I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2177-‘The complete corpse,’ Beanie replied.

“Oh? The complete corpse? Where is it?”

“Just outside. Mr. Rivers, please come with me.”

“I was just about to do that!”

The two left the hall of Treasure Pavilion together and went outside to check the corpse of the beast.

David did not follow them.

He remained seated.

It was just a corpse, and it was nothing special. It would not be good to scare the child.

“Pebbles!” David called out.

“What’s the matter, Sir?” The little girl asked, raising her head and looking at David.

and asked.

“Can you get off me?”

“No!” Pebbles shook her head in refusal.

“Why?” David was speechless.

“Because you smell so good, and I think it’s beneficial for my body. Sir, don’t force me away, okay? As long as you don’t do that, I will listen to you.”

Pebbles looked at David with her big eyes, her tone sounded very aggrieved.

“But you can’t hang on to me all the time! It won’t look good to the outsiders. Plus, I have to sleep and rest.” David smiled wryly.

“We’ll just let them see! I don’t care. I like you, so I will always be with you. Don’t worry! When you sleep, I will sleep next to you obediently and I won’t disturb you,” Pebbles said matter-of-factly.

“Pebbles, we can’t sleep together,” David thought for a while and said.

“Why?” Pebbles looked puzzled.

“Because... Because it’s improper for men and women to have physical contact. Pebbles, you will like other boys when you grow up. If the boy you like learn that you slept with me when you were young, he will be sad.” 1

“He won’t! Don’t worry! I won’t like other boys and I will only like you!” The little girl said with a firm gaze.

‘Um...’

David had no idea what to say for the moment.

Luckily, he was in The Spirit Cage.

If he was in the real world, how would he explain to Celia and the others?

“Oh, Pebbles! You are still young. You won’t think that way when you grow up, and if you regret it, it will be too late.”

“I won’t regret it!”

After the little girl finished speaking, she continued to hold David’s neck, leaned her head on his shoulder, and greedily breathed in David’s scent.

Beanie and Thor soon came back.

The Silver Flood Dragon’s corpse was intact, so there was not much to examine.

The moment the two of them sat down, Thor could not wait to ask, “Ms. Nacht, the body of this Silver Flood Dragon is quite well preserved, and the fatal injuries are not too obvious. It’s obvious that the person who killed the Silver Flood Dragon was very powerful and did not give it any time to react. I am wondering, where did you get it from?”

After speaking, he turned his gaze to David, who was on the sidelines.

He thought David was the one who killed the Silver Flood Dragon.

“Mr. Rivers, I bought this Silver Flood Dragon from someone else. According to the seller, he ran into the two beasts fighting and he reaped the benefit from the battle,” Beanie replied.

“He must have lied. It is impossible to obtain such a complete body from a fight between two beasts of the same level. If the Silver Flood Dragon was the weaker one, it would have become food and the person would never have gotten a chance to reap the benefits. Moreover, there is an obvious handprint of a human on the head of this Silver Flood Dragon and that was the fatal injury,” Thor expressed his opinion.

“We also think it’s unlikely, but that’s what he said. Only the person involved will know the specific situation now.”

“I see! If I’m not mistaken, the Silver Flood Dragon should have formed a Crystal! And it was taken out, right?” Thor asked another question.

“Mr. Rivers, you have such good eyes. The Silver Flood Dragon did have a Crystal, but I took it out,” Beanie replied honestly.

‘Where is it now? Are you selling that too? I’m willing to pay a high price for it!’ Thor continued to ask.

The Beast Crystal was good stuff.

Not only was it priceless, it was also hard to come by
