

The Secret Heir Return To Wealth And Love Chapter 1491

The Secret Heir Return To Wealth And Love Chapter 1491

Chapter 1491

Ivy had been dealing with troublemakers since the semester started, using her mom's method of tough love on the first day of school. She gave a chubby kid who gave her grief a taste of his own medicine.

After that, there were kids who made fun of her dad's death.

But they all learnt the hard way that messing with her was a bad idea.

Now, they keep their distance, especially the chubby kid who started it all.

He had a hard time dealing with insecurities about his own body odor.

The school bus pulled up.

Ivy and Molly stepped off, one after the other.

And there was the chubby kid, getting off the bus too.

With Wayne back, Ivy was feeling chipper.

She greeted the chubby kid with a sweet smile and a gentle "Good morning."

He instinctively sniffed his arm.

His mom and grandma now washed his clothes with perfume, so he smelled nice.

He psyched himself up and was about to move on when his mom yanked him back: "Boy, you can't mess with Ivy anymore, got it?" He thought to himself, as if I would!

The memory of the last time was still too fresh.

He still didn't know if he really had body odor back then.

“I saw online that her dad is really back!” his mom whispered, “Her dad’s a big deal. If he finds out you’ve been bullying his daughter, and said his wife is your future aunt, we’re gonna be in trouble!”

He cringed, “I thought you said her dad was dead?”

“Who knows what happened. Just steer clear of her!”

“Alright...”

He hadn’t planned on bullying Ivy anyway.

Head down, he trudged towards the school.

His mom heaved a sigh of relief.

As she was about to get in the car, she saw a pair of cold eyes.

She was taken aback.

The owner of the eyes turned out to be a girl of about ten.

“What’s your problem, why are you staring like that?” She crossed her arms, looking annoyed.

Molly adjusted her backpack and said, “You’re not raising your kid right. When Mr. Silverman’s fate was unknown, you told your son to bully his daughter. Now that Mr. Silverman’s back, you’re scared and telling him to mind his manners.”

“You’re just a child, where did you get all this nonsense! I never told my son to bully Ivy!” The woman shrieked. Tm with the Silverman family. Felix stepped off the bus, “Got a problem with that?”

Felix towered over her, his icy gaze piercing through her.

The woman’s face turned pale.

She just saw Ivy get off this bus.

She wished she could tape her mouth shut.

She thought to herself, I just told my son to be careful with his words, how could I forget so soon?

TIL..I have no problem. You're right, little girl, I'll reflect on my actions when I get home!" She quickly got in the car and sped off. Felix gently patted Molly's head, "Let's go in."

Molly nodded and waved goodbye to Felix, calmly blending in with the other kids.

For Felix, the happiest moments were picking up and dropping off Molly, as long as he wasn't traveling for work.

Watching her enter the school like any other kid, then seeing her return to him after a day of learning with her classmates.

It was something Felix never dared to dream of before.

Molly turned back for a glance before entering the school gate.

Felix immediately waved back with a smile.

Molly looked a bit worried.

Chapter 1492

She only took a few steps before catching up with Ivy.

"Ivy, I think my dad might have separation anxiety. After he dropped us off, he just stood there and didn't want to leave, Molly said to Ivy seriously

"What?" Ivy looked surprised, "What should we do?"

"Til figure something out when I get back," replied Molly.

Even though she had adapted to the life of an ordinary elementary school student, she still hadn't adjusted to a normal family life.

For many years, the biggest demand she and Felix had for each other was simply to survive.

Now, Felix seemed more and more like a doting father, which Molly found a bit hard to comprehend.

For Ivy, that day felt as long as being fried in oil.

She called Rosalynn during the morning break to inquire about her dad's condition.

At lunch, she even wanted to leave school to go to the hospital, but Molly stopped her.

In the afternoon, Ivy called Rosalynn again to ask about her dad.

Finally, the school bell rang.

Ivy packed up her backpack and shot out like an arrow.

"Ivy

Just as she dashed out, someone stopped her.

She turned around, "Liam, what's up? I'm in a rush!"

"This is for you." Liam handed her a file bag.

The contents of the bag seemed freshly printed; she could still smell the ink.

Ivy took it without hesitation, "Til take a good look at it, can I go now?"

Liam nodded.

Ivy immediately turned and ran off.

Liam watched as she disappeared in a blink of an eye.

He was about to leave when....

"Liam!"

Ivy suddenly came back, running up to him.

"What's up?" Liam frowned slightly.

Ivy pulled him aside and whispered, "My dad's back!"

Liam was stunned.

"Okay, I really have to go now!!"

Liam could clearly feel Ivy's joy.

Before he could respond, she ran off again. This time, Ivy completely disappeared.

Liam stood there, pale-faced, but his ears were slightly red.

Wayne's return was a hot topic in school that day, among both students and teachers.

Ivy never talked about her family.

So, he never expected that Ivy would tell him her father was back.

Liam felt a lot lighter.

He turned and went back to his classroom.

He had promised the teacher to tutor some students who were struggling after school.

Ableson barely entered the school gate when he saw Ivy running out.

Molly was running behind her.

Originally, Molly was going to find Ivy first. But as soon as she stepped out the door, she saw Ivy taking off like a shot.

"Ivy, slow down when you're running, be careful! Molly, you too! Oh my God!" Ableson yelled nervously.

"Hurry up, my dad is waiting for me!"

Chapter 1493

Ableson started to fret about Ivy.

After getting a call from Ivy and Molly, he booked it to the hospital,

Ivy and her brother had already decided in the morning to split up to save time.

Wayne's check-up was all done.

Most of the results were already out.

Luckily, Wayne's brain haemorrhage had cleared up without leaving any side effects.

After going through this, it's like he dodged a bullet

Apart from needing some rest and physical training, the most troublesome part was his memory loss.

Wayne now had to relearn many things, like reading.

But there was also some good news.

After lunch, the appraisal results for the coral sea came out.

Wayne hadn't been wrong, there were indeed rare coral species in that sea that needed special protection:

"Looks like you haven't completely forgot the things you've come across. If you see them, you'll remember!" Rosalynn happily put the biological maps sent by the two labs in front of Wayne.

However/Wayne couldn't bring himself to be happy: "Did I cause you trouble..."

At first, he just wanted to help Zenobia's family keep their inn.

He never thought that the developer would turn out to be his wife.

"No!" Rosalynn shook her head without hesitation, "Wayne, this coral is really precious. If you hadn't discovered it, it might have disappeared without anyone knowing, and no one would ever know it had been there. So, you didn't cause me trouble, your discovery protected them!"

"Will the island project be affected?" Wayne asked.

"No, and not only will it not be affected, I will also use this public opinion to promote our resort concept."

"We will establish a rare coral protection area, hire professionals at high salaries to take care of these corals. We will make this coral sea a feature of our resort." Wayne continued.

"Right!" Rosalynn nodded, "Such a high-quality coral sea, only our resort has it."

Seeing Rosalynn smile, Wayne also started to laugh: "There are many unique places on the island, designers can think about it, design the rooms according to these unique features."

"Okay, when you have recovered, we will go to the island with the design team, you can tell them your ideas!"

Wayne was a bit stunned: "Are you okay going back with me?"

"Of course."

Wayne's eyes were deep, his smile gentle.

During this time, he had been trying hard to remember the past.

But he still couldn't remember anything.

However, his love for her had become an instinct.

He instinctively wanted to be close to her. The moment she grabbed his hand on the deck, his sense of strangeness towards her disappeared instantly.

His soul and heart were telling him, this was the woman he loved the most.

And it proved to be true.

Her presence was like a healing potion for him.

Always easily calming his inner restlessness and anxiety.

A few days later he mentioned this thought to the psychologist during a one-on-one session.

The psychologist joked: "You may not have heard the story... A few days ago your staff said, no matter how throw, as long as your wife appears by your side, she can soothe you in just three seconds."

Hearing this, Wayne was inexplicably happy for several days.

Chapter 1494

This happened later on.

Rosalynn and Wayne were having a chat.

Suddenly, Ivy's voice came from afar,

"Mommy!"

"So soon?" Rosalynn glanced at the time. It had only been twenty minutes since school finished. The door to the hospital room was pushed open.

Ivy entered the room, panting and sweaty from running.

"Dad, are your tests done? What did the doctors say? Everything okay? Can we go home soon?" Ivy raced to the bedside, asking rapidly.

"The tests are all done. The doctors said I'm fine, so we can go home soon." Wayne replied gently.

Ivy hopped on the spot, "I knew it!"

"Little one, you're all sweaty from running, come here, let mommy wipe you off."
Rosalynn held out her hand to Ivy

Ivy happily jumped in front of her, "Mommy, I got an A in the test last week!"

"What was your result last time?" Rosalynn looked surprised and delighted.

"B" Ivy puffed out her chest in pride, her face full of anticipation for praise.

Because Ivy was too adorable, her actions would never annoy anyone.

"You're such an amazing kid, Ivy! How about mommy gives you a reward?" Rosalynn playfully tapped Ivy's nose with hers.

Ivy loved this kind of interaction.

"I did well on my test for myself. You don't need to reward me!" Ivy pretended to be mature.

"Is that so... I was thinking of letting you teach your dad some reading... If you don't want it..." Rosalynn feigned regret.

"I want it!!" Ivy immediately raised her hand high, "I want that reward!"

Wayne just would stop smiling.

Back when they were on the island, Zenobia always said that he didn't smile enough.

Zenobia: Smile more, you look good when you smile!

Now that she was back by his side, Wayne constantly wore a smile.

"Little girls are so fickle." Rosalynn pinched Ivy's nose.

"But, daddy can't read anymore? Ivy looked at Wayne worriedly, "You can't read at all?"

"I can read a bit." Wayne felt a bit embarrassed, "If you're willing to teach me, I'll study very hard!"

Upon hearing this, Ivy patted her chest confidently, "Don't worry, daddy, I've learned all of Liam's teaching methods, I'm sure I can teach you well!"

Rosalynn watched, her eyes full of laughter.

In the past few months, although Ivy seemed lively, she would occasionally remember her father and become quiet.

Now, her vibrant daughter was finally back!

Not long after, Cory arrived.

He brought with him the grand prize he won from the physics competition last month.

Wayne showered him with praises.

Cory looked very pleased.

“My brother always wing the highest honor!” Ivy looked even prouder than Cory, “Our teachers all say that in any competition my brother participates in, the second place is the real competition because the first place is always his!”

Chapter 1495

After wrapping up her work, Hilaria was ready to join her family for dinner.

She reached the door.

Hearing the cheerful conversation between Rosalynn and Wayne in the ward, she felt comforted, so she turned and left.

Felix looked a bit shocked.

“Mrs. Jared, what are you doing...

“They’ve been apart for so long, they should have some private time,” Hilaria said with a broad smile and a wave of her hand. “Isn’t today your day off? Why don’t you go spend time with your kid instead of loitering here?”

Felix sighed, “Molly is doing a video assignment with her classmates. I don’t understand a thing they’re saying, so I just sit there and watch...

Hilaria laughed, “Molly is a good girl. She will definitely be successful in the future, you don’t need to worry about what will happen.”

The future?

Felix looked a bit dazed.

Living a dangerous life, he had never thought about the future.

Now, thinking about it, if he worked hard, he could live to see Molly grow up, get married, and have children. He might actually have a big happy family and enjoy quality time with them.

Felix cheerfully saw Hilaria off.

Downstairs, Hilaria bumped into the Baillie couple and took them to a nearby restaurant.

After dinner, as usual, Rosalynn's family went downstairs for a walk.

When a drone flew over their heads, Rosalynn saw it but didn't react

Today's hot debate about whether Wayne was still alive continued.

Paparazzi were probably already camping out at Cory and Ivy's school gate, following them all the way to the hospital.

Outside the hospital, the paparazzi operated the drone to fly back

They were sweating bullets.

"Did we get the shot?" a companion rushed over to ask, "We didn't get caught, did we?"

"Definitely not. If we had, would the drone have come back?"

The paparazzi would never forget that last year, after Wayne and his wife were attacked and admitted to the hospital, their three drones were shot down!

"Check the footage quick! If we really got Wayne, we're set for the year, we'll make a fortune!"

The paparazzi were also anxious.

They immediately checked the footage.

And then their hands started shaking.

In the footage, Rosalynn was holding a man's hand, a little girl was walking backwards, lively and cute, talking to Rosalynn and the man.

On the other side of the man, a little boy looked very mature, quietly following them.

"Why is his face so blurry!" the companion was anxious, "It's Wayne, right? It has to be!"

The paparazzi were sweating bullets

He had been too cautious just now, afraid the drone would be shot down again, so he flew it fast

"Never mind, if we say it's Wayne, then it's definitely Waynell

“Okay!” The companion glanced at the time, “A lot of people are browsing the web at this time, let’s publish it now!!”

Just past eight.

People who had finished work were beginning their rare leisure time.

And then.....

Chapter 1496

A renowned entertainment news team has dropped a bombshell.

“Wayne’s fate unknown? Let’s spill the beans!”

Then came a series of GIFs.

At first, everyone thought it was just another media circus.

Some even started ranting in the comments before checking out the pictures. “You guys are such a pain, what’s it to you if he’s alive or dead? @Bane Corporation Investments, don’t you guys have a leash on this kind of news?”

“The cold hard truth is, I’m your daddy!!”

“Alright, once the media stops its nonsense, this boring drama will end and let the dead rest!”

“Seriously, you’ve been making a fuss all day, Secretary Tesdal must’ve seen this. Isn’t this just rubbing salt in the wound? Media has no heart! Feel sorry for my sugar mama!!”

The complaints didn’t last long.

Those who saw the pictures began to comment excitedly.

“Hold up, did you guys see the pictures? Secretary Tesdal and a man look really close. They’re not just holding hands, but also super close!”

“Holy smokes, no need to spell it out. That’s Rosalynn and Wayne’s twins!!”

“I can’t really see the guy’s face clearly. He looks like Wayne, but the vibe is totally different!”

“Did Secretary Tesdal pull a Wayne and got a body double?”

“This guy’s using a cane, he’s disabled? What was Secretary Tesdal thinking, I’d be a better match!” This comment was deleted minutes later due to criticism.

Those who were complaining earlier begrudgingly opened the pictures.

Then: “Holy Cow!”

Those features are definitely Wayne’s, who else could it be?”

“He’s lost a lot of weight, definitely the real Wayne!”

“Heavens, am I dreaming? If it really is Wayne, this is truly unthinkable, did Rosalynn go to hell and wrestle Satan for him??”

The blogger who leaked the news yesterday mockingly posted a new article: “Nobody believed me yesterday, who’s laughing now?”

This time, nobody was cursing at her.

“Is it really Wayne? How did he come back? What’s going on?”

The blogger replied: I’m not sure about the specifics, but I’m certain that Wayne was alive when Secretary Tesdal brought him back!

“Is his leg disabled?”

Blogger replied: Not sure, I heard his injuries were severe.

“A miracle of true love, my ship is the best in the world!”

“When Wayne had his accident, I made a wish at the church, it came true, now I need to go thank God!!

“Sob, I hope my ship won’t separate after this ordeal. Recently, there were photos of Secretary Tesdal looking unhappy!”

“Yeah, she’s not happy, just frequently dating a handsome half-blood jewelry tycoon while Wayne’s fate was unknown!”

“Even though Wayne’s actions were disappointing, I hope everyone can be less harsh. Remember the jewelry tycoon?”

“Yeah, so awkward. Is Rosalynn still dating the jewelry tycoon? What if Wayne finds out?”

“What if Wayne finds out? These past few months, Wayne’s assets and company have been under Rosalynn’s control. Didn’t you hear? Wayne’s father asked for his inheritance to be divided and was kicked out by Rosalynn, the guards almost hospitalized the old man!"

"Really? Where did you get such explosive news?"

"There are many people who know about this. Now people from the Silverman family are suspecting that Wayne's accident was a scheme by Rosalynn, aiming to get rid of Wayne and his lover."

Chapter 1497

"Seriously, has no one ever questioned the whole deal with Wayne's accident? It all started with his wife getting kidnapped, and he rushed off to save her, then boom.... disaster. But in reality, it seems like his wife was never kidnapped at all. I heard when Wayne got into trouble, she was right there at the scene!"

"Yeah, right there, but she didn't lift a finger!"

"I've been meaning to say this. I've heard from friends who've mingled with Secretary Tesdal that she's been fed up with Wayne over the whole Olivia thing. She might've been planning to off him back then... Now with the Silverman family trying to slice up the inheritance, suddenly a 'Wayne' pops up out of nowhere, it's freaking scary!"

"God, if the plot goes this way, I'd say it's pretty kickass. Isn't Secretary Tesdal just a badass female lead?"

"Get a grip, man. Marriage isn't a life contract, if you're tired of it, you just get a divorce, not murder the guy! Wayne was pretty good to Rosalynn, wasn't he?! Plus it was later proved that Rosalynn was the one he truly loved, he just mistook the person, and nothing happened between him and Olivia, right?"

"Cut the crap, only naive folks would believe the 'mistaken identity thing, can't you see the obvious plot twist? As for whether Wayne and Olivia did anything, you weren't in their bed, how would you know?"

Late at night.

Paige screenshotted all these comments and sent them to Rosalynn: These nutjobs probably got nothing better to do, huh? They are just making stuff up!"

Rosalynn had just returned from a walk, dealt with some work, and helped Ivy with her homework.

She had just finished her shower and was about to rest.

She glanced at the screenshots and quickly noticed something.

“Baby mama, why are you still up fighting with people online? Be good, turn off your phone and go to sleep!” Rosalynn sent a voice message.

Paige didn’t care if she was insulted online. But if anyone spread rumors about Rosalynn, she wouldn’t hesitate to pay someone to block those accounts.

“Do you see the first few comments? Isn’t it obvious that someone from the Silverman family is stirring up trouble and spreading rumors?” Paige replied, “Just a couple of months ago, Wayne’s dad came to claim the inheritance!”

Til have someone look into it, you go to sleep.”

Paige grumbled.

Rosalynn turned off her phone and pushed open the bedroom door.

The next day, Ivy and Cory had a day off, both of them were still up.

Jaime’s 3A game was launched.

Cory was playing with Wayne.

Ivy, who didn’t know how to play, sat next to her dad and cheered enthusiastically

Seeing Rosalynn come in, Ivy quickly waved: “Mommy, daddy is so awesome, this game is so complicated. I don’t understand at all, but after Cory told him the rules, he can play so well! Daddy’s so smart!”

Ivy couldn’t stop praising.

Wayne started to feel a bit embarrassed.

“Daddy is always great. Rosalynn smiled and replied, then checked the time, “After this game, we need to stop. Even if you don’t have school tomorrow, you should go to sleep. Neither daddy nor you guys should stay up late”

“Got it. Cory and Wayne answered almost simultaneously

The game ended quickly.

Ivy was too excited to fall asleep, so she started pestering Rosalynn for a bedtime story.

“Mommy hasn’t told me a bedtime story in a long time!” Ivy whined in Rosalynn’s arms, “Tell me one!”

“Okay. “Rosalynn agreed.

So Ivy immediately lay down quietly.

Rosalynn used to tell stories to Cory and Ivy a lot.

She knew those stories like the back of her hand.

She dimmed the room lights and began telling a fairy tale her grandmother used to tell her in her soft, soothing voice.

Wayne sat on the edge of the bed.

He gazed at Rosalynn with deep affection and tenderness.

It was as if he was being engulfed in her gentleness.

Chapter 1498

Ivy was just talking, but with Rosalynn's gentle voice, she soon fell asleep.

Both kiddos were snoozing by the time the story was over.

Rosalynn tucked them in, then gently kissed their foreheads.

This year, Cory and Ivy had changed a lot. They seemed to morph from mama's babies into little adults overnight. Their features became more defined, looking more and more like Wayne.

Tonight, Cory and Ivy were good about not hogging the bed, leaving space for Rosalynn .

"Last year, we all slept on a bed about this size, and it was empty. Now it's crowded, Rosalynn looked back at Wayne and couldn't help but sigh, "They grow so fast, feels like in a blink of an eye, they'll all grow up and drift away from us."

Wayne reached out, and Rosalynn intertwined her fingers with his. Wayne pulled her into his arms, kissed her forehead and said, "It's okay, I'm here with you."

Rosalynn chuckled, looked up at Wayne, leaned in, and kissed his lips. Wayne had been poisoned, causing some blood clotting problems.

"I have to go to the office tomorrow, probably for the whole day, so Cory and Ivy are all yours." Rosalynn gently stroked his cheek, "Ivy started helping you with reading today, she's very proactive, she's probably going to start teaching you tomorrow."

“Ivy told me.” Wayne kissed her finger, “Can we go home the day after tomorrow?”

Wayne didn't feel safe in the hospital. When he first woke up, his first thought was to go home. After reunited with Rosalynn, he was even more eager to go home.

“Yes.” Rosalynn nodded, then whispered in his ear. “Once we're home, I'm banning the se two munchkins from sneaking into our bedroom to sleep!”

These two were a handful.

Rosalynn was always worrying about them waking up when trying to do something.

Wayne smiled and nodded, “Okay, you're the boss.”

“Get some sleep, you'll recover faster with good rest.

Wayne tenderly kissed Rosalynn's lips, then held her hand tighter.

In the middle of the night, Ivy woke up from a nightmare again. Seeing Wayne, she crawled over crying.

Rosalynn and Wayne both woke up.

“Mummy!” Ivy went to hug Rosalynn.

“Did you have a nightmare?” Rosalynn hugged her and gave her a kiss.

Ivy sobbed and nodded.

Rosalynn comforted her and let her sleep in between her and Wayne. Then she looked at Cory, saw he was sound asleep, laid down, and continued to pat Ivy's back as she sobbed.

Day two.

Chapter 1499

Rosalynn had to get up early for work, so she was the first one up

When she woke up. Wayne woke up too.

Like a big dog, he limped after Rosalynn with his crutches.

Ever since their reunion, Wayne and Rosalynn had been inseparable. Suddenly having to be apart for a whole day, Wayne started showing signs of separation anxiety as soon as he woke up

While Rosalynn was brushing her teeth, Wayne hugged her from behind, his chin resting on her shoulder, "What time do you get off work? Can call you? What if I have a conflict with Ivy and Cory?"

Rosalynn turned around, leaning against the sink, looking up at Wayne, "Do you hate to see me go?"

Wayne looked pitifully at Rosalynn, then nodded, "I'm afraid that when I wake up, you'll be gone."

Rosalynn was taken aback, her eyes reddening, "I can video call you during meeting breaks. You can also come to the office with me, but now,

I be a burden if I go to the office, because I don't remember anything" Wayne was considerate

He's way more considerate than before!

"Then wait for me to get off work, I come straight home as soon as the meeting is over. And, Ivy and Cory won't have a conflict with you, they both like you very much" Rosalynn paused, then kissed Wayne, and I love you too."

This seemed to alleviate Wayne's separation anxiety a bit.

After getting ready, Rosalynn and Wayne had breakfast together.

By this time, Ivy and Cory had also woken up

Ivy was groggy, stumbling as she walked.

With half-closed eyes, she crawled onto Rosalynn as soon as she came out, then hung on Rosalynn like a little koala.

Rosalynn gently patted her back, "Ivy Jared, you have to take good care of daddy today

Ivy nodded, "Mom, don't worry."

Rosalynn looked at Cory, "Hilaria and Paige are coming over later, tell them in advance what you want to eat. Today, you guys can eat whatever you want!"

"Really?!" Ivy stood up excitedly, "and Molly!" she quickly added!

"Yeah, Molly might be practicing, go ask her what she wants to eat after breakfast!"

“know what Molly likes to eat!” Ivy said confidently, “And she knows what Take to eat. We’re best friends now!”

Ivy and Cory’s upbringing was quite unique

It wasn’t until they arrived in the H Country that they started school officially

There were no other kids in the community where they lived, and Ivy and Cory really wanted to have good friends.

“You guys decide!” Rosalynn said, pulling out a piece of paper, “This is what Wayne likes to eat, don’t forget.”

“Mom, can Max come?” Ivy asked.

“No, this is a hospital” Cory answered.

Ivy sighed, then said to Wayne, “Dad, then I can only introduce you to Max tomorrow. I haven’t been home for several days, Max might think I’m lost!”

Rosalynn explained to Wayne, “Max is a golden retriever you adopted for Ivy. In the video I showed you earlier, that’s the dog Ivy was rolling around with on the lawn.”

Wayne nodded, indicating that he understood.

In that video, the dog’s expression seemed a bit fierce, his tongue was hanging out, swinging back and forth, Wayne was a bit worried.

“Max was almost killed by bad guys, you saved him!” Ivy quickly said, “What Paige said is true!”

“What did Paige say?” Rosalynn asked with a smile

“Paige said, Daddy is so awesome that even the devil can’t take him away by repeated Paige’s comforting words, “Dad, you saved Max, even in the face of such danger, you still came back to us, you’re really the best!”

“My dad is the best!” she concluded proudly.

Wayne blushed.

He looked at Rosalynn, smiling.

Rosalynn looked at him, mimicking hvy's enthusiasm, nodding vigorously: "Yes, you're the best!"

Wayne seemed a bit helpless

Lola's call came right on time.

Rosalynn picked up.

"Ms. Jared, I be there in five minutes"

"Alright"

After responding. Rosalynn changed into her sharp business attire.

The moment she put on this outfit, Rosalynn's aura,became incredibly strong.

She put on her watch while giving instructions to the people at home.

"You two, don't take advantage of Daddy's love for you and bully him!" Rosalynn set the rules firmly, "Cory, when you play games with Wayne, keep track of time, no more than an hour each time and twice a day at most

Cory nodded

He initially planned to play the new game through with Wayne... but Rosalynn just had to set rules!

Guess he'll have to spread it out over a few more days.

Try, don't lose your patience when teaching Wayne to read. Don't get angry

"I'm not like that!" Ivy immediately shook her head, but when Rosalynn didn't respond, Ivy sighed, "Alright, I won't get angry."

"Great! I'm off then!"

"What about me?" Wayne asked.

She gave instructions to the two kids, but what about him?

"You?" Rosalynn paused, then started laughing. Walking over, she wrapped her arm around his neck and gave him a kiss in front of Cory and Ivy.

Cory immediately turned his head.

Ivy covered her eyes, peeking through her fingers.

“Just try not to miss me too much” Rosalynn laughed and walked away.

Felix had never seen Rosalynn in such a good mood. Every time she went to the company before, she had this “do-or-die” attitude.

“There’s something you need to have someone look into.” Stepping into the elevator, Rosalynn’s expression instantly turned serious, turning to Felix and said sternly.

At 7:50.

Rosalynn’s car arrived at Bane Corporation.

Today happened to be the end of the month. In addition to the island development project, there was also the monthly meeting. Normally, the vice president would preside over it. Since Rosalynn was there today, she would take the lead.

The meeting started at nine.

Rosalynn first went to the CEO’s office.

The meeting room was already bustling early on.

“She’s here?” A shareholder heard that Rosalynn had arrived and quickly stood up. “How many people came with her? Did President Silverman show up?”

“Just her” The messenger sat down.

Just her? So all those rumors about President Silverman coming back, are they true or not?”

“Must be false, if President Silverman returned, how could he not come to the company —

“Haven’t you heard the rumor?”

“What rumor?”

“That to prevent the Silverman family from getting a share of President Silverman’s inheritance, Rosalynn found a stand-in.....”

As the words fell, the room fell into a stunned silence.