

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1395

Chapter 1395

David looked at Lucius, who was already in a state of rage, feeling speechless.

'What's going on?'

He only said two sentences and the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan was about to fight someone else.

Now, he was in a supporting role.

David remembered the guy who had just pissed off Lucius.

He seemed to be the head of the Titan Giant Ape Clan.

The last time he stepped into Eternal Realm, Tarzan showed up to snap back at Lucius until he was at a loss for words.

David did not expect him to come again this time.

It seemed that there must be considerable enmity between the Titan Giant Ape Clan and the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan.

"What? Lucius, judging from how you're acting, are you thinking of fighting me? Then come on! When have I, Tarzan, been afraid of you? David, my brother, let me help you test this guy first, and then you can seize the opportunity to take action."

Tarzan's voice came from the void.

Lucius was already on the verge of an outburst after Tarzan triggered him.

He was prepared to activate the Eternal Golden Body to teach Tarzan a lesson.

However, after hearing what Tarzan just said, most of his anger was extinguished.

He had not taken care of David and the other Eternals who came to make trouble, so it would be unwise to drag Tarzan into the battle.

'Forget it. A hero would not suffer from immediate losses.

'I should bear with it for now!

'After getting rid of David, I will find a way to make the Titan Giant Ape Clan pay for this!'

Lucius thought to himself.

What Tarzan said made it seem like he was not scared of Lucius and was ready to throw down the gauntlet and fight him, but his last sentence was undoubtedly a reminder to Lucius.

'You still haven't dealt with David who came here to you to cause trouble.

'Aren't you giving David and the others a chance if you fight with me now?'

It had to be said that Tarzan, the head of the Titan Giant Ape Clan, was pretty smart.

He was not like some guys with well-developed limbs but simple minds.

His words not only protected his and the Titan Giant Ape Clan's reputation, but they also made Lucius dare not do anything to him. In the end, he also expressed goodwill to David.

It could be said that he had killed three birds with one stone.

With David's IQ, he naturally understood what was going on.

'It seems that Tarzan is not easy to deal with either.

'Why are most of these galaxy beasts smarter than humans?'

"Tarzan, the matter between our two races is, after all, an internal conflict within the Beast Galaxy. Let's talk about it later. Now, we should fight the outsiders together. First, we should take care of David, the punk from the Milky Way who came here to make trouble, and then we'll talk about other things." Lucius took a deep breath and said as he suppressed the anger in his heart.

"Lucius, you should take care of this mess you Nine-Headed Serpent Clan created yourself. David is here for you, so don't get us involved. We're not idiots and we won't get ourselves involved in your mess."

Tarzan fell silent after saying this and made no more sound.

His goal had been achieved, and the next step was to see how far David could go.

Hopefully, he would at least severely injure the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan and make them suffer huge losses.

Otherwise, his efforts to help David would be in vain.

“Everyone, since the Milky Way has come up to us, we should at least do something, right? When have us galaxy beasts received such treatment? In order to maintain the dignity of Beast Galaxy, I hope everyone can unite and attack the outsiders...”

Lucius was still making noise.

He wanted to arouse the righteousness of the major races in the Beast Galaxy, and take action against David, an outsider, together.

However, after he spoke for so long, no one responded to him.

What Tarzan had just said was very influential.

They were in Beast Galaxy and David was an outsider from a lower civilization, and even after he stepped into Eternal Realm and brought the Milky Way into mid-level civilization, it was still far, far worse than an established level 5 civilization like the Beast Galaxy.

However, some powerful races that had been ready to speak out against David, an outsider, became silent after Tarzan made such a fuss.

Tarzan was right.

David did not come here to attack the entire the Beast Galaxy because he simply did not have the strength.

He was just out to get revenge on the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan.

Chapter 1396

These were all the crimes committed by the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan.

Why should they get involved in this mess?

Lucius was still talking to himself.

He thought that this would motivate everyone to attack David together.

If it were not for what Tarzan said just now, someone might have really come forward.

At this point, David could not stand it anymore.

He had said only two sentences until now, but Lucius kept talking.

Celeste asked him to deal with this as soon as possible.

If it went on like this, he had no idea how long Lucius would go on.

“Lucius, how long are you going to keep blabbering? You should be clear about the purpose of my visit today. You have been targeting the Milky Way for so many years, so you should at least give me an explanation, right?” David said.

Lucius was pissed that David interrupted him.

He waited for a while.

Still, no one wanted to come forward.

Lucius wanted to tear Tarzan into pieces.

If it were not for him, this would not have happened.

“David, I don’t know what you’re talking about, and I have nothing to explain to you. When you stepped into Eternal Realm last time, you attacked the Nine-Headed Serpent Clan for no reason, and now you’re looking for trouble again. Do you think our entire clan is weak? I think you’re underestimating the Beast Galaxy,” Lucius replied coldly.

David scoffed and did not continue to talk to Lucius.

Instead, he said to Amadi who was beside him, “Amadi, it seems that we have no choice but to take action today. The opponent has two Eternals, so you can choose one! How about leaving the other one to me?”

“You just become an Eternal, can you handle it? There are two late Ruler Ranks on the opposite side, why don’t...” Amadi did not finish his sentence.

He believed David would understand what he meant.

Of course, Amadi had no problem dealing with an Eternal Realm late Ruler Ranker.

Although Amadi was also an Eternal Realm late Ruler Ranker just like the other party, he was from a high-level civilization.

A lot of his techniques were many times stronger than this mid-level civilization.

However, Amadi did not think the same could be said for David.

After all, David had just become an Eternal Realm beginner Ruler Ranker.

The difference between the two sides was two small realms.

It was not easy to surpass these two small realms to defeat his opponents.

Thus, Amadi wanted David to directly tell the other party he was a Universe Enforcer.

Once they found out, the other party would surely kneel and beg for mercy.

'How simple and easy would this be?

'Why does he insist on taking action himself?'

"Amadi, we'll only find out after I try," David said with a chuckle.

Of course, he knew what Amadi meant.

However, David knew what he lacked, and it was not strength.

Once they got to Star Kingdom, David was confident that he could increase his strength in a short time using the system.

He lacked combat experience, and the system could not give this to him.

Now that there was such a good chance for him to increase his combat experience, how would David miss it?

Moreover, he gained a lot of confidence after he chopped off one of the heads from Serpentine's Eternal Golden Body.

"If that's the case, I want him," Amadi pointed casually at Lucius and said.

He did not know what gave David the confidence to fight someone in a higher rank than himself.

However, since David said he wanted to, they should just fight.

Even if David could not defeat the opponent, Ms. Celeste was around.

"Alright, leave the remaining one to me," David said excitedly.
