

The secret 10

Chapter 10

The four of them returned to the mansion.

Roxanne and the two children were so hungry that they devoured all the leftovers that Madilyn brought from the restaurant.

After dinner, the children went upstairs to shower.

Madilyn cast a doubtful look at her best friend. "Why are you running from him? I don't get it. I thought you two had a divorce agreement? Why are you so afraid of him? And you didn't tell me why you divorced him. What exactly happened in the last few years?"

After meeting her gaze, Roxanne lowered her eyes and hesitated for a moment. She decided to tell the story to Madilyn more or less.

"Oh Lord! No, you didn't!"

Not in a million years had Madilyn thought that Roxanne would drug Lucian and give birth to her children.

That's why she ran away when she heard her name!

Roxanne bit her lower lip and looked in agony. "I don't want him to know about Benny and Archie. Besides, I'm still worried that he's holding a grudge against me for drugging him. People with an identity like yours can easily take revenge on me whenever they want. He wouldn't be afraid to face the consequences if he were alone. But now that I have two children, I have to act responsibly."

She flashed a self-deprecating smile and continued, "Maybe it's just that I'm thinking too much. He may not even give a damn. I'm a nobody anyway."

"That's what you thought!" Madilyn frowned. I think he recognized your voice. When she came in just now, she asked where you were. It looks like it was coming after you!"

Roxanne was stunned for a moment upon hearing that. She felt a sharp pain in her heart.

She must have hated me for what I did that night. I bet that's the only feeling he has for me.

Seeing how upset her best friend was, Madilyn comforted her. "Don't worry, Roxana. I'm sure you won't come across it that easily since Horington is a big city and your jobs aren't related either.

Roxanne nodded, hoping luck was on her side.

"Mommy!"

Suddenly, Roxanne heard Archie and Benny's voices from behind.

Roxanne and Madilyn immediately broke off their conversation and looked up the stairs.

Archie and Benny had just taken a shower. There was still moisture in her hair, and her fair skin was covered in dew. The two little ones, who were wearing cow-spotted pajamas, went downstairs.

They walked up to the women, tilting their heads up and looking at them with wide eyes. "What are you two talking about?"

Madilyn squatted down and carried both beauties in her arms. "You two are so adorable! I like you so much! Come, let's go home to Aunt Madilyn!

Archie and Benny couldn't get a word out as Madilyn continued to squeeze her cheeks.