Chapter 1852 With Child

Right then, Arielle and Vinson arrived. "You're incredible, Jasmine!" Arielle squatted down and picked up Jasmine. When Arielle stood up once again, Vinson immediately took the girl away from her mother's embrace.

He just didn't want Arielle to get too exhausted. "Daddy, did you panic when I left with Uncle Aaron?" Jasmine wrapped her arms around Vinson's neck and looked at him innocently.

Vinson hummed in response, but he then noticed how dissatisfied Jasmine was with his answer. Hence, he added, "I did! That's why I came here right away."

Upon hearing that, Jasmine was thrilled, and she planted a kiss on Vinson's cheek. After that, she uttered proudly, "That's your reward."

Vinson couldn't help but chuckle when he heard that. What a silly girl!

Celeste, the Queen Mother, was standing awkwardly nearby. She had missed Jasmine, someone she considered her granddaughter, dearly.

"Arielle, I—" Celeste wanted to tell Arielle that she wasn't the one who asked Jasmine to address her as "Grandmother." However, Arielle interrupted her by saying, "She's supposed to address you so."

After all, Celeste was her father's wife. Moreover, she was Aaron's mother. In other words, Celeste was Jasmine's grandmother. Also, Arielle knew how sad and depressing Celeste's life was. Even though she was Dad's wife, he had never shown her warmth and affection.

Celeste was touched when she heard what Arielle said.

"Arielle, I would like to apologize for the things I did to you in the past," Celeste apologized sincerely while looking at her.

Arielle recalled the time when she was there and how they fought against each other. With a smile, she shook her head and replied, "That's all in the past now, and I've forgotten all about it. You should also let go of the past."

Since Arielle's relationship with Aaron had been good over the years, it was safe to say that Celeste was surely feeling bad about the things she did to Arielle in the past. The fact that Celeste apologized to Arielle meant that Celeste knew what she did was wrong.

Hence, Arielle had no reason to hold a grudge against Celeste. After all, everyone had their own way of looking at things.

After staying in Turlen for nearly a month, Arielle's manager called her and told her that she had accepted a role in a fictional film on her behalf. Hence, her manager wanted her to return so that they could go through the script and have a discussion.

Indeed, Arielle officially entered the entertainment industry one year after giving birth to Jasmine. Over the past two years, she acted in countless movies and television shows. This time around, Arielle had only had a two-month break when her manager found a fictional film for her to take part in. Upon deciding on a date for her return, Arielle and Vinson took Jasmine to the royal cemetery to visit Dylan's grave.

"I came to see you again, Dad. I'm leaving tomorrow. When I'm done with this fictional film, I'll bring Vinson and Jasmine here to visit you again," Arielle uttered.

"Granddad, although you've never met me before, Mommy told me you love me as much as my late grandmother did. Granddad, I love both of you very much. I'll come to visit you again," Jasmine said.

While holding Jasmine in one arm and the dispirited Arielle in the other, Vinson gazed at the photo on the tombstone and uttered in a deep voice, "Dad, I'll make sure Sannie will forever be happy. You and Mom shouldn't worry about them. I'll take good care of our little family."

After leaving the cemetery, Arielle and the rest went to say goodbye to Aaron and the others before taking a flight back home. When they arrived, Rayson was there to fetch them.

"Ugh!" Arielle couldn't help but gag the moment she got into the car.

Vinson heard it, and he immediately looked at her worriedly. That was when he saw Arielle saying with a pale face, "Congratulations! You're going to be a father again..."

Vinson was stunned for a moment, but in the next second, his handsome face filled with delight. "Sannie!"

While hugging Arielle tightly, he was filled with indescribable joy and excitement.

Chapter 1853 Forbidden

Meanwhile, back when Aaron finally found Alicia. Initially, Aaron thought he could bring Alicia back the moment he found her. Little did he expect Clement to start chasing him out of the house with a stick the moment the latter returned home.

“Don’t hit him, Grandpa. I fell for him first, and I was the one who wanted a relationship with him...” Alicia didn’t expect Clement to have such a big reaction. When she saw Clement was about to hit Aaron, she ignored the fact that she was pregnant and immediately rushed toward Aaron to shield him from the stick.

“Alicia!” Clement was enraged when he saw Alicia protecting Aaron. While pretending to not care about the baby in her stomach, he swung the stick toward her.

Aaron was startled when he saw that. He then swiftly stepped forward and pulled Alicia into his embrace. In the end, he was struck on the back. Although the pain caused him to let out a muffled groan, he didn’t retaliate.

Just a split second earlier, Clement didn’t mean to hurt Alicia because, after all, how could he not care about her baby? He swung the stick in Alicia’s direction to scare her, not expecting Aaron to jump to her protection.

“Aaron...” Alicia’s eyes reddened immediately.

“I’m at fault, Grandpa. I didn’t take good care of Alicia, and I’ve disappointed her.” Aaron turned around and knelt before Clement. “Give me a chance to redeem myself, Grandpa. If you let Alicia marry me, I promise I’ll treat her right for the rest of my life. I’ll make sure she’ll live a happy life.”

Seeing that Aaron was saying all the right words while he was on his knees, Clement snorted. Does he really think I’m going to believe what he says? I’m not as foolish as Alicia! She believed everything he said!

“Leave. I’ll take care of Alicia myself. We don’t need you.” Clement glared at Aaron and warned, “Leave at once before I get even angrier.”

No one could imagine how angry Clement was when he returned to see Aaron hugging Alicia. Who would’ve thought that the person who impregnated Alicia would turn out to be the person I rescued? Did I bring this upon myself? At that moment, he was so angry that he was trembling all over. How he wished he could just kill Aaron there and then.

Alicia noticed how furious Clement was, so she hurriedly walked up to him and grabbed his hand. “Grandpa, Aaron never said he didn’t want me. I left him because I thought I would never be good enough for him. After I left, he spent months tracking me down. Don’t be angry anymore, okay?”

In response, Clement pointed at Alicia and scolded, “What makes you think that? You’re pretty, well-behaved, and smart! Why would you think you don’t deserve him?”

“Grandpa, he’s the king, and I’m just a commoner. What makes you think I’m deserving of him?” Alicia had tears welling up in her eyes.

Those words silenced Clement instantaneously. Who would've known that the person I rescued back then would end up being a king? He then glanced at Aaron, who was still on his knees, and sighed inwardly. Alicia's right. She's not good enough for him.

"Get up and don't ever come here again." Despite not being a busybody, Clement knew Aaron was supposed to marry the country's general's daughter. Now that's a good match.

"Since I've come all the way here, Grandpa, I don't intend to leave here alone. I came here to bring Alicia back and marry her. I want her to be my wife and Turlen's queen." As Aaron was finishing his sentence, he threw a gentle glance at Alicia.

Obsessed CEO Throws Himself at Me Chapter 1854

Chapter 1854 Pull Out

Upon hearing that, Alicia and Clement looked at Aaron in bewilderment. Did we hear him wrong? Doesn't he have a fiancée? Indeed, they were wondering how Aaron could marry Alicia and make her the queen.

"Kid, stop fooling around, will you? Don't try to trick me. I know you already have a fiancée." With that, Clement dragged Alicia into the house because he was sick of listening to Aaron's lies.

Alicia didn't want to leave, but she didn't want to hurt Clement by fighting him off. She ended up throwing a glance at Aaron before walking into the house with Clement.

Seeing that they were leaving, Aaron instantly stood up and ran in front of them.

"Grandpa, that's what my grandma wants, not me. I'll bring Alicia back and cancel the marriage arrangement I have with my fiancée." Aaron then said to Clement with a straight face, "I love Alicia, and I want to marry her. I want her to be my wife and queen."

"Do you want to marry Alicia so badly?" Clement asked, and Aaron nodded in response. "Fine. I'll agree with it. However, I have one condition," Clement added.

Upon getting Clement's approval, a smile finally appeared on Aaron's face. "Name it, Grandpa. As long as I get to marry Alicia, I'll accept whatever conditions you have."

"You can be with Alicia. My condition is that you must go back and break off the engagement first. Once that's done, you can come over to fetch Alicia," Clement uttered.

Aaron didn't dare to accept the condition. He was worried that once he left, Clement and Alicia would go into hiding. "Grandpa, can I—"

Before Aaron could finish his sentence, Clement cut him off by saying, "No!"

Clement knew what was on Aaron's mind, so he said, "Neither I nor Alicia will leave this place. We'll wait for you here. All you need to do is cancel the marriage arrangement and announce it to the public."

Alicia looked at Aaron and nodded slightly. At that, Aaron had no choice but to agree to it.

"Okay. I'll go back and call off the engagement now. You guys must wait for me." Aaron decided to go home and pull out of the marriage arrangement he had with Nico. Once I've done that, I'll come with more people to bring Alicia home. I haven't seen Alicia in such a long time, and I can't wait to be with her.

When Aaron was leaving, Clement allowed Alicia to send him off. Before they parted ways, Aaron pulled Alicia into his embrace, grabbed her chin, and kissed her passionately. "Wait for my return," he said.

Aaron then went home to tell Celeste he wanted to break off the engagement he had with Nico. Although Celeste was bothered by what happened between Nancy and Matthew, Celeste liked Nico because she thought the latter was the perfect daughter-in-law.

"Why's that?" Celeste looked at Aaron and said, "I think Nico is a nice girl. She treats others well, and she's going to be a good queen."

Aaron knew Celeste was fond of Nico, so he told Celeste about Alicia.

"Who is she? What's her status in society?" Celeste was very mindful of a person's family background. In her opinion, having similar status was more important than a couple's feelings for each other. Although Dylan and she were from similar backgrounds, she was never happy after their marriage. Despite that, her thoughts on the matter remained the same.

Chapter 1855 Consensus

"She's just a commoner, and she lives with her grandpa." Aaron glanced at Celeste and uttered in a serious tone, "Regardless of her status, I still like her. Whenever she's with me, I feel warm and happy. I feel comfortable being around her."

Celeste noticed Aaron's body language when he was talking about Alicia. After giving it some thought, Celeste agreed to let him cancel the marriage arrangement.

"Aaron, you ought to call off the engagement yourself so that there won't be bad blood between you and General Matthew. He has control over the military, so no matter what, you need to be careful," Celeste said earnestly.

“Okay!” Aaron knew what Celeste said was for his own good. He then nodded and wanted to go and look for Matthew to talk about the matter. Before he left, he turned around and smiled at Celeste. “Mom, you’ll have a grandchild in five months’ time.”

With that, Aaron left cheerfully. The only obstacle to breaking off the marriage arrangement wasn’t Matthew or Nico. In fact, it was actually Celeste.

Hence, he was on cloud nine after getting his mother’s approval. Although her approval wouldn’t change the outcome, it meant the world to him.

“Did you hear that, Miranda? Aaron said I’m going to have a grandchild soon. That means I’m going to be a grandma!” Celeste was thrilled. She didn’t expect to have a grandchild so soon.

Miranda was just as happy for Celeste. “Congratulations, Your Majesty! Congratulations!”

“He said the child will be born in five months’ time. Miranda, quick! Send someone to buy clothes and toys for the baby! We also need cribs and baby walkers!” Before Miranda could utter a word in response, Celeste quickly added, “Never mind. Forget about it. I should be the one buying these things.”

With that, she told Miranda to get the car ready.

Meanwhile, Aaron had gone straight to the Nighy residence. Melissa welcomed him with open arms and led him to Matthew’s study.

“You’re here, Your Majesty,” Matthew greeted.

“General Matthew, I came to tell you something.” Aaron didn’t want to beat around the bush, so he said directly, “I want to call off the engagement I have with Nico. In the future, we shall marry whoever we like.”

Truth be told, Matthew knew something was up when he saw Aaron. However, he didn’t expect Aaron to revoke the marriage engagement. His expression turned gloomy the moment he heard that. “Your Majesty, about the marriage…”

“General Matthew, the engagement has always been my grandma’s idea. Furthermore, Nico and I don’t have feelings for each other. Since that’s the case, breaking off the engagement is beneficial to both of us. You may ask Nico about it because she’ll surely agree to it.”

“Please allow me some time to think about it, Your Majesty.”

Aaron knew how sudden it was, so Matthew would definitely have a hard time accepting it. Hence, he nodded in response and left.

Before he left, Melissa cordially invited him to stay for a meal because she thought he was going to be her son-in-law. However, Aaron said he had matters to attend to and left.

Matthew then called Nico to ask if she liked Aaron and whether she was okay with breaking off the engagement.

Nico was elated when she heard that. "Dad, I'm okay with it. After all, we don't have feelings for each other. If we were to force it, we wouldn't have a happy marriage."

Chapter 1856 Let Us Get Divorced

After hanging up, Matthew gave Aaron a call to tell him he agreed to revoke the marriage engagement. Hearing that, Aaron immediately announced the news to the public. Meanwhile, Melissa, who was in the Nighy residence, almost passed out from anger the moment she heard the news.

Not understanding why the event she had been looking forward to was suddenly canceled, she immediately went looking for Matthew to find out if Aaron was the one who suggested it during his previous visit. As soon as Matthew nodded, Melissa gave him a tight slap on the face.

"Did he find out about your matter? Is that why he wants to revoke the engagement?" Melissa questioned with bloodshot eyes.

The slap from her left Matthew in a daze. "What do you mean he found out about my matter? What matter?"

Melissa scoffed, "What matter? What else? Of course, it's the humiliating matter between you and the Queen Mother!"

With that, she added, "Let's get divorced, Matthew."

She did not want to live with him anymore.

At first, Melissa thought of putting up with it for Nico's sake since the latter was getting married to Aaron. Now that the engagement was revoked, there was no point in her staying with Matthew. After saying those words, Melissa packed her things and returned to her parent's home.

Matthew, on the other hand, never expected his matter with Nancy to be discovered. As he watched Melissa leave, he moved his lips to say something, but nothing came out of his mouth.

The moment the news was announced to the public, Aaron led a team to the island to pick Alicia and Clement up.

In the meantime, Clement, who was on the island, had heard about the news. He glanced at Alicia and said with a sigh, "The palace is not the same as your home. Make sure you treat Aaron's mother with respect and help him like a perfect partner should when you're there, okay?"

Alicia nodded. Of course, she knew all that. I'll do my best to be a good wife and daughter-in-law.

"Pack your things. He'll be here any minute now."

Upon hearing that, Alicia nodded and went to her room to pack her things.

Aaron traveled so quickly that he arrived at the island in just two hours. The moment he saw Alicia, he jogged over and hugged her.

"Let's get married once we return," he said softly into her ear.

"Thank you, Aaron." Alicia wrapped her arms around his neck as hot tears streamed down her cheeks and fell onto his skin. She never expected such a day to come. In fact, she thought she would never be a part of his world. All she could imagine was bringing up the child alone and living a peaceful and blissful life with Clement.

Letting go of her, Aaron wiped her tears. He then led her to Clement and said with a smile, "Grandpa, I'm here to bring both of you back."

Clement gazed at the duo, his eyes filled with merriment. Relief washed over him as he realized Alicia had found a reliable partner. At least I won't feel guilty if I meet her mother in heaven when I die.

"You can bring Alicia back. As for me..." Clement's voice trailed off as he gazed at the tiny hut and everything else on the island. A smile crept up on his lips, and he said, "I can just stay here. I like the environment here. Living in the city is too boring and stifling. I feel more comfortable and at ease here."

Alicia was dumbfounded by his words.
