

When His Eyes Opened by Simple Silence Chapter 2007

"The fever has subsided, why hasn't Avery woken up yet?" Mike stayed by the bed for more than an hour. Seeing that Avery's fever had subsided, he asked the doctor.

The doctor walked to the bedside and lifted Avery's eyelids with his hand.

The Doctor: "Miss Tate is probably... sleeping."

Mike breathed a sigh of relief: "Are you sure she's not life-threatening?"

The Doctor: "This...I can't say for sure. Unless you take Miss Tate for a detailed body examination..."

Avery was probably frightened by the doctor's words, so she opened her eyes.

"Miss Tate, you're awake!" The doctor saw her awake and immediately said, "I just gave you a fever medicine, how are you feeling now?"

Avery glanced at the doctor, then looked at Mike.

"You have a fever. I don't know how you got a fever. It's not cold!" Mike muttered.

"It may be a bacterial or viral infection, not necessarily a cold." The Doctor said.

"Well, it's hard for you to make a trip. I'll take you out." Mike said.

"No, no. Take care of Miss Tate! If you have any questions, please call me at any time." The doctor said politely and left.

After the doctor left, Mike used Avery's water glass to get her a glass of warm water.

Mike: "The doctor said you should drink more water."

Avery looked at the water handed by Mike coldly, and his body remained motionless.

"Why don't I get you a straw so you can drink while lying down." Mike accommodated her in every possible way.

"What time is it?" Avery asked, her voice hoarse as if it was from another person.

"It's past 9 o'clock now. I came to call you for breakfast in the morning and found you had a fever." Mike put the water glass on the bedside table. "Fortunately, the fever is gone, but you are sweating, why don't you go take a shower?"

Avery's thoughts gradually returned to her mind.

"Where's the photo?" There was nothing in her hand. She remembered that she was holding the photo.

"The photo is in the living room... What are you looking at the photo for? What if you faint again?" Mike didn't plan to take the photo for her, "Why do you think the photo is real? If Elliot really died, After being cremated, why didn't that person send Elliot's ashes? Didn't you say that the ashes can also be tested for DNA?"

Mike's words made Avery's dull eyes shine a little bit.

"Avery, why are you such a smart person being fooled by two photos? Now I can be sure that the person who sent you the photo should be in Bridgedale. So Elliot should be in Bridgedale regardless of whether he lives or dies. Before your guess may be right, Just follow your previous plan and continue to investigate..."

Avery listened to his words, and immediately lifted the quilt and sat up.

"You drink water first." Mike picked up the water glass and put it in her hand, "I checked the sender's information on the courier bag yesterday. The name is fake, and the number left is also fake. The sender's address is also fake. It's a garbage station, which will be closed at the end of this year, and now there are no staff there."

"Mike, you just said why I'm being played around...because I care about him. The photo could be real or it could be fake. But as long as there's a 1% chance it's real, I...I can't accept such a result." Avery drank the water in the water glass after giving an explanation, "but you reminded me that even if he dies, I have to see his ashes with my own eyes. Only I can be sure that he is really dead."

"It's not just two photos to pronounce a person dead!" Avery put the water glass on the table, then walked to the closet and took out a clean set of clothes.

When His Eyes Opened by Simple Silence Chapter 2008

"You go out and drink porridge after taking a shower. Eat something and then have a good night's sleep." Mike said, walking towards the door, "Don't close the door, in case you fall in the bathroom and don't make a sound, at least I can save you."

Avery: "I'm not a fool. Can I keep silent when I fall?"

Mike: "When you fainted last night, there was no warning at all. Hayden was so frightened that he wanted to send you to the hospital... I tried you to breathe, and it was normal, so I didn't send you to the hospital."

Avery: "Hayden is probably frightened."

Mike: "Can you not be scared? He refused to go to school this morning. I forced him to go to school. If he doesn't go to school, the two of us will be watching by your bed... I don't think you're too sick to die, it's a bit silly for us to make you look like you're going to die."

Avery went into the bathroom with pajamas. She was so sad last night. She thought that Elliot was really dead, and she didn't have time to think about whether this might have been done by someone else.

Aryadelle.

Norah returned to the apartment with her mother. She did not live with her parents. She bought a small house for her parents in the city center, and the two old people lived together.

Today, because her aunt came over and her mother came to her side. Just now her father called and asked her mother when she would go back.

Her mother probably saw that Norah was in a bad mood, so she told Norah's father that if she didn't go back today, she would stay with her for the night.

After Norah entered the room, she walked to the coffee table and took out a box of ladies' cigarettes and a lighter from the drawer.

"Norah, why do you smoke?" Madelyn was shocked to see her daughter lit a cigarette skillfully.

"Mom, it's just smoking, do you need to be so shocked?" Norah exhaled a cigarette ring in front of her mother, "Is the matter between you and Travis more outrageous than my smoking? Does my dad know that I'm not Travis's daughter?"

The expression on Madelyn's face was tangled and rich.

—Who didn't make mistakes when they were young?

—When Madelyn was young, although she was a mistress to Travis, she resolutely left the seemingly intoxicated, rich and glorious life after realizing that following Travis was dangerous.

"I don't know." Madelyn lowered her eyes and her cheeks were a little flushed. "But Travis should be clear in his heart. He has been pursuing me for many years, and even if he is to be the pick-up man, he is willing."

“Hehe... My dad is also surnamed Jones. Mom, are you unforgettable about Travis’s old love, so you deliberately found an honest person surnamed Jones to take over the order, so that you and Travis’s child can also be named Jones.” Norah tried to analyze her mother’s psychology, “You can’t stay by Travis’s side, but you want to benefit from Travis, so doing this is the best way you can think of.”

Madelyn was a little embarrassed when her daughter said the central thing.

Madelyn: “Norah, anyone can laugh at me, but you can’t. Everything your mother does is for you.”

Norah: “Mom, stop talking! Don’t instill your thoughts on me! You’d better go back and confess to Dad! What if Dad can’t accept it?”

“What do you mean by that? I’m a lot of age with your father, do you want to see us divorce?” Madelyn was heartbroken.

Norah: “What happened to the divorce? Can’t you live without a divorce? What is it that you lied to my dad like this? You don’t feel disgusted, I am disgusted! There is only one dad, and he can never be Travis!”

“Hehe, what are you pretending to be arrogant? When Avery wants to kill you, can you be so arrogant?” Madelyn reprimanded.

When His Eyes Opened by Simple Silence Chapter 2009

Of course Norah didn’t want to die. It’s just that she didn’t think Avery could find her so quickly.

As a result, Avery is now going to Bridgedale to deal with Wanda’s affairs.

Second, after she set up a trap to deceive Avery and Elliot into the basement, someone intervened and took Elliot away.

Even if Avery checked, she would only find out who kidnapped Elliot.

After Norah returned to the bedroom, Madelyn entered the adjacent room.

Madelyn was restless, and always felt that after telling the truth to her daughter, her daughter seemed to be getting further and further away from her.

This was not the result she wanted.

She can lose her husband, but she cannot lose her daughter.

Besides, Avery is now in danger to Norah, and Madelyn must find a way to help her.

Just like when her daughter went abroad to study and find a job after graduation, Madelyn secretly helped her daughter.

Her own child, only her feel distressed.

Although Travis has lost many children, which of the descendants of the Jones family who are still alive is not a brocade and jade food?

Madelyn wanted her daughter to be no worse off than her half-brothers and sisters.

Therefore, what should be fought for from Travis, Madelyn will definitely fight for it.

Madelyn thought about this, took a deep breath, and then dialed Travis's phone.

Travis took a while to answer the phone.

"Travis, it's me. I'm calling you now because our daughter is in a little trouble." Madelyn said straight to the point, "Didn't Norah design Elliot and Avery a while ago? They died tragically in a foreign country, but Avery was finally saved."

"What trouble is she in? Avery found Norah on the head?" Travis's voice came from a strong voice.

"Norah said that some of Elliot's confidants have already suspected her. When Avery finds out about her, I'm afraid it will be a matter of time." Madelyn said unwillingly, "Travis, Norah is your flesh and blood, you have tested DNA. Norah is like you and has a business sense. As long as you can ensure her safety, she will be able to complete the gambling agreement in three years and win the Tate Industries. When she wins the Tate Industries, and if you're willing to recognize this daughter, I'd be happy for your father and daughter to recognize each other."

Travis hesitated after listening to Madelyn's words.

Although Norah relied on his connection, so she found a good job after graduation, but she jumped to Tate Industries, completely relying on her own ability.

Later, Tate Industries became stronger and bigger in her hands, which was enough to prove her ability.

Travis moved with compassion for this daughter.

If Norah can really win the Tate Industries in the future, it will be worth her risk to deal with Avery.

After Madelyn finished talking on the phone, she breathed a sigh of relief. She walked to the door of Norah's room, knocked on the door, and then pushed the door open.

"Norah, I just called Travis." Madelyn stood at the door and didn't go in. "Travis said he would help you deal with Avery, you just need to work with peace of mind."

Norah sat beside the bed, staring blankly at her mother.

"Norah, everyone uses different means to achieve success. I hope you succeed, and you want to succeed too, right? You work hard and try to win the Tate Industries. After you succeed, we will do nothing in the future. Don't be afraid." Madelyn said softly, "It's very late, so I won't disturb you. I'd better go home, I'm not used to living with you."

Norah immediately stood up after hearing what her mother said.

Norah: "I'll take you."

Although Norah hates her mother's actions, she can feel that her mother loves her.

"What do I want you to bring? You hurried to take a bath and rest. I asked your father to pick me up." After Madelyn said this, she closed the room door for her.

Bridgedale.

Travis dialed the number of his second son, Emilio Jones, and asked him to come to the office.

After a while, Emilio appeared in his father's office.

When His Eyes Opened by Simple Silence Chapter 2010

"Dad, are you looking for me?" Emilio closed the office door after entering the office.

Travis sat in the leather swivel chair and looked at his son: "Emilio, how did you feel when you met Avery?"

"Just meeting an old classmate...it doesn't feel like it. But I feel that she still looks down on me as before." Emilio complained, "This woman is outspoken, and she never saves face when she speaks. But I like her character very much."

"Tell me her contact information. I want her to see your elder brother's illness." Travis explained the reason for looking for him.

The smile in Emilio's eyes dissipated immediately: "Dad, Aunt Gomez didn't say eldest brother's illness, will she help to cure it?"

"Your aunt Gomez has other things to do. She can't take care of your elder brother's illness for the time being." Travis said, "Give me Avery's number, and I will ask my assistant to contact her."

Travis was not discussing with him, but an order.

Emilio did not dare to disobey his father's order, and immediately wrote Avery's number on the white paper.

"Dad, Avery is arrogant. Not everyone who asks her for surgery will agree to it. Would you like me to talk to her?" Emilio was afraid that his father would come forward and have a conflict with Avery.

Because they both have similar temperaments.

"You don't need to come forward about your eldest brother." Travis's eyes were a little cold, "Go out!"

Emilio nodded and backed out.

After coming out of his father's office, Emilio immediately took out his mobile phone and wanted to call Avery, but he didn't know whether to say it or not.

Because his father just said very clearly, don't let him intervene in the affairs of the eldest brother. It was clearly agreed before that the elder brother's illness would not invite outsiders to treat him. He don't know why his father changed his mind.

Could it be that the relationship between the father and the new love Aunt Gomez has changed?

Aunt Gomez's full name is Margaret Gomez. She is in her early sixties this year. Because of proper maintenance, she looks much younger than her peers.

Margaret Gomez is a medical student and once had high attainments in medicine. She said that she would help his eldest brother heal, and his father agreed without thinking. But now his father suddenly changed his mind, making Emilio puzzled.

At four o'clock in the afternoon, Avery woke up from a deep slept. This time, she slept for several hours.

After sleeping well, she feel that her body's vitality has recovered by 70 to 80%.

She only ate a bowl of porridge in the morning and nothing at noon. She was very hungry at the moment.

After getting out of bed, she took her mobile phone and came out of the room.

The nanny saw Avery and immediately asked her if she was hungry.

The nanny said with a smile: "I cooked porridge at noon and made dumplings. If you want to eat noodles, I can make noodles now."

Avery: "No noodles. I'll just have some porridge and dumplings."

"Okay, the porridge is ready-made, I'll go make dumplings." The nanny said, and went to serve her porridge.

Avery walked to the dining room and sat down, turned on her phone, and saw two missed calls. When she slept, she put her phone on silent, so she didn't see the incoming call.

The number was an unfamiliar number, but the other party called her twice, indicating that she was looking for something.

Without thinking, Avery called back.

The opponent picks up in seconds.

"Hello, Miss Tate, I'm Gianni Costa, Assistant director of MH Medicine. My boss, Mr. Travis Jones, has an appointment with you. When are you free?"

A string of question marks popped up in Avery's mind.

What did Travis Jones ask her to do?

When His Eyes Opened by Simple Silence Chapter 2011

Because it is relatively late today, Hayden is expected to be back in a while, so after thinking about it, she said, "Tomorrow morning."

Gianni: "Okay, see you at 10:00 a.m. tomorrow morning. You decide the place."

Avery reported to a coffee shop near her community.

After making an appointment for a time and place, the phone hangs up.

The nanny held the porridge and put it in front of Avery. Another plate of freshly sliced fruit was placed in front of her.

The nanny: "Miss Tate, you eat first. I'll cook the dumplings."

"Where's Mike?" Avery remembered that Mike was at home with her in the morning.

"He said that the company has something to do, so he went to the company first. He'll come back when he's done." The nanny replied.

"Well." Avery took two mouthfuls of porridge to suppress the discomfort in her stomach, then picked up her mobile phone and sent a message to Mike.

After her message was sent, Mike immediately called her back: "Travis asked you out? What did he ask you for?"

Avery: "It was his assistant who called me, I didn't ask."

Mike said, "Oh... I'll accompany you to see him tomorrow. I'm on my way home right now. Do you want something to eat? There's a cake shop at the intersection ahead, where I was last time. The cake you bought from a cake shop is delicious..."

Avery: "I can't eat it. You don't buy it."

Mike: "Okay! How is your body?"

Avery: "Much better. My throat hurts a bit, so I can't eat anything too sweet."

Mike: "Then I'll buy some fruit."

About half an hour later, Mike came home with a bag of fruit.

Avery was full of food and drink, and her spirit was better than when she just woke up.

"I know what Travis asked me to do." Avery said to Mike, "I asked Emilio just now, and Emilio told me."

Mike: "What did Travis ask you to do?"

Mike walked up to Avery and touched her forehead. The temperature of her forehead was a little cold.

"Emilio has a elder brother named Caleb Jones. Half a year ago, Caleb had a car accident and hurt his brain. Originally, part of the Jones family's property was managed by Caleb, but now Caleb can no longer do any work. So Travis wants me to help his eldest son heal."

Avery told Mike the reason for the question.

Mike touched his chin: "Emilio should be reluctant for you to treat his eldest brother, right? Brothers and sisters like this kind of wealthy family have no relationship at all, only competition. The heirs of the Jones family are now their two brothers, now that something happened to Caleb, Emilio has become the biggest winner."

Avery: "Emilio didn't tell me that."

Mike: "Because it's useless for Emilio to tell you this. It's your business whether you want to help his elder brother heal. He can't stop you."

"Do you think I will promise to help Caleb heal?" Avery couldn't help laughing.

Mike: "Of course. This is a good opportunity. It will allow you to get close to the Jones family." Mike glanced at her, "How much are you going to ask Travis?"

Avery: "I don't make an offer. Besides, I may not be able to cure Caleb. We have to see Caleb."

The next day, 10 o'clock in the morning.

Avery met Travis in the cafe.

In the Jones family information that Mike sorted out for Avery, there are photos of Travis.

She didn't expect to see him in person. Travis was more energetic than he looked in the photos.

When His Eyes Opened by Simple Silence Chapter 2012 - All World Beauty

"Hello, Mr. Jones." Avery said hello to Travis.

"Miss Tate, I have admired your name for a long time, and I finally saw you today." Travis sat down in the seat opposite her, "I asked you out today because I have something to ask for."

Avery: "Okay! say it."

“My eldest son Caleb Jones injured his head in a car accident half a year ago. I have been to many experts, but he couldn’t cure it. Someone recommended you to me... I wanted to contact you a while ago, but you returned to Aryadelle.”

When Travis said this, Avery nodded: “Did you bring your son’s medical records? I have to look at his medical records before I can answer your question. Not all brain diseases can be cured.”

Travis did not expect Avery to be so friendly and easygoing. He immediately asked his assistant to hand over the medical records to Avery.

Avery took the medical records and asked, “Is your son at home now or in the hospital?”

Travis: “At home. Staying in the hospital is just basic care.”

Avery: “Well.”

Avery took out Caleb’s brain film from the bag and looked at it carefully.

After Travis ordered a cup of coffee, he began to look at Avery.

“Miss Tate, I heard about the grudge between you and Wanda a few days ago...”

Avery watched the film intently and replied to Travis’s words: “Have you heard about me and Elliot?”

Everything about Wanda and Wanda has been settled, and Avery doesn’t want to waste her time on this matter.

Travis chuckled: “Why didn’t I hear about it? I heard about it when I came from the Tate Industries to open a new company in Bridgedale. It’s just that I’m in a different industry than you, so I don’t have an intersection...”

“Yeah. The last time you took a special plane to Yonroeville, at that time, Elliot and I had an accident in Yonroeville. Do you think it was a coincidence?” Avery looked at Travis’s face after watching the film, “If I was back then Died in Yonroeville, now there is no way to treat your eldest son.”

Travis didn’t know how to take her words.

Her words did not sound painful or itchy, but they carried a strong pertinence.

“Ms. Tate is blessed with great luck, and there will be no accident.” Travis said politely, “Ms. Tate, can you help my son heal?”

“I can try it.” Avery agreed, “I won’t charge you until it’s cured.”

“How does this work? I invite other experts to treat the disease. No matter whether they can cure the disease or not, the money will be taken.” Travis calmly said, “Miss Tate, please make a price! I know my second son, Emilio is your classmate, so I can’t take advantage of you.”

“This is my rule.” Avery said, “Mr. Jones, take me to meet your eldest son later! I’ll check his condition.”

Travis: “Okay. I’ll take you after coffee.”

The two chatted here, and everything was very harmonious and smooth.

The waiter brought the coffee that Avery ordered.

Avery took a sip of coffee and asked, “Mr. Jones, I heard that you and Margaret Gomez were in a relationship recently. Why didn’t you ask Ms. Gomez to help your son heal?”

The expression on Travis’s face stiffened for a few seconds, and then he laughed: “Miss Tate, you’re really well informed.”

“Mr. Jones, you have won the award. It’s not that I am well-informed, but that you are in a relationship with Ms. Gomez, which is also quite high-profile. And Ms. Gomez is not an unknown junior... I am still a little familiar with her.” Avery looked at Travis deeply.

Travis has never seen any younger generation dare to look at him with such bold eyes.

Travis: “Miss Tate, listening to you, I’m afraid I don’t know her as well as you.”

“How is that possible? If you don’t investigate her clearly, how can you fall in love with her?” Avery lowered her eyes, looked at the coffee in the cup, and said casually, “Ms. Gomez is the junior of my mentor, Professor Professor Hough. I complimented her, saying that she is very talented, a rare medical genius.”

Travis listened quietly.

“Ms. Gomez is very obsessed with my teacher. But my teacher is a family man, so my teacher has always avoided her.” Avery pointed to her left face when she said this, “Ms. Gomez rewarded her at the beginning. I slapped.”

Avoid other websites because I am the only one who worked hard. I’m providing the daily new chapters novel: When His Eyes Opened. If You guys interested to read this novel then follow this website ‘allworldbeauty.com’ . Also Please bookmark this page to get next update. Thank you

. If you are enjoying this book so far, please do leave a review on the main page.
See you all tomorrow!