

Read I Am A Quadrillionaire Chapter 2252

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2252-The second floor was much quieter than downstairs.

There were more than ten tables, all separated and everyone ate at their table. Some people were talking but not very loudly.

It did not take long for their dishes to be served.

The food filled the entire table. Although they were not delicacies, they looked nice, smelled nice, and tasted good.

It was time to eat, so Evie and the Elf women had no choice but to take off their veils to reveal their stunning faces.

Beanie was already considered a top-notch beauty among humans, but she was still much inferior compared to the delicate faces of the Elf women.

The Elf women were well-known throughout Leila and sought after by all major forces, so they had a certain amount of capital.

Pebbles would not eat these common foods as they were useless for her body.

When everyone was eating, a noise came from the stairs.

"I got my hands on that new woman from Primavera Brothel last night. She was something else and it was so fun."

"Not bad, kid? You must have spent a lot of money!"

"Money is nothing! We can earn it back after we spend it.

Haha!”

“The question is where are you going to earn the money?”

“That’s easy! I can just steal two of my father’s treasures and sell them!”

“Not bad! Not bad at all!”

“You can do that too.”

“Forget it! I’m afraid my father will break my leg.”

An inn attendant led the way, followed by several young men who looked like sons of rich families. They were chatting and laughing as they walked up.

They did not stop at the second floor but went directly to the third floor.

Only people with status and position were allowed on the third floor.

People like David who only had money could only eat on the second.

David would not care about that.

He could eat anywhere.

He even ate at roadside stalls, so why would he care?

Typically, the two sides would not have contact at all.

On one side were the powerful young masters in the local area, while on the other side were just passers-by.

However, as the last man was about to go up the stairs to the third floor, he casually glanced at the second floor.

As a result, he spotted David's table and the Elf women dining.

Immediately, his eyes widened in astonishment.

He swore that he had never seen such women.

They were much prettier compared with the new woman from Primavera Brothel they were discussing.

Immediately, he shouted at the few people who went upstairs.

"Wait!"

"Brutus, can you stop f*cking startling us?" The men who had already gone upstairs turned and complained.

"Come down and have a look? It's something good," the young man called Brutus said again.

"What should we look at? Brutus, are you too bored after you finish eating? What's there to see on the second floor?"

"Come down and look! Do you think I'll lie to you? It's just a few steps! If you don't come down, don't regret it later!"

The men looked at each other before turning to come down.

Brutus and them were in the same circle so they always hung out. They knew each other very well so they knew Brutus would not play stupid tricks on them.

When they were at the end of the stairs, they looked over at what Brutus was looking at.

All of them were dumbfounded.

As they were staring at the few delicate faces, their eyes were so wide their eyeballs almost fell out of their sockets.

Even though they were young, they were experienced playboys.

They had played with countless beautiful women but never with such beautiful ones.

They had never even seen such beautiful ones, let alone played them.

Their jaws dropped, and they drooled.