Chapter 30: The Spirit of the Sword

Jiang Chen was stabbed in the thigh by a tribal warrior. Fortunately, he had started to retreat before the opponent could make an all-out effort.

By then, Jiang Chen had retreated almost a mile from the position he had started in so that he wasn't overwhelmed by the tribal men.

But, there was blood here and there along the way.

Jin Jie wanted to see Jiang Chen's expression before his death. To her disappointment, he kept a straight face, and there was determination in his eyes.

"How surprising! He hasn't given up," Jin Jie murmured to herself.

Not only had he not given up, but he didn't expect Wind and Cloud's help anymore. When the "Idiot..." Jin Jie couldn't help laughing at him. He had failed twice and he hadn't learned any lessons from his failures.

But she suddenly saw something surprising. His attack had killed three tribal men directly!

She tried to call to mind more details of Jiang Chen's movement. It turned out his movement was getting It's my turn.

A cold grin showed slightly at the corner of Jiang Chen's mouth. He threw his iron sword out again. "Fire clouds all over the sky!"

The scarlet rays emitted by the sword were shot here and there in the forest. A powerful energy broke out of Jiang Chen's sword.

"The spirit of the sword. He has mastered the spirit of the sword!" Jin Jie was shocked. She

Then a erce wind started to blow, wreaking havoc in the entire zone.

It was a different movement this time and it brought an even more suffocating feeling to the tribal warriors.

The warriors of the Tribe of Thunder stood there, dumbfounded. They didn't understand how Jiang Chen, who was dying, had become so powerful in a second.

It was because that movement required the mastery of the spirit of the sword. In the rst two trials he hadn't succeeded, but in the daredevil's third trial, his potential was stimulated while he was facing life and death.

Screams kept intensifying then dying out. Several men fell down with a wail.

Jiang Chen was standing in the center of the wind. His black hair was uttering. There was an intense look on his angular face.

They had given up on catching Jiang Chen alive. It was too late when they took the bows off of their backs. As soon as someone pulled their bowstring, Jiang Chen started to attack him with power.

Wherever his eyes landed, the warriors that made eye contact with him were scared half to death.

Jiang Chen chased her and stopped her with his sword.

"Do you want me to die?" Jiang Chen said coldly.

"What are you saying? Who wants you to die? You are such a narcissist." Jin Jie was behaving like Jiang Chen could do nothing to her.

"What are you up to?"

To her surprise, Jiang Chen started to attack her suddenly. He laid his sword on her neck. The ice-cold blade made her too frightened to utter a sound. "Old bastard, stop!" Jiang Chen shouted at the old man who was still badgering Wind and Cloud.

Jin Jie was frightened by the cold and dark look of Jiang Chen, but she was still shouting aggressively due to her arrogance.

The old man was surprised to see that Jin Jie had fallen into Jiang Chen's hands. He put Wind and Cloud behind him right away and landed on the ground.

"Throw your weapon away and tie yourself up!" Jiang Chen ordered. The old man hesitated for a while. Then he threw away his long sword and let Wind and Cloud tie him up.

Wind and Cloud were shocked when they heard the order, but they didn't hesitate to follow it. The old man tried to ght back, but as soon as he got rid of the rope binding him, his heart was pierced by Wind and Cloud's weapon.

Without the sword near her neck, Jin Jie's aggressiveness came back instantly. "You should worry about yourself right now," Jiang Chen said.

Jin Jie was startled. She looked around and found many eyes looking at her in the darkness.

"Jiang Chen! You wait and see! I'll make the Jiang Mansion pay the price!"

Jiang Chen kept silent. When he stopped, he suddenly pushed Jin Jie forward.

Jin Jie was lled with fear and regret. She shouldn't have provoked Jiang Chen.

"Don't do anything stupid. My father is the leader of the Bloody Hand Gang!"

Jin Jie, almost crying, said, "Jiang Chen, it's my fault. Please forgive me."

"Is he? I'm so scared," Jiang Chen was smiling brightly.

"Only god can forgive you. My job is to send you to him."

Jiang Chen was taking revenge on her for what she had done to him. Jiang Chen was standing on the hill watching, like Jin Jie had watched him under the siege of the tribal warriors.

"Don't! Jiang Chen! Don't be so vicious!" Jin Jie was pleading from below.

"This...this is the Tribe of Thunder?" Her voice was shaking.

"Idiot." Jiang Chen sneered and turned around. He kept hearing Jin Jie's screams until he was far away.

Wind and Cloud knelt down. They had con icted feelings upon seeing Jiang Chen, who seemed to have taken a bath in blood.

Wind, Cloud, and the girl came up to him at that moment.

"Child Chen..." Cloud thought Jiang Chen was blaming them. Hardly had he nished his words when Wind shook his head at him.

When Jiang Chen was far enough away, Cloud said anxiously, "What are you doing? Will you really leave Child Chen alone?" "Child Chen needs to take more life-and-death adventures. We will disturb him if we follow him, but if we don't follow him, he will be in danger. So let's follow him secretly. Isn't it a perfect solution?"

"You're right!" Cloud's eyes lit up. He pointed at the girl suddenly and felt awkward. "What about her?" "You take her back rst. I'll leave tracks to guide you along the way."

"Fine."

Then Jiang Chen nodded at the girl and left.

Cloud felt all right with the arrangement and left with the girl.
