

Sivon Grandola was a bar that specialized in all kinds of alcoholic beverages in front while being Dragon Gang's discreet hideout in the back.

The customers were mostly street thugs and gang members, but the bar welcomed a group of uninvited guests for the first time: the local police!

Noelle was leading the raid. The investigation of the previous fight led her to the bar.

The owner of the bar was the big boss of the Dragon Gang, Raphael Bambino. The man in the handsome suit had no tattoos on his body, unlike his men. He looked more like a businessman than a mafia boss. However, he was actually a ruthless man who did things mercilessly.

“Captain Freely, we are running a legitimate business here. Is there any misunderstanding?” Raphael said gently to Noelle.

“We got the news that your men are involved in the gang fight. We are here for an investigation and a possible arrest,” Nolle said strictly.

“Very well. This way, please.”

Raphael invited her in before he led the officers into a spacious room.

Noelle picked up a fragrance in the air. The fragrance could easily knock a cow unconscious.

Raphael and his men had taken the antidote, so they were unaffected by the fragrance.

Noelle and her men started to grow weak. Their strength rapidly left their bodies, and they collapsed to the ground.

“You...” Noelle could barely keep her consciousness. She pointed at Raphael but could not finish her sentence.

“Captain, you are still young.” Raphael grinned at the unconscious captain. “Men, let's invite our beloved captain to the studio for a couple of sexy photoshoots.”

This was how Sivon Grandola did things around here.

Whenever the police visited them for an investigation, they would knock them out using gas and use their nude photos against them. This was also the reason why many officers stayed away from Sivon Grandola.

Just when the thugs wanted to bring Noelle into the studio, a loud bang came from the entrance.

The loud noise startled Raphael. He looked back and saw a young man.

It was Andrius!

One of the thugs recognized him. He shouted, "Boss, it's him! Andrius Moonshade!"

Raphael's expression turned gloomy. His eyes overflowed with killing intent. "Kid, you broke my men, yet you dare to trespass into my territory?"

"Of course. I have the courage to trample over you b*stards." Andrius leaped forward like a panther, throwing a swift punch at Raphael's face.

"Urgh!"

Broken teeth and blood flew across the air, drawing an arch.

Raphael was sent flying backward. Before he could crash into the wall, Andrius grabbed his leg and slammed him down on the ground.

Bang!

The impact broke the chair into pieces beside him.

"Boss!"

A bunch of thugs went up hurriedly and helped Raphael up.

Raphael wiped the blood off his face and shouted at the top of his lungs, "DESTROY HIM!"

The thugs unveiled their daggers and knives before throwing themselves at Andrius.

Andrius moved swiftly and attacked with explosive strength. He dashed towards the dozen armed thugs fearlessly.

Broken bones and slams could be heard across the room. Punches landed on the thug's bodies, breaking bones and tearing muscles.

Raphael widened his eyes in disbelief and shock.

A dozen of his men could not even land a cut on Andrius with their daggers and knives, and they were all defeated!

Not even a novel had the words to describe such an unbelievable fight scene!