wave of dizziness. I placed my hand on the wall to steady myself. I let go when I thought the dizziness had passed. I continue to the front but I feel my legs give out. I hear a voice call me but I can't tell who it is because it sounds far away and muffled. I felt my head hit something and all I knew was darkness.
