

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2774

Chapter 2774

“Layla, the success rate of the operation is 90%. Mom hopes that you can treat this operation calmly.” Avery reminded.

“90% success rate, isn’t it high?” Layla asked after thinking for a few seconds.

Avery: “Well. This is already a very high success rate. As long as there are no accidents, there will be no problem.”

“I believe the operation will be successful.” Layla said confidently, “I have confidence in him.”

Avery: “You come with his parents.”

Layla: “Alright.”

After Layla hung up the phone, she immediately came out of the company, intending to go home and pack her luggage.

On the way home, Layla excitedly called Elliot.

“Dad, I’m going to Bridgedale. Eric is ready for surgery! Mom found a suitable heart!” Layla’s tone couldn’t hide her excitement.

Elliot received a call from Avery just now, and already knew about it.

“I’ll go with you!” Elliot not only wanted to see if the operation was successful, but also because he missed Avery.

This time was the longest time the two of them had been apart for so many years.

Since the two of them remarried, they had been together all the time. Even if one of them had to go on a business trip due to work, they would not be separated for more than three days.

Layla thought for a while, “If you go, won’t my brother and sister be watched?”

“Both of them are adults, and I don’t need to watch them all the time.” Elliot said, “I miss your mom.”

Layla immediately understood her dad’s mood: “Okay, I’ll go back and pack my luggage now. Dad, are you at home or at work now?”

Elliot: "I'm at home. Come back! We'll pick up Eric's parents later."

Layla: "Alright."

Layla drove home, and Elliot had already packed the luggage.

Layla quickly returned to the room, and after a brief tidying up, she came out with a small suitcase.

The driver carried their luggage into the car.

Layla walked over to Elliot and Elliot glanced at her: "Packed up so soon?"

"I just brought some daily necessities. There are actually all of them over there." Layla said. Her mom's home in Bridgedale had clothes and daily necessities.

Elliot: "Well, let's go pick them up now!"

"Dad, did you call them?" Layla asked.

"That's it. They've already packed their luggage. We'll just go there and pick them up." Elliot went to the door to change his shoes.

Layla stood beside her father changing her shoes.

"Dad, I have already decided to marry Eric." Layla felt that Eric would definitely wake up.

After Eric woke up, Layla would disclose this matter to her family. Since she had to talk about this issue sooner or later, she told her dad now, which was to give him an early vaccination.

After changing his shoes, Elliot raised his eyes to look at his daughter: "Layla, what do you think will happen to Dad?"

Seeing Elliot's calm expression, Layla said, "I know why you're not angry. In fact, it's not that you're not angry. It's just that you love me more, so you decided to pamper me."

Elliot shook his head: "Dad is not pampering you. Dad has always wanted you to be happy. Now that you have experienced such an accident with him, I believe you have seen many things clearly, including your own heart, and also he has proved with his actions that he can protect you and your Dad has no reason to continue to object. Use what you told me before, if it is wrong for you to be together, you can separate at any time in the future."

Layla: "Thank you, Dad."

“You’re welcome. You are my daughter, not my subordinate. Your life is your own, and Dad can’t forcefully dominate your life. You have indeed grown up, and you have to face your own life independently.” Elliot said and the corners of Elliot’s mouth raised, revealing a loving and inclusive smile.

Layla held her dad’s big palm and took a breath: “Dad, I will stay awake and let myself be well.”

Elliot: “You are worthy of being Dad’s little padded jacket. You know what is most important to Dad.”

The father and daughter came out of the house holding hands. And driver immediately opened the door and welcomed them into the car.

A flight departed from Aryadelle to Bridgedale.

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2775

Chapter 2775

Robert sent a message to Hazel.

Hazel quickly texted him back: [Dad and sister both sent me messages. If it wasn’t for the class, I would have wanted to go to Bridgedale with them.]

Robert: [I can ask for leave. But I still don’t go! I stay at home with you.]

Hazel: [Did dad let you stay at home with me?

]

Robert: [It was my own sense of responsibility that kept me at home.

]

Hazel: [Thank you, brother. But if you want to go to Bridgedale, you can go. Never mind me. I am so old, and I have a driver who picks me up every day, so nothing will happen.]

Robert: [That’s different. If I go to Bridgedale, I think my parents and elder brother will drive me back.]

Hazel: [

]

Robert: [You don't have class tonight, do you? You have nothing to do when you go home, how about I take you out to play?]

Hazel wanted to say that although there was no class at night, she could practice pronunciation and breathing when she returned home at night. But she didn't say that.

It was probably because Eric was able to have surgery, and her mood became particularly good.

Hazel: [Where are you going to play?]

Robert: [Where do you want to go? Where do you want to go, I will take you there?]

Hazel scratched her head, not knowing where to play.

During the summer vacation, she was taken by her family to play in Avonsville, but after school, she never went out to play again.

Robert: [If you want more people, I can take you to play with my friends. If you don't want to play with my friend, we can play alone.]

Hazel: [Let's play alone!]

Robert: [Alright! Do you want to watch a movie? There don't seem to be any good movies lately. Do you want to see a concert or an exhibition or something? I can search online.]

Hazel: [How about we just wandered around the street casually!]

Robert: [That's fine. It's just a little cold outside.]

Hazel: [How about going home and staying at home!]

Hazel was still a little afraid of the cold.

Robert should also be afraid of the cold.

Robert didn't wear much clothes in winter. He usually avoided being outside for too long during the winter, so wearing less wouldn't make him feel cold.

Robert had an idea: [How boring it is to stay at home! How about I take you to Dad's company?]

Hazel was stunned for a moment, and replied: [OK! But there should be no one in the company at night!]

Robert: [I'll pick you up, we'll talk when we meet.]

Hazel: [Alright.]

After the afternoon class ended, Hazel rushed out of the University all the way.

Robert's car was parked on the side of the road opposite the University gate.

The reason why Hazel recognized Robert was not because of his's car, but because he was standing beside the car.

The last time Robert came to pick her up from University, he drove a luxury car. After Hazel got in the car, she casually said that many people were staring at them.

Probably because Robert took her words into his heart, so the car he drove this time was not the luxury car last time.

Hazel strode over, got into the car, and asked, "Brother, did you buy a new car? I haven't seen you drive it before."

Robert stepped on the accelerator and drove the car out: "This is a car I borrowed from my classmate. Don't you think my car is too ostentatious? I thought that our family doesn't seem to have a car that is not ostentatious, so I borrowed it from my classmate."

Hazel: "..."

Robert: "You haven't eaten yet, have you? Let's go eat first!"

Hazel: "Where are you going to eat?"