

The secret 11

Chapter 11

In the middle of the night, Lucian tiptoed into Estella's room in the Farwell residence and tucked her in. He watched the girl sleeping soundly on the bed for a long time before turning around and walking out of the room.

The moment he left the room, Cayden stepped forward to update him, "Mr. Goodbye, I have stopped by the restaurant to investigate the matter. However, I did not discover anything because the surveillance cameras were broken.

"So coincidentally?" Hearing that, Lucian frowned. At the time my suspicion was aroused, did the surveillance cameras also break?

Looking concerned, Cayden hesitantly replied, "It could be a mere coincidence. After all, we haven't had any news about Mrs. Farwell, I mean Mrs. Jarvis, since she left years ago. I don't think it appears out of nowhere in this city."

Immediately after saying that, he noticed his boss's expression darken.

Cayden's heart skipped a beat. He lowered his head and didn't dare say anything else.

"Got it," Lucian replied ambiguously before turning and heading to his room.

The next morning, after breakfast, Roxanne took her two children to the kindergarten recommended by Madilyn.

As someone of great efficiency, Roxanne had stayed up late to fix things after finishing her option for kindergarten the night before. She planned to enroll them in it right away.

As reported by Madilyn, the entrance requirements for kindergarten in particular were relatively strict. All the students there were from wealthy and prominent families. On top of that, the kindergarten was strict in evaluating their students' parents.

Immediately after Roxanne arrived at the kindergarten principal's office, she was asked to provide details of her occupation and her net worth with related documentation. Fortunately, she had done the necessary preparation, as Madilyn recalled earlier.

Although Roxanne was not a CEO or director, she had made a lot of money in recent years from her experience in the medical field. Therefore, her net worth was much higher than the minimum requirement of kindergarten.

After reviewing her documentation, the kindergarten director politely pronounced. "Millisecond. Jarvis, I will proceed to enroll your children now. Could you please sign here?"

Roxanne put her signature on the document as she was requested.

Soon after, the kindergarten headmistress called a teacher with a pleasant look. She instructed the latter to take the two children to her classroom so that they could become familiar with the environment and their classmates.

The two children greeted Roxanne nonchalantly and walked off with the teacher.