

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 681

Inside the secret room of the Chris family's castle.

Creak!

The huge unadorned coffin suddenly made a slight noise and the entire castle instantly sounded a huge alarm.

All the people of the Chris family in the castle stopped what they were doing and looked up in the direction of the family's shrine, their eyes full of enthusiasm. If this alarm was sounding, it proved that something big was going to happen in the family. The current patriarch of the Chris family, Robert Chris, immediately led the core of the family and rushed to the secret room of the shrine.

"Robert, is this..." someone asked.

His voice trembled and his eyes were full of enthusiasm. "Grandmaster is moving! He may be about to wake up! The light of the Chris family will shine on every corner of the world, and we will be the real masters of the world," Robert replied excitedly. "The light of the Chris family will shine on every corner of the world, we will be the real masters of the world!"

All the core of the Chris family shouted in a frenzy and excitement. The Grandmaster was waking up! The man in the coffin was the greatest person in the history of the Chris family. He would rise again and lead the Chris family to the top.

Creak!

Creak!

The unadorned giant coffin continued to make noises.

Every sound struck the heart of everyone in the Chris family, making their blood flow and their hearts beat faster. Everyone's face was red like they had just been injected with adrenaline.

A historic moment for the Chris family was coming.

Creak!

Creak!

The coffin continued to make noises. The lid of the coffin was slowly moving.

Bang!

Soon, the lid of the coffin moved to the edge and fell to the ground, making a loud noise.

Everyone's eyes were fixed on the huge unadorned coffin. Suddenly, a figure slowly sat up from inside. It was a thin old man. He had dry skin and sunken cheeks. Plus, he was wearing the oldest outfit of the Chris family. The old man's eyes opened. They were as dazzling as the stars in the sky and it was as if he had gone through all the great changes in the human world. "Who... are... you..." the old man asked.

Perhaps it was because he had not spoken for a long time and his voice was hoarse and harsh, but it gave the group goosebumps. "Congratulations to Grandmaster for awakening! The light of the Chris family will illuminate every corner of the world," Robert knelt on the ground. He touched his upper body and palms on the ground before he shouted while prostrating himself in admiration. "Congratulations to Grandmaster for awakening! The light of the Chris family will illuminate every corner of the world," the rest of the cores of the family did the same as the patriarch. 'The Chris family?'

The old man recalled and finally remembered something. His name was Bourne Chris, and he was also a member of the Chris family. If he remembered correctly, he was part of the most powerful in his family. Before his deep clumber, his family even came up with a magnetic field technique of superimposing magnetite. They artificially came up with a way to slow down his aging.

He was not willing to die just like, that so he volunteered to be the first candidate to sleep in here.

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 682

He was really awake now.

What era was it now? How many years had passed since he fell asleep?

Bourne had many questions.

"You are the descendants of the Chris family?" Bourne asked.

"Grandmaster, my name is Robert Chris and I am the current patriarch of the Chris family. Those behind me are the core members of the family," Robert replied.

"How many years have I slept?" "Grandmaster, you have been asleep for four hundred years." "Four hundred years? Has it been so long? My old friends are not around anymore, right? Sigh, I didn't expect that there would be a day when I would really wake up. It seems that I was right to make this decision in the first place. I, Bourne Chris, the greatest member of the Chris family, am awake again. The world will tremble before me, and the light of the Chris family will shine on every corner of the world," Bourne muttered to himself.

“Since you are awake, the world will be dominated by the Chris family!” The core members of the Chris family who were kneeling below shouted in unison.

The scene fell into a moment of silence. Bourne seemed to be trying to remember everything that happened.

He slept for far too long.

It had been so long that excluding some things about the Chris family, everything else was still muddled in his mind.

He still needed some time to recall, sort out, and adapt.

After a few minutes...

“Robert, tell me the state of the world now,” Bourne said. He had sorted out everything in his head.

Next, it was time to understand the current world. Since he was awake, his name would be able to make people tremble just like before. “Yes, Grandmaster.

“There are two major empires in the world today, and there are countless large, medium and small countries. The Chris family is one of the actual controllers of Falconia. Not only that, we also control three large countries and countless small and medium-sized countries. Now there are five major forces in the world occupying more than 95% of the world’s resources, and our family is one of them...” Robert began to explain the state of the world to Bourne in detail.

After half an hour...

Robert finally explained the general state of the world clearly. “Oh? Did the ancient kingdom of Somerland rise too?” Bourne asked. “Yes, Grandmaster! Somerland is one of the two great empires in the world and one of the five most powerful forces in the world, but recently Somerland has come to the brink of dividing,” Robert replied. “Why?”

“Because Somerland’s stabilizing force, Mason Stefani, is about to die. Once he dies, there will be chaos within Somerland, and we will also snatch some resources when that happens.” “Mason Stefani? Is this person very powerful?” “Yes, Somerland was almost entirely established by him, and it was he who deterred all the forces and ensured they did not dare to act rashly.”

“How strong is this person?”

“According to reliable sources, Mason is an excellent peak God Ranker. At the time of his death, he fought against nine God Rank guardians, among them were two late God Rankers, three mid-God Rankers, and four beginner God Rankers. He still managed to kill one person, seriously injure four people, and injure the remaining four lightly. Countless forces feared this record of his, but compared to you, Grandmaster, Mason is not worth mentioning at all." 'Peak God Ranker?

'He seems amazing.

'I seem to have experienced this state before! 'So what level do I belong to?'

Bourne lifted his hands and looked at the dry skin on them. He had been sleeping too long so it would take some time for his body to recover. After recovering, Bourne would go have a duel with Mason, the peak God Ranker, and see how many of his blows Mason could block.

The rise of the Chris family would start from the ancient country of Somerland. "Robert, go down and make some preparations. When I recover, I will go to Somerland. The Chris family will make the world feel fear from there." "Yes, Grandmaster!" Robert and many other core members of the Chris family shouted excitedly.