Chapter 1581 I'm Nigel's Girlfriend

At that moment, Nigel's phone rang, after which he took a look and saw that it was his mother calling. Immediately, he thought about asking her to help him explain last night's incident, so he turned to Queenie and notified her, "It's my mom. Why don't I let her explain everything to you?"

Queenie was taken aback for a moment. Though she was angry, she did not intend to let an elder explain the situation, so she hurriedly refused, "There's no need for Mrs. Manson to explain anything."

However, it was too late because Nigel had answered the call and put it on speaker. "Yes, Mom."

"Nigel, you better have a good explanation about your relationship with Julian. Did you refuse to get into a relationship because of him? I saw you keeping your distance from Ingrid and even ignoring her. Are you not interested in women? Tell me, please. Are you going to let the Manson Family end with you?" Brenda screamed her question from the other end.

Queenie was at a loss for words, and Nigel did not fare any better either.

The two kept silent for a few seconds before he seized the chance to pipe up. "Mom, I told you. Stop arranging blind dates for me because I already have someone I like."

"Is the person you like Julian?" Brenda felt like her world was about to fall apart.

Nigel's phone rang again. This time, it was from Julian.

Subsequently, he put it on speaker mode. "Hey, Julian."

On the other end of the phone, Julian's voice sounded like a volcanic eruption. "That damned paparazzi, how could they write something like this?!"

"I'll deal with it." Nigel had already calmed down.

"My company has already sued them. I'm fine with this incident, but I'm worried that it might affect you and Miss Silverstein's relationship. You better hurry up and explain this incident to her."

"She's sitting right beside me."

"Greetings, Miss Silverstein! I'm Julian Gilmore. Nigel and I grew up together and we're very close friends. Most importantly, we're straight as a pole, so please don't misunderstand our relationship." As expected from a person who made a living through acting, his explanation was particularly on point.

Bursting into laughter, Queenie replied, "Mr. Gilmore, it's all good."

However, the one who suffered the most from this was Julian. For many years, he had kept himself rumor-free, and the first romantic rumor he had was with a renowned, rich young master like Nigel. Not only did that cause an uproar among his fans, but his anti-fans and rival companies were also all eagerly trying to ruin his reputation.

Due to this, his company sent out several legal letters and made an example of the more active anti-fans. His lawsuits were not just for show as those whom he had sued were all convicted, which was why all the anti-fans and rival companies became quiet after a few hours as they lacked the courage to offend Julian anymore.

One had to know that Julian was not just a male celebrity. He was the second heir of Gilmore Corporation, had uncountable assets, and was a genuine nobleman.

Meanwhile, Queenie exited her office and walked toward the meeting room with a cup of coffee in her hand. Since Brandon had heard from his wife about Queenie's relationship problems with Nigel, he was worried about her mood today. However, he looked over and saw his high-spirited daughter in her seat, seemingly in a good mood.

As such, he could not help but wonder, Does Queenie not have feelings for Nigel anymore? Did they break up just after one night? Then, he recalled the news he had just received, which was regarding the Manson Group.

Allegedly, Manson Group had just withdrawn an outsourcing service, which was landscape maintenance, and it happened that Silverstein Enterprise had been developing a landscape construction project in recent years. In other words, their two projects were compatible for collaboration.

“Miss Silverstein, you have our full support.” “Of course! Miss Silverstein, we trust that you will succeed.”

Queenie pursed her lips and smiled. We can certainly get this project. I have such a strong connection, so why not use it?

At that point, she was thinking like a businesswoman, and helping her dad get more business was something a daughter should do.

Meanwhile, Brandon admired his daughter’s courage for being willing to disregard her personal relationship for the betterment of the company. He patted her shoulder and encouraged her, “Queenie, just do your best. It’d be great if you succeed, but it wouldn’t matter even if you didn’t.”

She nodded and answered, “Don’t worry, Dad. I will get this project for you no matter what it takes.”

At that, the higher-ups under the stage could not help but praise Queenie for that. Bold! Miss Silverstein’s work ethic is similar to that of a warrior.

The meeting room instantly descended into an uproar. They never expected that they could take down a project worth many billions so easily! It was beyond their imaginations!

“Nigel, you don’t have to agree so quickly. You can take a good look at our capabilities before making that decision,” Brandon said out of guilt since he thought it was Queenie who had been pressuring him.

Smiling, Nigel looked at the highly capable woman beside him and assured him, "Mr. Silverstein, I highly approve of your company and believe that you do have the capability to rise to the occasion."

It won't matter if you don't because we're all family.

"Dad, I'll leave the rest of the meeting to you and bring Nigel to my office."

"Sure, go ahead!" Brandon nodded, not expecting them to reconcile just after one night.

Once Nigel and Queenie left, cheers filled the entire meeting room. The higher-ups were elated and more certain about Silverstein Enterprise's future development. With such a huge backer, Silverstein Enterprise would definitely have an optimistic destiny!

Chapter 1586 Are You Still Working at Home?

As for Bonnie, Brandon only wished for her to have a happy and fulfilling life. When it was time for her to get married, he would prepare a significant amount of dowry for her so that she wouldn't have to worry about money for the rest of her life.

However, Brandon was wrong, for Bonnie would not be satisfied with only a hefty dowry, wanting the entire Silverstein Family inheritance instead. Even if she couldn't get it all, she had to have half of it.

Originally, Nigel wanted to accompany Queenie for dinner, but he had a meeting coming up and had to return to the company. Therefore, the two parted and went on with their own businesses. Having gone through this jealous and angry occasion, the two now clearly understood their feelings and knew how much they loved each other.

Nigel was driving toward his company when his phone rang, and when he looked, he saw that it was Elliot, whom he had not contacted for quite a while.

“Hey, Elliot.”

Chapter 1587 A Happy Family

Elliot embraced his daughter and walked toward his son. The president of Presgrave Group had now become a responsible and professional stay-at-home dad. Ever since the birth of his daughter, he had been hands-on with everything, which left Anastasia with the sole task of feeding her.

Also, after her pregnancy, Anastasia enjoyed working even more, so she let her husband take care of their daughter and began enjoying the happiness that working had brought her.

After the birth of his children, Elliot’s days were summarized into two things: work and pampering his daughter. As for Jared, he also doted on his younger sister a lot. The father-son duo’s hobby had now become being at Willow’s beck and call.

At that moment, a red sports car drove in from outside, and the woman who came down from it had dense, long hair that was messed up by the wind. She then tidied up her hair and revealed an exquisitely beautiful face. Her face, which used to have a little baby fat, had now become smooth and sharp, adding an elegant and attractive feel to her whole figure.

The three on the grass patch looked over at the same time. Whenever Elliot saw his wife, he felt his heart pounding, like during their first meeting. Meanwhile, the young child in his embrace had already stuck out her hands in excitement, asking for a hug from her mommy.

"You're amazing, Queenie. Besides our company, who else could the Manson Group give this project to? He's your boyfriend, after all." Bonnie made a snarky remark.

"You can't put it that way. Nigel's family is part of the business too," Maggie reminded her daughter.

Queenie had also asked Nigel about this earlier that afternoon, but he insisted on giving it to Silverstein Enterprise. However, Queenie wasn't worried, for she had seen the company's landscape construction works and knew they could complete the Manson Group's project.

After drinking two glasses of wine, Brandon accompanied Maggie out for a stroll. The servants had all gone home, and Queenie was in her dad's study, looking at the reports from work.

Just then, Bonnie came into the study.

Fortunately for Bonnie, she kept that spot hidden under her hair, which was why it hadn't been discovered yet. After letting out a breath, she looked at her face and thought, There cannot be anything wrong with this face.

Meanwhile, Queenie kept working until 9.30PM before she received a call from Nigel. When he heard that she was still working, he insisted that she shouldn't work after 10.00PM and must head to bed.

Queenie told him she still had a huge pile of reports to go through, and Nigel wished he could teleport there and help her.

She promised to head to bed at 10.00PM in the end, but he requested that she video call him in the name of supervising her.

Having no choice, Queenie had to abide by his words. Twenty minutes before 10.00PM, she took a shower and changed into her pajamas before sitting on the couch in her room and video calling Nigel.

Nigel's handsome face still looked flawless on screen. He complained disappointedly, "Alas! I thought you'd wear your spaghetti strap pajama top! Turns out I was excited about nothing."

She was surprised when she saw Queenie's phone on the bed. She subconsciously went over to pick it up, and the phone suddenly unlocked despite needing facial recognition.

Bonnie widened her eyes, feeling delighted. What's up with this? Did I just unlock Queenie's phone with my face?

Once she unlocked Queenie's phone, Bonnie flipped through the woman's messages and saw her and Nigel's chat history.

Then, a vicious thought emerged in her mind. If I ask Nigel out to a hotel in the middle of the night, would I be able to sleep with him with the lights on?

If this happens, it wouldn't matter if Nigel hates me, for Queenie will never accept him after finding out that he's slept with me! With that thought in mind, Bonnie immediately decided to carry out that plan.
