

Chapter 20

After dinner, as soon as the two elders left, Saul wagged his big tail and went to ask his brother for credit.

“Brother, was I great just now?”

With the tail wagging halfway, a small object was thrown towards him from his brother’s hand with a whoosh.

Saul raised his hand to catch it, “What is it?”

After seeing clearly, the eyes are straight.

It was a car key.

The one he has coveted for a long time, the only one in the world, the Centennial Edition Bugatti sports car!

“Oh! My dear baby!” Saul hugged the car keys and kissed wildly, “Brother, I love you!”

He didn’t give it to his brother no matter what he did before, but he didn’t expect to throw it to him after saying a few words casually in front of his parents this time. This Selena’s status in his brother’s heart is higher than he imagined!

The more Saul thought about it, the more worried he became, “Well, brother, are you sure it’s Selena? And it’s not for fun, but to get married?”

“Marry.” Daniel’s tone did not allow for a second possibility.

Saul sighed when he heard the words, and said earnestly as someone who had experienced it, “Then I have to remind you to be mentally prepared. Chasing women is similar to playing a game, and there are different levels of difficulty. Easy mode, normal mode, hard mode, hell mode As for Selena, the cliff is hell! Hell! Mode! Mode!

Being a woman has weaknesses, but what about Selena, do you use money?

Judging from the fact that she grew up like this but messed up like this, she must not accept nurturing and unspoken rules.

Use emotion? Go and see for yourself how many men she dumped when she was abroad. The ex-boyfriends are all over the entertainment industry and each of them has a different identity. I was convinced when I saw the list. who!

As for the baby? Don’t even think about marrying a child. She is all about her career and has no plans to have children at all.

Even if I'm young master, I will probably be ga-over if I go out in person. You, a novice with a negative EQ, are just here to give you experience! "

Daniel gave him a cold look, "Ten percent."

Saul twitched his lips speechlessly, "Okay, okay, I'm 100% ga-over, don't pay attention to such small details, okay? Anyway, my final conclusion is that I bet Selena is a real unmarried person just like me." Sportsmen. This kind of person treats feelings cynically and regards freedom as life. If you want to have fun, it's easy. Want to get married? It's very difficult!"

"That's because you haven't met someone who makes you want to marry and have a life together."

The moonlight poured into the room through the window, and Daniel's usually cold face looked a little gentle at this moment.

Saul was counting how many words his brother said this time, and his face was full of disbelief, "Ah, it turns out that people in love are different, and an emotional idiot can teach me a lesson! Well... But what you said does make sense. How is it? Need your dear brother to help?"

Daniel gave him three words, "No need."

Saul became anxious, "Why don't you need it! Picking up girls is not the same as you messing around in shopping malls. After you think about it clearly, don't you really need a smart, wise, and handsome god-level girl-picking tutor..."

Saul was trying his best to calm himself when the door of the study room suddenly creaked and was pushed open.

The two turned their heads to look at the same time.

He actually saw Rick in pajamas at the door.

A trace of surprise flashed in Daniel's eyes.

"Eh, little treasure..." Saul was also surprised.

Little Treasure actually appeared in a place other than his own bedroom at this time.