Chapter 901

Jasper was standing outside the enormous Octagon.

His tiny body was like an ant in front of this gigantic spaceship the size of an elephant

Even though David was facing such a massive object, he was not scared. Instead, he acted without a second thought.

Bang!

He punched the outside of the Octagon.

The Octagon's hard exterior was slightly dented, but not much damage was sustained.

Despite this, the giant spaceship shook slightly.

One could see how strong David's punch was.

He was a peak Planet Ranker. Hence, he was considered extremely powerful in the Stella Civilization Galaxy.

David looked at the dent on the Octagon that he created and frowned. He seemed to be dissatisfied with the damage.

This thing had a solid defense indeed.

The seemingly casual punch was no joke. It was a punch from a peak Planet Ranker, so if this punch landed on Dark Cape, Dark Cape would be smashed into pieces.

However, he only caused a dent to the Octagon.

If one punch could not work, then he would punch it again.

Bang bang bang!

Then, David punched the same spot on the Octagon repeatedly.

The dent on the Octagon started spreading and became more prominent. It seemed that it would be broken soon.

At the same time, his strength also pushed this big object around.

However, the Octagon started to accelerate and rise at this moment.

“David, stop wasting your energy. As long as you haven’t reached Stellar Rank, you will never be able to breach the defense of the Octagon in a short time. Goodbye! When I see you next time, I will show you the difference between an indigenous planet and the Stella Civilization Galaxy. When this happens, you will regret not agreeing to my requests,” Pavan’s voice could be heard from the Octagon.

‘You want to run?’

‘You must be dreaming!’

David stopped punching.

He also felt he might need more time breaking this stupid ship.

Clearly, Pavan was trying to escape.

He had killed so many people on Earth. However, not only did he want to flee, but he also wanted to come back for revenge.

How could David let that happen?

He teleported thousands of meters above the Octagon and charged down at lightning speed.

“Master Pavan, what should we do? David is blocking our path.”

“Ignore him. Use full force and just crash into him. The Octagon is a military tactical weapon created by the Milky Way Empire so it could stop the attack of a Planet Ranker. Even though David is a peak Planet Ranker, he is still in that realm. Therefore, he can’t break the Octagon for the time being,” Pavan said furiously, waving his hand and pointing at David on the screen, who was charging at them.

“Yes, Master Pavan!”

The Octagon accelerated and charged at David, who himself was charging down at them.

Boom!

The two smashed into each other, emitting a deafening sound.

However, it did not look like either side had the upper hand.

David did not destroy the Octagon, and the Octagon did not send David flying like Pavan and the others expected.

The two sides were in a stalemate, and David's goal was achieved.

His goal was to stop Pavan from leaving.

Hence, the flying Octagon was stopped by David.

Due to the inertia, the inside of the Octagon was a mess.

Most of the people were toppling all over the place.

Thankfully, the people Pavan brought along were not weak, so they could still endure this.

"M-Master Pavan, we've been blocked!" Someone yelled in terror.

"Why are you panicking ? Continue to accelerate! Let's leave at the fastest speed possible!" Pavan said with a gloomy face. "This is the furthest it can go!"

Chapter 902

"Activate our attack and destroy Earth. I don't believe David will ignore all the lives on Earth!" Pavan said sternly.

"Yes, Master Pavan!"

The Octagon started gathering power.

David looked at the spaceship that he had blocked, and a cold smirk appeared on the corner of his lips.

You really want to try that? Then try this!

After that, David teleported away.

Then, he dived down and smashed onto the giant body of the Octagon again.

Boom!

Another loud sound.

The Octagon started shaking violently.

The power that it just gathered dispersed immediately.

That was the Octagon's weakness.

Even though it had a strong attack, and it could even destroy a planet if it started its strongest attack, it still needed time to gather power.

How would David give them this chance?

Next-

Bang bang bang! David crashed into the Octagon again and again, using his full might like he was a hammer.

He had reached sub-light speed and was even faster than the comet that almost crashed into Earth the last time.

The strong crash caused the giant Octagon to sink rapidly.

David could push the Octagon by himself while the Octagon was using its full force.

The strength of a peak Planet Ranker was horrifying.

"Master Pavan! The attack was interrupted, and we had no time to gather power. Plus, the Octagon is rapidly sinking, and David keeps attacking the same spot. We can't endure this any longer. What should we do?"

"What should we do? What should we do? How the f*ck would I know? Am I controlling the Octagon, or are you? Hurry up and think of a solution! Once the ship's defense is breached, we'll all die. You're the one who attacked the city and earthlings just now!" Pavan pointed at the commander of the Octagon and yelled.

He was also panicking.

They were not David's opponent if the Octagon was breached. After all, David was a peak Planet Ranker.

“Master Pavan, I think it will be hard to leave. Let’s just pass this message back to the family! We might have the capital to negotiate with David if we do that. After all, you’re the son of the Tuffin family. As long as you let David know the power of the Tuffin family, he would not dare to do anything to you for the sake of the Earth. If not, we might be met with unexpected defeat,” an elder said.

When Pavan heard that, he felt that it made sense.

As long as he sent a message back to the family and asked the family to send more powerful people over, David would not dare to do anything to him.

If not, his family would destroy the Earth.

Pavan said quickly, “Right! Send a message now! Right now! Send the message back to the family as soon as possible. Ask them to send someone here. Remember, you have to give them the accurate location!”

“Yes, Master Pavan!”

David was still attacking the Octagon.

Boom!

Soon, a loud rumble could be heard.

David has pressed the Octagon to the ground.

This was also the first time the Octagon had touched the ground.

David was still attacking the same part of the Octagon.

The dent was very deep now.

Moreover, with David’s continuous attack, cracks had started to appear around the dent.

Soon, David would have broken through the exterior of the ship.

Mason and other earthlings were stunned by this.

David forcefully stopped such a tough alien spaceship all by himself.

His strength had reached an unimaginable realm.

As for the earthlings watching the broadcast, they could only watch via the satellite since the broadcasting tool in Dark Cape was damaged after the laser cannon exploded.

Therefore, they could not see anything clearly.

They could not see how David beat the aliens stupid like a god descending from heaven.

Chapter 903

The Octagon fell to the ground.

David did not stop attacking.

He was going to break this turtle shell that was the Octagon so he could pull out Pavan and the others.

"Master Pavan, the Octagon only has 30% defensive shields left before it'll be breached."

"Since we have passed the news back to the family, elders, let's take the initiative to leave! We can't let David continue to attack, or the Octagon will really be destroyed," Pavan said after tidying his clothes.

Now that things had escalated to this point, he could only go out and talk to David.

"Yes, Master Pavan," the four elders said together.

While David continued to attack the Octagon, the spot at the upper center of the Octagon opened suddenly.

Pavan came out with four elders and his group of servants.

David stopped attacking and looked inexplicably at Pavan and others.

He had not broken the turtle shell yet, but they came out on their own?

“David, let’s talk,” Pavan said.

“What is there to talk about? An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth. You killed so many earthlings, so I can only use your life to pay respect to the spirit of our Earth’s compatriots in heaven,” David said coldly.

“David, you already have the power of a peak planet ranker. You’ll even be one of the strongest beings in the heart of the Milky Way. These are just ordinary people. Do you really want to fight against the Tuffin family for their sake? The strength of the Tuffin family is not something you can resist. If you let us go, can take you to the most prosperous place in the Milky Way, where it will be your stage. I believe that with your talent, you will definitely prosper.”

“I’m not interested. I only want to avenge my fellow earthlings.”

After David finished speaking, his body disappeared from its place and rushed towards Pavan.

“Elders!” Pavan shouted nervously when he saw David taking action.

The four elders appeared in front of Pavan at the same time.

However...

Could four mid-Planet Rankers resist the strength of the peak Planet ranker?

Besides, David also had the assistance of his materialized mind power, so he was almost unbeatable.

The gap between the two was too great.

Just a moment later...

David killed the four elders.

David did not have the slightest sympathy for the aliens.

Hence, he would not go easy on them.

After dealing with the four elders, David approached Pavan.

Pavan’s legs went weak with fright as he faced an invincible David.

He could only say in a loud and shaky voice, “David, I’ve already notified the family of Earth’s location. They will send even stronger people over soon. If you kill me, the Tuffin family will directly destroy the Earth. When that happens, all the lives on Earth will turn to dust. This is because I am Master Pavan Tuffin !”

David’s hand stopped in front of Pavan’s chest and did not touch Pavan.

“What did you say? Say that again!”

Pavan was elated when he saw David stopping.

Indeed, the Earth was David’s weak spot.

These aboriginals were so hard to understand.

They were already strong, yet they still cared about the ordinary folk.

If Pavan were David and as strong as him, he would have left Earth for somewhere even more prosperous.

Pavan would not bat an eyelid or the lives and deaths of the earthlings.

However, Pavan wanted to see how David cared for the Earth.

“I said I’ve sent the Earth’s location back to the Tuffin family. They will send someone here soon. When that happens, they won’t just send an Octagon. Instead, they will send a Milky Way Battleship. One strike from it will be enough to destroy the Earth. If you want to kill me, all lives on Earth will serve to be my burial offering not long after. You have to think this through. Your family and friends are all here.”

Chapter 904

“You’ve sent a message and news of the Earth back to your family? How long will it take for your family to arrive?” David asked, frowning.

“Judging from the speed of the Milky Way Battleship, as long as the exact location of the Earth can be pinpointed, it will take up to three months to get here. If they discover I am dead, they will destroy the Earth in a fit of rage. None of the living beings here will be able to escape by then,” Pavan replied quickly.

What he said was not the entire truth.

He did send the message back, but Pavan was nothing compared to the value of the Earth, an indigenous living planet.

Thus, the Tuffin family would not directly destroy the Earth after finding out where he was.

Pavan's status was not that high yet.

He was indeed the eldest son of the Tuffin family.

However, he was not the most talented person in this generation of the Tuffin family.

Otherwise, he would not take the risk to travel around the edge of the Milky Way looking for an indigenous living planet to plant a slave mark on.

Pavan only came out to take risks because he could not win against the others in his family.

If Pavan could find an indigenous living planet and planted his slave mark, he would prosper.

Even if he was not as talented as others, he could still compete for the position of the Tuffin family's head or even the position of the Master of the Milky Way.

He did not expect that a peak Planet Ranker would be living on the first indigenous living planet he encountered in his life.

He was extremely unlucky.

Quite a few people took risks like Pavan in the heart of the Milky Way, and they would often come out to try their luck.

Although very few people actually found indigenous living planets, the ones lucky enough to find them would successfully plant their slave marks.

In the end, more than 90% of these successful people became big shots without a hiccup.

However, when it came to Pavan's turn, something unexpected happened, and he could only be considered a precedent.

This was because no one in the history of the Milky Way had ever been lucky enough to find an indigenous living planet only to get killed by the beings living on it.

Pavan was definitely the first.

After David heard what Pavan said, he was lost in thought.

'Will the Tuffin-family reach Earth in three months?

'Then I can't kill Pavan right away.'

Although David did not know how strong the Tuffin family was, judging from these guys that Pavan brought, the Tuffin family was definitely a behemoth.

The Earth could really be destroyed if he was not careful.

He should just take Pavan back and imprison him.

After that, he would discuss with everyone how to deal with Pavan.

Even if David was now the strongest on Earth, he could not call the shots for tens of billions of human beings.

After all, this concerned everyone's life.

He had no right to take this away from them.

David smacked Pavan lightly on the neck, knocking him unconscious.

Then he looked at the Octagon's staff and the dozens of beautiful women behind Pavan and asked, "Do you want me to knock you unconscious before taking you away, or do you want to go with me?"

"We are willing to follow you, Master David, and I only ask for you to spare our lives. We are all Pavan's servants, so we can only execute his orders. Otherwise, he would kill us. So, please be magnanimous, Master David!" A middle-aged man stood forward and knelt in front of David.

He was the commander of the Octagon.

Immediately afterward, all the staff knelt.

The dozens of beautiful women also knelt and said, "So do we! Master David, please be magnanimous and spare us. We are willing to serve you as slaves and maids for life."

David ignored these people.

He would not soften from just a few words.

They just killed nearly 100,000 of his compatriots on Earth!

After that, David called Mason and other masters on Earth to take all of them away.

Chapter 905

Chapter 905

At the heart of the Stella Civilization Galaxy.

If you looked at it from the void of the universe, you would see a beautiful scene.

Countless dazzling planets were gathered here.

Unlike the empty, quiet, and rare living planets on the edge of the Milky Way, countless living planets were present here.

It was also the most prosperous and lively area in the Milky Way.

The solar system where the Earth was located was like a grain of sand in the desert compared to this place.

The Milky Way Empire was the most powerful force in the galaxy.

It governed all the planets in the Milky Way.

All other forces had to live under the jurisdiction of the Milky Way Empire.

Living planets like Earth, which were on the edge of the Milky Way, were theoretically under the jurisdiction of the Milky Way Empire as well.

However, since the Milky Way Empire had not registered Earth, it was like people on Earth lived without an identity card. Hence, it was not registered nor recognized by the Milky Way Empire.

Therefore, almost all forces rushed to find unregistered planets to conquer them for themselves.

The value of a planet of indigenous life like Earth was very great, and a force might be brought to power because of the discovery of such a planet.

The most important reason was that they could plant slave marks without being restricted by the Milky Way Empire because the Milky Way Empire forbade slave marks in the heart of the Milky Way

If discovered, the Milky Way Empire might destroy the entire family of the culprit.

Therefore, everyone could only look for the indigenous living planets that had not been registered on the galaxy's edge.

The slave mark was a special bloodline curse.

After being planted, it would invade the bloodline of life on a planet and could not be eliminated.

Its most prominent role was to slowly absorb the talents of the entire race.

Ultimately, it would be passed on to the person who planted the mark so that the person would prosper and flourish.

This was the most terrifying and cruel thing about it, as once the slave mark was planted, none of the beings living planet would not be able to emancipate themselves.

They could only become the slaves of the mark planter.

They would be discriminated against no matter where they went until they died out.

At this point, in the Stella Civilization Galaxy at the center of the Milky Way.

On a gorgeous giant living planet.

There were peaks tens of thousands of meters high.

A huge signal receiver was built on top of the mountain.

This was where the Tuffin family received ultra-long-range signals.

If the message were sent back from a short distance, it would be sent directly to the Tuffin family.

However, once the distance reached a certain figure, the family could no longer receive it.

By then, it could only be sent here for transit before being passed to the Tuffin family.

As a big family, the Tuffin family had countless clansmen training outside, so the family would receive many signals from outsiders daily.

Some would ask for help, while others reported newly discovered resources.

passing

However, the ultra-long-distance signal tower had not received anything for a long time.

Very few would leave the known confines of the Milky Way to venture the barren edge as it was too dangerous to do so.

If they were not careful, they might die.

Today, however, the Tuffin family's ultra-long-distance signal tower suddenly lit up.

"I have news! The ultra-long-distance signal tower received a message from 30,000 light-years away."

"30,000 light-years away? That far? From whom?"

"Master Pavan!"

"Quick! Send it back to the family immediately."

"Yes!"

Inside a luxurious building in Planet Tuffin, a meeting was being held.
