

Read I Am A Quadrillionaire Chapter 1845

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1845—Moby saw Roald's earnest expression and knew that the other party was not joking.

However, Moby would never believe that the Six, the top figures of Star Kingdom's young generation, were not qualified to kiss David's feet unless he saw it with his own eyes.

Otherwise, he would not believe it at all.

This was too outrageous.

If what Roald said got out, the outside world would probably die laughing. It was not unreasonable for Moby to not believe him.

The Six was recognized as the top figure of the younger generation by Star Kingdom while David was just a brat that popped up out of nowhere and was not even a thousand years old.

Was there any comparison between the two?

Even if David had a strong background, which one of the Six had a weak background?

Behind them were all top forces with Sacred Saints.

If they were to compare backgrounds, could David defeat the Six?

It would make sense if Roald was saying the opposite.

"Roald, are you sure you're serious? You're not joking?" Moby asked, frowning.

"Moby, I know it was difficult for you to accept it now. I didn't believe it at first, but when I saw David, I changed my mind. Now I solemnly tell you that this is indeed the truth. How could I say such things so casually? Since I dare to say it, I will be responsible for what I said," Roald said with a serious face.

"I'm getting more and more curious now. What's so amazing about this David that even a Saint like you admires him so much?"

'You're wrong. David doesn't need the admiration of an old man like me. I'm afraid you can't find another genius like him in the entire history of Star Kingdom." Roald shook his head.

Moby could not handle Roald's tone and the way he talked.

'How dare he call David the number one in the history of Star Kingdom?

'How many years has Star Kingdom existed?

'How many golden ages have we had and how many geniuses has existed?

'Only a small part of this has been recorded, so how can Roald be so sure that David can surpass the people in the past?'

"Okay! Roald, let me just believe you for the time being, but you have to show me some proof since you are boasting about this David person, saying that the Six is not worthy to kiss his feet and that he is the first such person in the history of Star Kingdom. Could it be that he is on an equal footing with the Six because he is already a peak Sovereign Ranker or even a partial Saint when he is less than a thousand years old?"

Roald smiled slightly.

This confused Moby.

'What's wrong?

'Am I wrong? I don't think so!

'You're boasting about David so much, so you need to present some convincing evidence.

'Otherwise, how will you convince others?'

After Roald smiled slightly, he said, "Moby, you need to think bigger. If David is only as good as you said, I wouldn't value him so much and call him the number one person in Star Kingdom history.”

“What do you mean?” Moby’s brain could not wrap around this for a moment.

Mainly because he felt that what he just said was exaggerated enough.

He did not dare to think any bigger.

According to the known ancient records, there were no partial Saints who were less than a thousand years old.

Of course, this was not to say that there were none in Star Kingdom’s history.

Rather, every golden age would be accompanied by catastrophe, and there would be a gap between each era.

Many ancient books and materials would disappear during this period.

Over time, they would naturally be slowly forgotten.

There was no specific figure as to how many times Star Kingdom had gone through a golden age

Read I Am A Quadrillionaire Chapter 1846

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1846–“Are my words difficult to understand? It’s very simple and it’s very literal. David is not as bad as you imagine! His achievements are far beyond your cognition,” Roald said again.

‘You mean David’s current strength has surpassed the Star Kingdom Six?’ Moby asked with uncertainty.

“Of course!”

The moment Roald said that, Moby immediately retorted loudly, “Impossible! This is absolutely impossible!”

‘What a joke.

‘How old is David?

'He's just a thousand years old.

'So how strong will he be if he's stronger than the Six?

'One must know that among the Six, four are already partial Saints.

'If David's strength has surpassed them, does it mean David is already a Saint?

'This is simply a fantasy.

'Impossible.

'If he can be at Sovereign Rank at the age of less than a thousand years old, he will already be a genius among geniuses!'

"Moby, don't get excited. This is why I told you in advance. I was afraid that you would be too surprised when you saw David. In truth, when I first found out, my reaction was similar to yours. But as the saying goes, there will always be someone better out there. I didn't know I was ignorant until the moment I met David," Roald sighed.

He was not surprised by Moby's violent reaction.

All of this was within his expectations.

When the Fellowes family first learned about David's situation from Valerio, they also showed very big reactions.

Even the True Saint grandmasters were shocked.

There was only one thought in their minds at the time and that was disbelief.

However, David was indeed a Saint, and they had to believe it.

That was why Roald said that the Star Kingdom Six was not worthy to kiss David's feet and David was the first of his kind in Star Kingdom's history.

This was not an exaggeration.

That was just the way it was.

“Roald, let’s go! Let’s go to see David now. I really can’t imagine how a Saint, who is less than a thousand years old, cultivates. Does this kind of peerless genius really exist?” Moby asked eagerly.

Now, he was still in shock.

If what Roald said was true, then he would be witnessing history.

There had never been such a person in Star Kingdom.

“I also want to know how David cultivated. This might be the difference between him and us! Moby, do you still think what I just said is exaggerated?” Roald asked with a smile.

“If he really became a Saint at such a young age as you said, it would not be an exaggeration at all,” Moby said shockingly.

‘You will know if I’m telling the truth soon, but before meeting David, I have to remind you that David’s situation needs to be kept secret for now. Only the Saints in my family know about this, so I hope you won’t spread the word, so as not to cause unnecessary trouble.’

“Of course, I understand. Don’t worry, Roald, I will never tell,” Moby said hastily.

If David was really a Saint, then his future achievements were limitless.

Moby naturally would not offend such a character.

“If that’s the case, Moby, let’s go now! David must be getting impatient now.”

“Okay! Roald, please lead the way.”

The two walked towards the room where David lived one after the other.

Along the way, Moby felt like he was in a dream.

As a direct affiliate of the Saints Association, he had seen too many geniuses.

However, Roald's words just now challenged his worldview.

'Are there really characters like David in Star Kingdom?

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read I Am A Quadrillionaire Chapter 1847

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1847—After going through several long corridors, the two soon stopped outside the room where David was.

Roald knocked directly on the door.

Knock knock knock!

Then a young voice came from inside.

"Come in!"

Roald then pushed the door open and entered.

Moby followed suit.

As soon as he entered the door, he saw a young man with an extraordinary appearance greeting him.

"Roald, you are here. This must be Moby from the Saints Association!" David walked over quickly and said politely.

"David, let me introduce you. This is Saint Moby, who is directly under the Saints Association."

After Roald finished speaking, he continued to introduce David to Moby, "Moby, this is David whom you've always wanted to see."

At this time, Moby had been staring at David since he entered the door.

Judging from his appearance, David was indeed very young, and his bone age should be within a thousand years.

At the same time, Moby could also feel the energy of a Saint emanating from David.
This could not be faked.

Although David was just a beginner Pre-Saint, he was still a Saint! 2

'How incredible!

'Everything Roald said just now turned out to be true!

'Does Star Kingdom really have a Saint who is less than a thousand years old?

'And he's standing in front of me now?

'How amazing!'

Moby had no idea that David's current strength was already at partial True Saint Rank, and it would not take long for him to overcome the obstacle and reach True Saint Rank.

David deliberately only showed that he was a beginner Pre-Saint to keep a low profile.
It was unknown how Moby would feel if he knew David's true strength.

"Moby, hello!"

David stretched out his hand and greeted magnanimously.

"Hi, Mr. David!"

Moby also held out his hand to hold David's hand. He replied with a dull expression.
His brain had not registered what was going on yet.

The two shook hands and parted.

"Moby, you are older than me, so you can just call me by my name just like Roald," David said with a smile.

"Alright, I will not be courteous anymore then, David!" Moby's expression was still a little uncomfortable.

He questioned what Roald said several times just now.

He figured such a character would not appear in Star Kingdom.

Now, the facts were right in front of him.

In addition to shock, Moby's face also looked a little uncomfortable.

"Haha! Moby, what do you think? Do you believe me now? I didn't lie to you," Roald laughed and said while seeing Moby's expression.

"Sorry for embarrassing myself in front of you, Roald. I am too inexperienced, and I am too ignorant. I thought that among the younger generation of Star Kingdom, the Six were the most amazing ones. I never thought that there were people like David. How unbelievable. I am afraid that even the head will be astonished if he finds out," Moby said with a bitter smile.

"Moby, you promised me not to spread the word."

"Don't worry! We've known each other for so long. Don't you know my character after knowing me for so many years?"

"It is precisely because I believe in you that I agreed to bring you to meet David, otherwise I wouldn't even think about it."

"Alright then!"

David stood aside and listened to the conversation between the two.

He also learned some information from it.

Moby should be a more reliable person, so that was why Roald brought him here to meet him.

However, Roald and Moby could only perceive his beginner Pre-Saint Rank strength.

David had already hidden his partial True Saint strength with the help of the system.

Even if a Sacred Saint came, they also would not detect it.

Next, Roald ordered the staff of Treasure Trove to bring over a large table of good food and wine.

Read I Am A Quadrillionaire Chapter 1848

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1848—Although it did not matter whether they ate now that they were at this level and they could nourish their bodies by absorbing the energy from Heaven and Earth, everyone figured it would be better to chat while drinking.

After all, they were not born as Eternals.

They got to where they were step by step, so they were used to eating and drinking.

During the chat, David learned something about the Saints Association from Moby.

It gave him a deeper understanding of the Saints Association.

What he heard before was just superficial.

The Saints Association could be said to be the official organization for maintaining peace in the Star Kingdom.

The major forces all had independent regimes, and this was the general layout of the entire Star Kingdom.

Moby also learned from David that this kid actually had a master.

Even if David did not mention the strength of his master, Moby could still imagine it.

Could someone ordinary cultivate someone like David?

‘Perhaps he’s another Sacred Saint!’

When he thought about this, Moby suddenly realized.

‘No wonder the Fellowes family went to war with the Lightfoot family in order to protect David.

‘It turns out they’re doing it for the person behind David.

‘Considering the current situation of the Fellowes family.

'If they foster a good relationship with David, they might get a way out.

'After all, not everyone dared to intervene with the Fellowes family's business, unless they were a Sacred Saint.

'None of the Sacred Saints known to Star Kingdom would help the Fellowes family.

'So, they can only place their hope on a newly emerged Sacred Saint.'

As the Saint directly under the Saints Association, Moby knew more than the Saints of other forces that Star Kingdom was not as simple as it seemed.

There were more than six Sacred Saints, but many of them were living in seclusion.

Even though they said they were in seclusion, they were actually recuperating.

Therefore, Moby was not surprised when he knew that David had a master behind him. Instead, he took it as an obvious fact.

He would never believe that David got to this point on his own without anyone training him.

In Moby's opinion, David was cultivated by a certain Sacred Saint who was living in seclusion in Star Kingdom.

This explanation would appear reasonable.

Of course, David's talent was indeed high enough and could even be described as unique.

Otherwise, no matter how awesome his master was, he would not have reached this point.

Which one of the Star Kingdom Six did not have a Sacred Saint behind him?

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-