I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1961-The moment the two True Saints of the Palmore family died.

“Boohoo...”

The whole Star Kingdom was shrouded in a sad atmosphere again.

At the same time, it was filled with violent storms, thunder, and lightning.

Everyone looked at the scene that suddenly appeared and were all lost in thought.

‘When have I seen this sadness before?’

‘It seems that something similar happened not long ago, right?’

Ordinary people did not understand what this meant but they figured something big might have happened.

After all, they had not seen this doomsday scene for many years and now, it had appeared twice in such a short period.

Therefore, anyone would think of the worst.

Meanwhile, people with a certain level of strength and status would know another Saint in Star Kingdom had died.

Everyone knew that after Zenon defeated Sid and became the head of the Saints Association, it would inevitably cause chaos in Star Kingdom.

However, they did not expect it to come so soon.

Following Nek’s death, another Saint died again.

Chaos was coming.

Almost all the forces issued orders to recall their family members who were outside. They were preparing to strongly defend their territory and deal with the coming troubled times.

Could it really be avoided?

When one fell, everyone was doomed.

If Star Kingdom was in chaos, could anyone escape from it?

Just when everyone was guessing who the fallen Saint was.

The seniors of the Palmore family were in chaos.

The life plaques of the two True Saints and the first-in-line heir Anders were broken almost at the same time.

This was followed by the doomsday scenes.

In other words, the three of them were dead. >

This was a huge blow to the Palmore family, who was previously in high spirits.

Zenon, the grandmaster of the Palmore family, defeated Sid and replaced him as the head of the Saints Association, allowing the Palmore family's status to rise rapidly.

Therefore, it was no exaggeration to say that the Palmore family was now the number one force in Star Kingdom.

However, a family that no one dared to mess with had now lost True Saints and an important heir.

How unbelievable.

Not even the Palmore family believed this, let alone other forces.

However, the facts were right in front of them, so they had to believe them.

The sudden death of Anders and the gang dealt the Palmore family a huge blow.

They were at a loss, and they did not know what to do.

The Saints Association in the Central Sacred Continent.

Zenon was intensively integrating various departments of the Saints Association.

The most enviable one was naturally the law enforcement team of the Saints Association.

That was the most powerful department and there were countless powerful people in that department.

If Zenon could take full control of this department, he and his family would be like a tiger that had grown wings.

Although Zenon had become the head of the Saints Association, it did not mean that he could completely control the Saints Association.

One must know that Sid trained half of the heads of departments under the Saints Association.

They were dissatisfied with Zenon driving Sid away, so it was not easy to get them to listen to his orders.

Zenon was strong.

However, this kind of matter could not be resolved through force alone.

Otherwise, it was very likely that all departments of the Saints Association would unite to rebel.

He could not kill all those who resisted him, right?
