I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2363-After his Cloning upgrade, David went out of seclusion. He found Nova and was assured that everything was normal in Star Kingdom and there had been no accidents.

No one from the Feather family had come.

This completely confused David.

He did not know what the problem was.

Blue, a real Deity, came after the death of Azul, a partial Deity direct descendant.

Now that Blue was dead, shouldn't they send someone stronger?

Shouldn't a powerful large family like the Feather family send someone older when someone young from their family was killed?

Why were they holding back and enduring?

Was that still a big force in a level 9 civilization?

Time was running out now and yet no one from the Feather family was coming.

David was not sure what was going on either.

It might be that the Feather family was in trouble and could not send someone stronger than Blue for the time being.

It was also possible that the Feather family sensed the crisis through Blue's death and did not dare to come.

Either way, it was not good news for David.

If the Feather family dragged on like this and never came, David would have to stay in Star Kingdom.

He would not dare to leave too!

What if someone from the Feather family suddenly appeared after he left?

Who would stop them then?

At that time, countless creatures in Star Kingdom would be in crisis because of him.

David was not cold-blooded.

He could not abandon Star Kingdom and his friends.

Not even when it was just a probability.

After he went back to the secret room, David shook his head.

He could not let this go on like this.

If the Feather family did not come for a lifetime, does that mean he wouldn't be able to leave Star Kingdom for the rest of his life?

He would be stuck here.

He originally planned to completely resolve the crisis of the Feather family, and take Celia and the others back to Earth first, allowing them to reunite with their families.

Then, he would go to level 9 civilization Leila alone to check the situation. However, he was now tied to Star Kingdom and could not go anywhere.

David felt that he could not just wait for the Feather family to come to his door. He had to figure out a way.

After considering it for a long time, a sudden flash of inspiration appeared in his mind.

Since a drop of blood essence could summon a clone with the same strength as his main form, could he automatically summon a clone if he left a drop of blood essence and forcefully cut a small part of his soul power,?

If it was feasible, he only needed to leave a few drops of blood essence and a little soul power here. Then he would be able to deal with any crisis.

Not only could he protect the Star Kingdom, but he could also protect Earth.

He could go anywhere as the main form and he could rest assured. He also would not have to worry about his hometown being invaded by foreign enemies.

This would be the best of both worlds.

It would be better to take action than to just think about it.

Therefore, David went ahead and did just that.

He forced a drop of blood essence from his body and suspended it in front of his eyes.

Then, he gritted his teeth and endured the severe pain to split out a trace of soul power.

The feeling of having his soul torn from him was a little too much even for someone with strong willpower like David.

However, David endured it so that he could leave and guarantee the safety of Star Kingdom and Earth.

After splitting his soul power, he put it together with the blood essence.

Then, David began to observe the changes.

Time passed by every minute and every second.

However, the result disappointed him.

There was no chemical reaction between the two.

Nothing happened.

The blood essence and soul power remained unchanged. They could not integrate.

As he looked at the drop of blood essence remaining unchanged in front of him and his torn soul power, David cast Cloning.
