The Secret Heir Return To Wealth And Love Chapter 531

Chapter 531

Paige was still super busy.

Not long after, she came with lunch.

After eating with Rosalynn, she dashed off.

Rosalynn returned to Wayne's ward, and he was still sleeping soundly.

Coincidentally, as Rosalynn pulled out her phone, she just received a news update about Olivia's mother's dead body found in the lake. She thought about it and clicked on it.

The report mentioned that Olivia's mother had late-stage cancer and had been undergoing chemotherapy. Because Olivia's mother favored her son, she had lost touch with her daughter long ago.

However, in recent months, Olivia had given her brother millions to buy a nursing home property and treat their mother's illness in Y City.

But in reality, the millions weren't spent on their mother at all. Her brother recently disappeared with the money.

In extreme grief and despair, Olivia's mother chose to end her life by jumping into the lake.

In the morning, a morning exerciser discovered her body and called the police. The police rushed to the scene, found her ID on her, and immediately informed Olivia.

According to media reports, Olivia fainted from crying when she identified the body.

When leaving the police station, she called on her missing brother to come back and deal with their mother's funeral together in front of the media.

That was the full content of the report.

After reading it, Rosalynn felt something was strange. She read a few other reports and found out that the police had not determined whether the case was a suicide or a homicide.

Because the park where the incident took place was in a remote area with a severe lack of surveillance, it was even impossible to determine when Olivia's mother entered the park.

But now, the media was inclined to believe that Olivia's mother chose to end her life because her son took away her treatment money.

Rosalynn thought for a while.

At that moment, Wayne woke up.

She immediately turned off her phone: "Awake yet?"

Seeing his wife's face when he woke up, Wayne was delighted, even able to ignore the pain.

"Are you hungry? Hilaria had soup made for you, said it can help your wounds recover faster." Rosalynn raised the bed slightly and asked softly.

Wayne thoroughly enjoyed this treatment.

Now, he would eat anything Rosalynn gave him!

Chapter 531

"Okay."

Rosalynn called someone to bring the steaming soup and fed it to Wayne.

Wayne swallowed slowly, his throat still hurt, so his eating pace was slow.

During eating, his eyes were fixed on Rosalynn's face, as if she would disappear the moment he looked away.

Wayne slowly finished the soup.

"President Silverman, you're awesome! You finished it all!" Rosalynn put down the bowl, praising Wayne.

Wayne paused for a moment and then smiled.

"Am I a kid to you?" he asked.

Rosalynn gently wiped the corner of his mouth with a wet towel: "Yeah, with your current vulnerability, there's not much difference between you and a kid."

Probably due to eating, Wayne felt much better.

He raised his hand, held Rosalynn's hand and kissed her back.

Rosalynn made a token effort to retreat but didn't manage to, so she gave up struggling.

"Rosa, how did I do this time?" He asked, like a puppy wanting praise.

Chapter 532

Rosalynn nodded, "Alright, now you're my lifesaver."

She watched the surveillance of that day numerous times during the initial two days.

If Wayne hadn't been there, she wouldn't have escaped and would have died.

"I don't want to be your lifesaver," Wayne frowned, "and I don't want you to stay by my side out of gratitude, forcing yourself to be nice to me."

"Weren't you very keen on having me stay by your side before? Why are you so demanding now?" Rosalynn pretended to be fierce.

“So are you willing to stay by my side now?” Wayne quickly asked.

Rosalynn looked at him and sighed helplessly, “I think we must have owed each other a lot in our previous lives, so in this life, no matter how messy things get, we can’t separate.”

“It won’t get any worse!” Wayne, enduring the pain, hugged Rosalynn’s waist.

“Don’t move around!” Rosalynn said nervously.

“It’s fine,” Wayne hugged her, “From now on, there will only be wonderful things between us, and no more of those troublesome issues.”

“I know, don’t move around, your wound hasn’t completely healed, what if it tears again?” Rosalynn soothed him anxiously.

Wayne obediently laid back down.

“Did you hear me reading to you while you were unconscious?” Rosalynn asked.

Wayne thought about it and then laughed.

“No wonder I slept all the time. So it’s because you were reading to me, huh?”

Rosalynn snorted speechlessly.

Wayne held her hand and looked at her tenderly, “I’m sorry for sleeping so long and making you worry.”

Rosalynn suddenly wanted to cry, and she changed the subject.

“Do you need to inform Bane Corporation about your awakening?” Rosalynn asked.

Wayne nodded.

Recently, it was a busy period, and many contracts must have piled up during these days, requiring his signature.

Rosalynn brought Wayne’s phone, “Your phone screen is cracked; I will have someone send you a new one later.”

“Thank you, wifey.”

“I’m not...” Rosalynn stopped herself, sighed, and let it go.

Wayne smiled contentedly.

Chapter 532

Messages in his phone were indeed piled up.

Wayne thought for a while and decided to call a few senior executives for a meeting, and asked the President's Office staff to organize the contract documents and send them to the hospital.

"You're going to have a meeting?"

Wayne informed Rosalynn after making the arrangements.

Rosalynn immediately frowned when she heard this.

"Wayne, do you think you're Superman? You've been awake for less than 24 hours!" Rosalynn scolded.

"There's too much going on in the company." Wayne looked wronged, "I promise I'll stop immediately if I get tired. If you're worried, you can supervise me from the side."

"What are you thinking? This is a Bane Corporation senior management meeting, and you want someone from the Jared Group to supervise?" Rosalynn found it absurd and funny.

Wayne used to have strong boundaries and would not even bring her to attend important meetings.

Now, things had changed. A few days ago, both companies were competing for the same project, and now he was inviting her to supervise his executive meeting!

"If I could, I'd give you the entire Bane Corporation. What's wrong with supervising one executive meeting?" Wayne answered confidently.

He had mentioned this before, but Rosalynn took it as a joke.

After all, everyone knew that Wayne always prioritized his interests. How could he possibly give up his hard-earned business empire easily?

Chapter 533

Although Wayne's awakening had not been made public, the documents sent by the president's office prompted the senior executives to flock to the hospital where Wayne was being treated. The news of Wayne waking up still spread, even appearing on the trending topics. In the afternoon, Wayne slept for another two hours.

After dinner, the senior executives began arriving at the hospital.

Before allowing them in, Rosalynn sternly cautioned Wayne, "If you feel uncomfortable at any point, stop immediately."

If you hide your physical condition from me this time, the executives of your company will never have a chance to enter this hospital room again!"

Wayne nodded with a smile, showing a contented and blissful expression despite being tightly managed by his wife.

Rosalynn was somewhat annoyed but decided not to say anything further.

She prepared to warn the executives instead.

At that moment, Wayne grabbed her wrist.

"What's wrong? Are you feeling unwell?" Rosalynn asked anxiously.

Wayne looked at her and said, "Darling, give me a kiss."

Rosalynn couldn't remember when Wayne had become so gentle and tender in front of her.

She pursed her lips, approached Wayne, and gave him a kiss.

Wayne took the opportunity to wrap his arms around her waist.

Rosalynn didn't get angry; instead, she cupped Wayne's face in her hands and gently kissed his lips, expressing her love and concern. "Wayne, I'm serious. Please don't make me worry too much," she whispered after the kiss.

Wayne was always driven to work intensely.

Shortly after awakening from his vegetative state, he had already started working.

Wayne caressed Rosalynn's back and said, "Alright, I'll only handle some work today."

He knew that Rosalynn had visibly lost weight over the past few days.

He felt intense heartache and regret for being so eager to work and causing her so much worry.

Rosalynn kissed him again and then went out to open the door of the ward. Most of the people standing at the door were familiar faces. They had seen pictures of Wayne's wife on the internet amidst the uproar these days. But when the door opened at that moment, they still felt surprised.

Sean Hudy, who used to be Wayne's special assistant, was the most surprised. He stared at Rosalynn, his eyes almost popping out of his head. "Ms. Jared!" Everyone else snapped back to reality and greeted her accordingly.

Rosalynn nodded slightly, appearing polite and distant, "Thank you all for your hard work. Mr. Silverman just woke up and his physical condition isn't good. Please try to get to the point and don't take up too much time."

Chapter 533

Everyone agreed. Although they were industry leaders and should maintain a confident attitude towards their boss's wife, Rosalynn's background was too great. She had the title of heir to the Jared Group, plus being the boss of Jared Ventures, and her family background, strength, and the face that everyone had admired for years.

Rosalynn gestured for them to go inside, entering the ward. Although Wayne wanted her to stay for the meeting, Rosalynn was reluctant to stay longer, so after setting the time, she went to the lounge. Taking advantage of the time, she held an online meeting with her team members. Lola briefly reported the information about their meeting with FreshBite after visiting them.

"They cooperated quite well," Lola concluded in the end.

"The shopping festival is coming soon, you guys take a look at their original promotion plan first, and if there're any issues, see if modifications can be made," Rosalynn said.

"Got it!"

The progress during the day went smoothly, so the meeting didn't take too long.

Chapter 534

The meeting ended pretty quickly.

Lola was the last one to log off.

This was the longest time she'd been apart from Rosalynn, and she was really worried about her.

"Are you feeling better now?"

Before Rosalynn went offline, Lola asked.

“I’m much better now, don’t worry,” Rosalynn replied gently. “Before I go back, please take care of everything in the studio for me.”

“Don’t worry, I’ll definitely do a good job!” Lola said quickly.

Rosalynn smiled gently: “You can look forward to your annual bonus this year!”

After hanging up the video call, Rosalynn stretched her shoulders and yawned, then checked the time.

Just half an hour.

She leisurely went out and had the pre-prepared fruit sent in.

Sean looked at the time and suddenly realized why Ms. Jared sent the fruit in at this time.

“Everybody, have some fruit and take a short break!” Sean said as he sat close to Wayne, asking in a low voice, “President Silverman, are you alright?”

On Wayne’s table, there was a different set of fruits than what the others had.

He knew his wife had prepared it just for him.

“I’m good.”

Wayne picked up a piece of fruit and put it in his mouth. It was so sweet it made him feel content. Sean felt a sudden wave of sadness for some reason.

Ms. Jared and Secretary Tesdal were so alike; maybe President Silverman found her because of Secretary Tesdal, but... He was always cold and temperamental around Secretary Tesdal, never like this.

If Secretary Tesdal could see this...

Sean quickly dismissed the thought.

Such a good person like Secretary Tesdal must have gone to Heaven.

The meeting eventually lasted two hours.

Wayne made sure to explain everything clearly.

As the executives left, they all urged Wayne to rest well and looked forward to seeing him back at the company soon.

In the end, Ms. Jared escorted them to the elevator.

“Thank you all for your hard work.” Rosalynn’s attitude softened.

Everyone exchanged polite expressions.

As the elevator arrived, Sean hesitated for a moment before getting on.

He glanced at Rosalynn, and the feeling of sadness intensified.

If Secretary Tesdal were alive, she would surely be more exceptional than Ms. Jared.

As the elevator door closed, Sean rubbed his eyes.

Ms. Jared possessed exceptional skills, and President Silverman had plans to involve her in executive meetings sooner or later. Joining Bane Corporation was an inevitable step for her.

Sean had been working at Bane Corporation for over a decade. He never thought he would one day want to leave.

But he had no other choice.

Ms. Jared and Olivia were different. Sean knew that Olivia’s love for President Silverman was unrequited. However, just now, he had clearly sensed President Silverman’s deep affection for Ms. Jared.

He couldn’t bear the thought of working alongside Ms. Jared while holding onto memories of Secretary Tesdal.

Thus, he had no option but to resign.

Sean stood there, consumed by sadness as he contemplated going far away after leaving.

Little did he know, Secretary Tesdal, whom he missed so dearly, had already started arranging work for him.

“Sean can handle contracts like these easily,” Rosalynn said as she sat there, swiftly organizing the contracts for Wayne’s approval.

In less than half an hour, she had prepared a large stack of files for Sean.

Chapter 535

In the hospital room, the soft lighting made the atmosphere very cozy.

Wayne was feeling a bit tired. He leaned against the hospital bed, watching Rosalynn neatly organize the contract documents.

He felt a bit dazed, as if he had gone back in time.

Noticing his silence, Rosalynn looked up at him with a puzzled expression. Their eyes met for a moment, and Rosalynn smiled helplessly, "Why are you staring at me like that?"

"Because you're beautiful," Wayne replied.

Rosalynn clicked her tongue, separating the documents to ones that Wayne needed to deal with from ones that he didn't. She then divided the former into several piles, "These contracts, we'll decide how many to handle each day based on your recovery."

"Alrighty" Wayne was very easygoing, "Stop working, come give me a hug."

Rosalynn grumbled, "I'm not done handling your work yet."

But she still walked over.

Wayne wrapped his arms around her waist, resting his cheek on her belly, "I'm really fragile right now,

I need lots and lots of Mrs. Silverman's hugs."

Rosalynn gently patted his head.

"There's something I think I should tell you."

"Yeah?" Wayne hugged Rosalynn, looking very comfortable and content.

"Olivia's mom was found dead today in a lake in a wetland park in the suburbs," Rosalynn replied. Wayne was taken aback, and then let go of Rosalynn, "How did you find out?"

"It's become a big issue, even trending on social media. Ms. Walley was photographed when she went to identify the body, looking very haggard," Rosalynn continued, "She probably knows you're awake now. Do you want to call her?"

Saying this, Rosalynn handed her phone to Wayne thoughtfully.

Wayne looked at the phone, then at Rosalynn, didn't take it, and hugged her again, "I'll send someone over to check it out tomorrow."

“You’re so heartless,” Rosalynn playfully tweaked Wayne’s ear, asking casually, “After all, she was your first love.”

Wayne pinched Rosalynn’s waist in response.

“Ouch!” Rosalynn slapped his hand.

“Don’t talk nonsense? I’ve explained it already,” Wayne grumbled, “You know she can’t let go of her obsession with me, yet you’re still urging me to call her. What are you planning? Do you still want to get rid of me after all this?”

He sounded both angry and wronged.

Rosalynn couldn’t help but laugh.

“What can I possibly be planning? Didn’t you say she saved your life? Her family just experienced such a major incident, don’t you think you should at least ask about it? Why are you feeling guilty?”

Wayne didn’t know how to retort.

“I can never win an argument against you!”

He hugged her even tighter.

“Aren’t you going to ask how her mom died?” Rosalynn didn’t plan to stop.

“How did she die?”

“The prevailing theory is that her son took the money Ms. Walley gave her for cancer treatment, so she was in despair and committed suicide by jumping into a lake. Coincidentally, that wetland park has been neglected for a long time, with almost no surveillance equipment. Also, that park is quite far from Ms. Walley’s mother’s home, why would she go all the way there to commit suicide?”

Wayne listened and frowned slightly, “Have the police determined the cause of death?”

“At the moment, there’s only the case announcement, no specific explanation,” Rosalynn replied.

“Do you suspect Olivia’s mother was murdered?” Wayne asked.

Rosalynn hesitated for a moment, “I just feel that something’s off. If it really was murder, and the target was the Whaley family, would Ms. Whaley be in danger too?”

Rosalynn had another idea.

Seeing Olivia appear in public today, she felt... Olivia might be deliberately showing a haggard appearance.

"Yeah." Wayne nodded, "So, darling, what do you think we should do?"

Rosalynn looked at Wayne and gently pinched his face. Wayne was like an obedient big dog, thoroughly enjoying this affectionate touch.

Chapter 536

So, you've also learned to be cautious now, hndy and after thinking for a moment "Wered to arrange for covert protection until this case is resolved."

Protection, In this context, also entailed surveillance

Lately, Maddie and Olivia had been keeping a surprisingly low profile

As the saying went. "When your enemy quiets down, they must be scheming something

"Alright Wayne had the same idea, and he was also happy to see his wife was on the same page

That night.

Rosalynn didn't go back to her own room, and she continued to sleep with Wayne,

When Wayne woke up in pain in the middle of the night, seeing Rosalynn snuggled up against fém, his pain was greatly relieved.

He tightly held Rosalynn's hand.

If the pain he was enduring now was for his lover, then he was willing to face it.

"Smack!"

In Maddie's house.

Furious, Maddie slapped Olivia hard across the face!

Olivia covered her face, her body stiff.

"You idiot! The embryo implantation is about to happen, and you've caused such a big commotion, with so many eyes on you, how could you do this without drawing attention?" Maddie was furious, unable to control her anger.

She already knew that Wayne had woken up. Once he was awake, things would not go so smoothly.

Unfortunately, she had chosen a foolish accomplice, who had put them right in the line of fire at a critical moment!

During her check-up, Olivia had handed over her previously frozen egg to Maddie.

Maddie was even grateful that this had saved some time, otherwise, Olivia would need some more time to recover after retrieving the egg.

The embryo implantation had already been prepared when Olivia had her check-up.

It was supposed to happen within a day or two.

But...

“No one will find out,” Olivia said, covering her face. “Don’t worry.”

Maddie knew her plans were meticulous and not easily exposed. However, due to Wayne’s unexpected awakening, Maddie was extremely irritable. Olivia was nothing more than a vent for her anger.

“Anyway, I still have Wayne’s sperm. If you screw up, I’ll drop you and find another woman to complete the plan. Give it some thought!”

After saying that, Maddie glared at Olivia and turned around to go upstairs. lifting the hem of her nightgown.

Olivia stood there for a moment. Was this how Maddie treating her?

Her inner resentment and desire to kill kept churning. At that moment, an elderly servant came down the stairs: “Ms. Walley, the lady asked me to take you away”

Obviously, she couldn’t leave through the front door,

In order not to be found, she had to sneak out from some hidden corners.

“Wait a sec, I need to use the bathroom.” Olivia said gently.

The servant couldn’t refuse and pointed in the direction of the bathroom.

Olivia smiled and nodded, heading in that direction.

As she passed the bathroom, Olivia walked straight past it and headed for the room at the end of the hallway.

That was Maddie's study.

She quickly went inside, put something down in a hidden corner.

And she expressionlessly turned and left.

Chapter 537

She went into the restroom as she passed by wet her hands, and walked out casually

Not wanting to leave any evidence behind, Maddie turned off the surveillance system in the entire house before Olivia arrived to avoid capturing her on camera. So while doing all of them, Olivia felt very at ease

The car that drove Olivia away pulled over in a remote area, and Olivia got out. She had rented a car which was parked nearby

She leisurely got into the car, sat for a moment, and like a magic trick, peeled off a thin layer of film from her right hand

It was used to prevent leaving fingerprints behind.

"Maddie..."

Olivia lowered her eyelids, grinning sinisterly.

Since you don't think of me as human, then go to hell!

The next day.

Rosalynn had online meetings all morning.

Just as it ended, Wayne's primary physician arrived.

"Dr. Quinn, is there any problem with Wayne?" Rosalynn hesitated to ask.

Dr. Quinn quickly reassured her, "According to President Silverman's examination report, he is in good condition in all aspects. But there are some issues that need to be reminded to the family members."

"Go ahead."

Dr. Quinn took a CT image from his assistant.

"This is President Silverman's brain CT."

Rosalynn's heart jumped to her throat upon hearing it was about his brain.

"At present, there is still a small amount of un-dissipated blood in this area." Dr. Quinn pointed to one area.

"I see," Rosalynn nodded, looking very serious.

"After a comprehensive assessment, as long as the patient remains emotionally stable, there should be no major problems. However, he cannot be stimulated or overworked," Dr. Quinn said solemnly, "This cannot be achieved by medical care alone; it requires the cooperation of the family members. I heard that he started working right after waking up yesterday? That's actually quite dangerous."

It was because of this that Dr. Quinn came to talk about it.

"I understand," Rosalynn promised, "This won't happen again before the blood dissipates."

"Thank you for your concern."

After Dr. Quinn left, the surroundings quieted down, and Rosalynn's heart was pounding. When the doctor showed her the brain's CT image, countless tragic scenarios ran through her mind

"Sist

Rosalynn was about to return to the ward when she heard Jaime's voice

She turned around and saw Jaime wearing one of the hundreds of black sportswear sets in his closet. His hair was longer than his eyes, and he appeared, carrying a bag, running towards her Rosalynn was a bit melancholy.

He was a handsome nerd, but how could he date someone with half of his hair covering his eyes in the future?

"I thought you weren't going to come looking for me." Rosalynn waited for Jaime to run up close. then brushed his hair aside, revealing his eyes. "Jaime, please, get a haircut later. Don't lead Cory astray with your taste!"

"Cory and I found the person who paid for the hit!" Jaime said excitedly.

Rosalynn's face changed instantly: "Who is it?"

“Because the transaction between that person and the other party was also anonymous, we don’t know who it is specifically, but we’ve located the source of the cell phone signal during their contact!”

Two days ago, Cory had found the phone, but it was always off, and they couldn’t determine the location.

Jaime thought the other person had probably thrown the phone away after contacting them.

He discussed the identity of the anonymous payment account with Cory again.

What was funny was that after cracking the payment account, they found that there was no information about the person, and the account had been canceled a few days ago.

The other party was obviously well-prepared, not leaving a single trace.

Chapter 538

Just as Cory and Jaime were super pissed off and clueless about where to start the search, the cell phone signal they had been tracking earlier came back.

The time for the signal to return was last night, and the location was still the H City, just like the last time it appeared “Where is the location?” Rosalynn asked.

Jaime took out his phone and showed Rosalynn the results of the coordinate analysis.

Rosalynn’s face changed dramatically as soon as she saw it.

“Sis, do you know where this is? Is it someone you know?” Jaime asked hurriedly, seeing something was off.

“Someone’s mother lives here,” Rosalynn clenched her fists and then remembered the doctor’s warning.

“Jaime, you and Cory have made a great contribution this time. But you must keep this a secret, even from Hilaria for now,” Rosalynn instructed, “Once Wayne is recovered, I’ll make sure to find the people who are responsible for it and make them pay!”

“Why do we have to wait for Wayne to recover?” Jaime pouted, the excitement from just now suddenly disappeared.

Rosalynn stared at the coordinate location.

“This person almost killed him twice. Of course, I want him to take his revenge personally!”

Jaime had a shocked expression on his face.

Rosalynn didn't say anything more but took out her phone and made a transfer.

Jaime received a large sum of money.

“So much?” Jaime's eyes lit up.

At first, he felt embarrassed about taking money from his sister and would refuse many times.

One time, his sister got angry.

“Fine, if you're going to be like this, don't call me your sister anymore!”

And so, Jaime went from feeling uncomfortable to receiving money from his sister with eyes sparkling.

“Half of it is for Cory. I haven't been able to spend time with him and Ivy lately. You guys can go have fun at Disneyland, and buy any toys you like. The bill's on me!”

“No problem!”

Everyone knew that Jaime loved fluffy toys.

However, because he had bought too many toys and had no room for them, Rosalynn had banned him from buying more.

“Please take care of grandma too. She's been worried and exhausted lately,” Rosalynn continued.

I'll take her to Disneyland too. What about Paige? Does she need me to take care of her too? Join was more than happy to help.

“Who needs you to look after me, kiddo?” Paige Owens' voice came from behind

Jaime quickly turned around.

He was smiling at first, but immediately became alert when he saw the handsome guy next to Paige.

Paige raised Baillie's arm towards Rosalynn and said, “Delicious lunch has arrived!”

Baillie laughed at her teasing.

Then Paige smacked Jaime on the back of his head and said, "You don't think this hairstyle is ugly?"

Jaime gritted his teeth, "I've got important stuff to do, no time for haircut!"

"What important stuff? Hiding in the room with Cory every day, don't you go corrupting him!" Paige warned with a serious face.

Jaime was speechless.

*Just wait until Wayne recovers, and you'll know what great thing Cory and I have accomplished!" Jaime then looked at Baillie, "Who's this big bro?"

Rosalynn couldn't help but laugh.

"Hi Jaime, I'm Baillie, Paige's husband, Baillie said with a smile, "So you should probably call me brother-in-law instead of big bro."

Chapter 539

Jaime suddenly took two steps back, exclaiming in surprise, "Brother in law? Paige, when did you get married? Wait, when did you start dating? Weren't you always single

'Among all of us, you're the only one still single besides those two kids Paige said with a cartery expression. "Don't worry, you're still young, there's no need to rush

Jaime felt his whole world collapse.

He had two older sisters, elegant, beautiful and successful business women, and they were has pride.

On the internet, he would always puff out his chest and brag about them to countless people

But now, in just a few days...

One was seduced by her kids' dad!

One got married in a flash!

"Oh my god..." Jaime muttered to himself.

"You guys chat, I'll bring lunch over," Baillie said gently. "Has he woken up?"

"Yep, Rosalynn nodded.

Baillie then left first.

As soon as he left, Jaime got excited, "How could you guys do this? Getting married without discussing with the family? You should have, at least... at least, bring him home first and get our approval!"

"Do you want to approve your sister's husband?" Paige scoffed.

"He looks like such a player!" Jaime complained, "Look at his eyes! Who knows how many people he's seduced, and his words are always so roundabout."

"Didn't he say the same thing about Wayne before?" Paige glanced at Rosalynn, and then answered her own question, "He did say Wayne was a playboy, right?"

"Stop teasing him," Rosalynn said while holding back a smile.

Of course, she knew Jaime got so worked up not because he fell in love with her or Paige. They had all been living together for years, and they were like family.

He was the younger brother who didn't want his sisters to get married, always thinking the brothers-in-law were annoying and planning to give them trouble.

"Forget it! Either way, you guys don't care about what I think, so I'm going to find Cory and Ivy. Do whatever you want!"

Jaime was actually a little angry, and he stomped off, ignoring Paige's calls.

He already had issues with Wayne, and now an unfamiliar brother-in-law showed up! Who could stand this?

"When we have our wedding, I bet Jaime will cry a lot, right?" Paige crossed her arms as she watched Jaime's retreating figure, thinking about how long his hair had gotten that it could flow in the wind

"As long as he doesn't try to snatch the bride away, Rosalynn leaned on her sister's arm dit te you not to come over every day? Aren't you tired?"

I'm not tired, considering someone's driving me around, Paige said with a smirk.

Rosalynn couldn't help but laugh

However, she still had some worries.

Maddie...

She lowered her head, hiding the rage in her eyes.

Jaime had given her the address of a small villa, which was a gift from Wayne.

A car accident, then an explosion. Now she owed Wayne two lives!

After returning to the hospital room, Baillie had already set out the meal boxes.

“Where’s little brother Jaime?” he asked.

“He went to get a haircut,” Rosalynn replied.

“I thought he intentionally kept that hairstyle during his rebellious phase, Baillie chuckled.

“Baillie, actually, little brother Jaime is only a year younger than you,” Rosalynn said seriously, glancing at Paige.

Everyone knew Baillie was younger than Paige.

In all honesty, if you look at Jaime and Baillie together, it always felt like that it was Paige seducing Baillie.

“Why are you looking at me like that?” Paige asked defensively. “If anyone is seducing anyone, it’s him who’s seducing me!”

With so many properties put in front of her, how could that not be considered temptation?

Chapter 540

“I didn’t say that.” Rosalynn shrugged, feigning innocence.

“Your eyes have already said everything! I know that look” Paige said with certainty

Rosalynn smiled.

Baillie looked at Paige, his eyes full of amusement and affection.

“Rosalynn, it’s true that I was the one who tempted her. He admitted with a laugh.

Paige blushed, obviously very proud.

Rosalynn sighed inwardly, noticing how Paige’s confidence had greatly increased. A good partner is truly a cure-all.

At this moment, Wayne took her hand.

Rosalynn turned her head to ask, “What’s wrong?”

Wayne hesitated for a moment, then shook his head.

The four of them had lunch together.

Paige had something to do in the afternoon, so she prepared to leave after a short while.

Rosalynn went to see her off.

Baillie carried Paige's bag and followed behind, while Rosalynn and Paige walked ahead, speaking in whispers.

"I asked around. The autopsy results confirm it was drowning. The police also found a suicide note in her phone's memo. It says she lost the will to live after being betrayed by her son, so she chose to end her life. They're probably going to close the case as a suicide." Paige whispered to Rosalynn.

"Okay," Rosalynn nodded, "Things have been chaotic lately, so be careful."

"Don't worry." Paige patted the back of Rosalynn's hand, "If I have time tonight, I'll bring you some mini cupcakes."

"You should spend more time with Mr. Scott," Rosalynn poked Paige's nose, "You fool."

Paige looked aggrieved, and she touched her nose and said, "Rosalynn, you're ungrateful. I love you so much, and you call me a fool!"

Following behind, Baillie heard her say "I love you," and his eyebrows twitched.

Rosalynn shook her head helplessly.

Nowadays, she often wasn't home, and her house was filled with children, elderly people, nannies, bodyguards, and others.

Baillie had to pick up and drop off Paige every day, so why not just bring Paige directly to his own house?

They were married, wasn't it just a matter of time before they lived together?

Baillie was anxious about this.

But Paige was still the same.

The weather had been beautiful these past few days.

Paige and Baillie exited the elevator, discussing renovation plans for the old house

After crossing the VIP ward, the number of people increased.

Most of the people who came here for treatment were wealthy, as the doctors here were highly skilled and the cost of hospitalization and treatment was high.

Ever since they took a walk together late that night, Baillie would always hold Paige's hand when they went out.

At first, Paige felt awkward, but now she was used to it.

In fact, she would even absentmindedly play with his hand while listening to Baillie talk.

"By the way, that Jaime just now..." Baillie changed the subject.

Paige quickly said, "Don't overthink it, he really is my little brother. Right now, his hostility towards you is just the natural hostility a younger brother has for his brother-in-law."

"I see, he thinks I'm not good enough for you." Baillie hit the nail on the head.

Paige glanced at him and immediately laughed, "Mr. Scott summed it up well."

"Today was just a coincidence, not a formal introduction. When we do formally meet, I will give him) a big gift." Baillie was not angry at Jaime's hostility.

On the contrary, he acted very much like what a brother-in-law should do.

After saying this, he looked ahead, the smile on his face gradually fading.
