

The Wolf's Bride by Coffee's Tea Chapter 671 -

Chapter 671

"I don't agree!"

Belarus was only stunned for two seconds, then spoke without hesitation. His kind eyes fell on Andrius. "I believe in Andrius. After this incident, he will surely feel ashamed and change for the better. He'll become even more outstanding! Isn't that right, Andrius?"

Andrius was taken aback and did not speak.

Luna said in a low voice, "Grandpa, I know you like Andrius. Back then, when you suggested that we get together, you said that we'll grow feelings for each other after spending some time together.

"However, it's been months, but we haven't developed feelings. It's clear that we're not suitable for each other. In that case, why should we force ourselves to stay together?"

Belarus was speechless at those words, but he did not nod.

Luna was determined this time. She continued to say, "Furthermore, I've been constantly learning and growing during this time, but Andrius...."

"Forgive me for being blunt, but I haven't seen any change in him.

"Take this incident for example. To reduce his punishment, I risked my life to participate in the fourth round of the competition. Haven't I done enough?"

"Andrius and I no longer owe each other, and our fate has reached its end.

"Grandpa, I'm your granddaughter. Could you put yourself in my shoes and consider my feelings this time?"

Harry and the others secretly nodded at those words.

Belarus had no way to refute her.

After a moment of silence, he looked at Luna, who had a cold and aggrieved expression, and swallowed the words that came to his mouth.

Then, he looked at Andrius.

In the end, it turned into a long sigh.

That was tantamount to agreeing!

The Crestfalls all secretly sighed in relief. Finally, they were sending away that troublemaker!

Luna then gave Andrius a long look before getting into the car. She was determined and did not hesitate at all. It was as if all her interactions with Andrius were dissipating at that very moment.

Vroom...

The roar of the engine sounded, and the exhaust fumes separated the two of them.

It was as if they were people from two different worlds from now on.

The Crestfalls left one by one.

Only Andrius, Belarus, and his driver remained.

“Andrius...” Belarus glanced at Luna and the others’ car with a wry smile. “Don’t be too disappointed. I’ll work hard on persuading Luna after going back.”

“However, you should take to heart what I said last time. Don’t mess around anymore.”

Andrius looked at the kind-looking elderly man in front of him. His appearance was aging and his hair was white, but his eyes were as earnest as ever.

Andrius could not help but sigh. In the Crestfalls, only Belarus treated him like a true grandson and showed genuine care for him.

Thus, he smiled.

“Get in the car, Andrius. Let’s go back to Sumeria.”

Belarus felt better when he saw that Andrius did not look very upset.

When Andrius returned to Dream’s Waterfront, all his clothes and daily necessities were already packed.

Luna came out with a bank card and said with a calm expression, “There’s 20 million inside. It’s enough to ensure you won’t have to worry about your livelihood for the rest of your life. The password is six sixes. Take this money. After you return to your hometown in the west, improve your life.”

At that point, Luna hesitated for a moment before continuing, “Settle down and live a good life. Don’t keep...”

She trailed off.

Andrius naturally knew what she meant. She was advising him not to be so reckless, not to philander around, not to get into fights, and so on.

However, those were never things that actually happened.

At this point, Andrius could not be bothered to argue with her. He silently took the bank card and turned around to leave.

“Don’t blame me for being heartless.” Luna paused for a moment and then said, “Andrius, you have the right to pursue happiness, and I also have the right to choose for myself.

“Our path together ends here. After we part ways, we’ll each follow our own paths. May we both find happiness and shine in our own worlds.”

After all, they were still husband and wife in name.

Even though it was not a happy parting, Luna still spoke kindly.

Follow their own paths and find their own happiness?

Andrius smiled and said, “I accept your well wishes.

The Wolf's Bride by Coffee's Tea Chapter 672 -

”

Chapter 672

“I also wish you success in your endeavors and that all your wishes will be fulfilled.”

After saying that, Andrius picked up his luggage and left with wide strides.

Success in all her endeavors and all her wishes fulfilled...

Luna was stunned.

At that moment, she could not help but think of the Wolf King.

Would her wishes really be fulfilled?

She did not know.

However, as she looked out of the window...

The setting

sun cast a long shadow over Andrius, giving him a sense of desolation and melancholy as he blended into the autumn breeze.

For a moment, a sense of loss crept into Luna's heart. She could not tell why, but it felt as if something had been carried away by the wind.

Andrius brought his stuff to Royal Gardens.

“Andrius!”

As soon as he walked in, a surprised voice came from inside.

Halle was leaning against the window in boredom when she saw Andrius come in, and she waved at him excitedly.

This girl...

Andrius shook his head and continued walking inside.

After just a few steps, Halle came down.

“Andrius, I’ve been waiting for you for so long!”

Halle jumped for joy.

If not for the fact that Andrius had his hands full with suitcases, she would have jumped on him.

Andrius ignored her and placed his belongings in his room.

“Here, I just brewed coffee.”

As soon as he sat down, Halle came over again. She held a cup of steaming coffee in her hand, looking very gentle.

Andrius was a little thirsty, so he took the cup and had a sip.

“Andrius...”

Halle was extremely satisfied when she saw Andrius drink. A blush suddenly appeared on her charming face, making her look even more alluring

“Do you know how long I’ve liked you?”

“Since the race, when you transformed from being ordinary into someone extraordinary, I knew that you were different from ordinary men.

“Sure enough, you repeatedly amazed me one thing after another. I’ve never met a man as exceptional or even half as exceptional as you.”

Halle smiled. “Then, you helped me get rid of that disgusting person and dealt with my ex-boyfriend.

“During the dinner, you single-handedly thwarted Cyclops’ plan and saved Sumeria from danger. It was only then that I learned your true identity—the Wolf King.

“The Wolf King...” Halle muttered to herself, her beautiful eyes shimmering with boundless radiance. Her gaze was filled with admiration, infatuation, and endless adoration.

Meanwhile, Andrius froze with the coffee still in his mouth.

This girl had really been coveting him for a long time, and now she had an opportunity...

Andrius did not know what to say.

"I love you."

This time, Halle stood up straight and stared into Andrius' eyes without hiding. Her gaze was filled with determination.

"Don't say anything yet." She reached out to cover his mouth, then continued to say, "I know very well that it's you that I love. It's not the Wolf King or your physical appearance.

"I love you, Andrius Moonshade!

"You don't know how much I keep chasing after you, thinking about you every day.

"I keep chasing after the time we spent together in the past. I chase after how heroic you look on the battlefield and the warmth of your body when you shield me from harm.

"I think about all the moments we shared together.

"In the quiet of every night, in the dawn of every sunrise, in the wind and the rain, in the blazing sun and the bright moonlight..."

Andrius could not take it anymore. If this continued, his will would waver.

Thus, he was about to speak up to interrupt her words.

However, she anticipated it and pressed her hand over his mouth again.

"I'm telling you all this today to make you understand my feelings. Andrius, marry me!" Halle said boldly, "I want to be one with you and be husband and wife. I want us to walk together for the rest of our lives and never be separated!"

The Wolf's Bride by Coffee's Tea Chapter 673 -

Chapter 673

Andrius was forced to listen to the long confession. It would be a lie to say that his heart was not moved.

However, he knew his own situation, so he sighed and shook his head, saying , "Halle, I've told you more than once before. My situation is very complicated right now.

"Getting close to me won't bring you happiness and joy. Getting close to me only means danger, conspiracies, and plots, so stop having any thoughts about me."

Halle continued to look at him firmly and said in determination, "I've made up my mind, Andrius! I'm not afraid of difficulties. Whether it's crossing mountains of knives or seas of fire, I'll face it all together with you!"

Andrius felt embarrassed at how brave Halle was when it came to love.

That was because he knew very well that he could not promise her anything, especially when he was still burdened with taking revenge for his clansmen...

His restless heart immediately calmed down.

He started to think about how to refuse.

Halle knew his character. He would not make a proactive move but may accept passively.

Thus, a sly look flashed in her bright eyes as she approached him. "Andrius, don't try to come up with baseless excuses to brush me off. Every word I just said came from the bottom of my heart. If you don't believe me, you can feel for yourself. My heart only beats for you!"

As she spoke, she grabbed Andrius' hand and pulled it toward her heart.

Andrius was startled by Halle's action.

No!

Just as he was about to pull away, Halle pressed herself closer.

Ring, ring, ring...

His phone rang at that crucial moment.

Halle was also startled by the sound and quickly pulled her hand back. She remembered her boldness and could not help but blush, making her look particularly charming in the sun set glow.

The person who was calling was Sonia. "Mr. Moonshade, there are some important documents in Celestial Enterprise that require your personal signature. Can you come over?"

"Yep, sure! I'll be right there!"

Andrius was thinking about how to escape, so Sonia's call came at just the right time. He hung up phone.

the

"Uh... I have to go to the office. Bye."

Andrius was ready to escape this dangerous place.

"Andrius!"

When he reached the doorway, Halle's gentle voice sounded from behind. "Move forward boldly. No matter what you encounter, you can just turn around when you get tired. I'll always be behind you."

Andrius' body suddenly trembled, and a warm current swirled in his heart

Chap 673

He remembered that every time he came to Royal Gardens, as long as Halle was here, she would always wait for him. Even if it was in the middle of the night, she would have a late-night snack ready.

She was like a virtuous wife, waiting for her husband's return from battle without any complaints or regrets.

However...

Andrius understood that given his current situation, he had no way of getting close to a woman, let alone make any promises and provide her with a home.

Otherwise, he would only harm her.

Thus, he only paused for a while before leaving.

"Andrius..."

Halle chased after him and watched him ride away on a scooter. She felt a trace of serenity in her heart.

In her eyes, Andrius was not rejecting her. He just had his own difficulties.

"It's okay... I'll wait for you. I'll wait however long it takes..."

The girl's murmur blended into the wind and dissipated into the air.

In Celestial Enterprise, Sonia's eyes lit up when she saw Andrius.

"Mr. Moonshade, you're here!"

Subconsciously, the corners of her lips curled up.

"Mm." Andrius nodded and got straight to the point. "Let me take a look at those documents first."

"Okay."

Sonia did not waste words either. She brought the documents over and then withdrew.

Andrius skimmed over them and signed his name when he did not find any issues.

After a while, Sonia knocked on the door and came in. “Mr. Moonshade, Ms. Crestfall is here. She waits to see you...”

“Turn her away.” Andrius refused directly without looking up. He knew exactly what she wanted without having to think about it.

“Um...” Sonia hesitated for a moment before agreeing “Okay.”

Then, she gracefully left the room.

The Wolf’s Bride by Coffee’s Tea Chapter 674 -

Chap 67

Chapter 674

Andrius continued to sign the documents.

Before long, Sonia returned.

“Mr. Moonshade, Ms. Crestfall has left.”

Andrius hummed and did not say much more.

Sonia hesitated a few times before finally speaking up. “Mr. Moonshade, there was a glow in Ms. Crestfall’s eyes when she came. Are you really so heartless to reject her like this? Are you sure you won’t see her?”

Earlier, she learned about Andrius and Luna’s divorce. At that moment, she could not help but feel a bit sympathetic toward Luna. They had only been married for several months.

Andrius knew everything about Luna, but Luna did not know anything about Andrius. He even kept his identity as the Wolf King a secret.

Now, she came full of joy and starry-eyed but was met with ruthless rejection. If she knew the truth, tears would surely flow down her face.

“I won’t see her,” Andrius refused resolutely..

Halle’s confession already shook his heart.

What was Luna compared to that?

Moreover, he had a feeling that his relationship with Registus might completely fall out soon. When that happened, anyone close to him would be a hindrance and get involved. That was definitely not something he wanted to see.

Andrius signed the last document and stood up. “Alright. You can make your own decisions about less important matters in the future. I’m leaving.”

After saying that, he left Celestial Enterprise.

Sonia watched Andrius’ resolute figure, and her thoughts also drifted away.

Although she and he were separated by a thin layer that had not been broken through, compared to Luna, at least she could stand behind him and silently watch him.

Andrius went straight to the garage after leaving Celestial Enterprise.

“Andy! Come come come, let’s celebrate being single again!”

Noir had already prepared food and drinks. When he saw Andrius approaching, he raised his glass excitedly and almost burst into song.

Glug Glug Glug...

Andrius downed three cups in quick succession and glared at Noir. “Don’t celebrate yet. Help me think about how to solve a problem.”

“Problem?” Noir’s hand froze in place as he asked in confusion, “You’re free now, Andy. What problems could you possibly have?”

Andrius said with a dark expression, “Halle confessed to me. Luna is also planning to boldly pursue the Wolf King. The way Sonia looks at me is also strange

If they added Anna to the mix...

Chappct

He was practically surrounded on all sides!

“Tsk, tsk, tsk...” Noir’s gaze turned envious at those words. “Andy, just pick w hoever you find pleasing and take her in!

“I heard from the married soldiers that it feels amazing to hold their own wife at night. Don’t you want to give it a try?”

Andrius wanted nothing more than to stuff rancid socks into Noir’s mouth. “Oh, shut up. How can I be thinking about such things in my current situation? Hurr y up and think of a solution.”

Noir saw that Andrius was a little angry. He grinned and scratched his head, s aying, “I don’t know about this stuff, Andy. You’re just making things hard for me.

That was true. Noir was a complete airhead. Otherwise, he would not still be s ingle.

“However...” Noir suddenly leaned in and said mysteriously, “Andy, I know so meone who can definitely help you with your current troubles.”

Andrius asked, “Who?”

Noir replied, “The Southern Warzone Master, Dax Wimbleton!”

Dax?

Andrius looked at Noir and said skeptically, “Isn’t that guy as straightforward as can be? You think he can help me with my troubles?”

Noir rubbed his nose and chuckled. “There’s something you don’t know. Ever since you subdued the Hawkeye Group, I’ve gotten a lot of private information
. Among them are the private hobbies of many top figures in Florence. Dax is no exception.”

Well.

Andrius looked at Noir in surprise. He felt slightly eager when he saw Noir raising his brows and grinning mischievously.

“Wait here a moment.”

Then, Noir entered the house.

Not long after, he came out holding a stack of documents.

“Everything is written here, Andy. Just take a look and you’ll understand.”

There was a mischievous smile on Noir’s face as he spread the documents on the table in front of Andrius.

Andrius saw how earnest Noir looked and read the documents seriously.

As he read...

He did not expect Dax to be such a character. It completely shattered Andrius’ image of him, making him unable to help but marvel.

Dax really was an expert!

In summary, he could be described as a modern-day Casanova!

The Wolf’s Bride by Coffee’s Tea Chapter 675 -

Chapter 675

“What do you think, Andy?” Noir grinned.

“I think it’ll work.”

Andrius immediately called Dax.

Since that guy had a specialty, he had to make the most of it and not let the opportunity slip by.

“Wolf King...”

On the other end of the call, Dax's expression immediately turned bitter when he saw that it was Andrius calling. He asked impatiently, "What do you want? Can't you let me enjoy some peace and quiet?"

Andrius grinned and said, "Dax, are you that unhappy getting a call from me?"

Dax paused and said, "I'm busy now. Get to the point."

"The point is, I want to thank you for your help during this time and for cleaning up my messes. I've decided to treat you to a meal, so hurry up and come to Sumeria."

For some reason, Andrius' frustration dissipated a lot when he heard the guy's tone.

Dax was speechless. "I'm in the neighboring province now dealing with a very tricky matter. I won't join the dinner. If you really want to thank me, then stop pestering me for favors all the time in the future."

What was he saying?

It was like he was complaining about doing free labor.

Andrius said with a vague smile, "I'll be waiting for you at Sumeria. Whether or not you come is up to you."

After saying that, he hung up the phone.

"Will he come, Andy?" Noir leaned in to ask.

"Would you come if you were him?"

"Uh..." Noir nodded without hesitation. "Of course. It's an invitation from the Wolf King. Who would dare not to come?"

Two hours later, in a certain bar, Dax arrived, out of breath. He found Andrius in a small private room, thoroughly enjoying himself.

He gasped for breath and had a frustrated expression on his face. "Wolf King, why exactly did you call me all the way here?"

“Come, sit.” Andrius grinned.

After Dax sat down, he said calmly, “I want you to give me some advice. How do I reject women and have them stop pestering me?”

Day’s eyeballs almost popped out at those words. He stared straight at Andrius and stood up. “You made me travel a thousand miles just for that?”

“What do you mean just for that?” Andrius said unhappily, “This matter isn’t just related to me, but also to the pure-hearted young women of Florence. How can you call it just for that?”

“Argh” Dax immediately exploded with anger and nearly spewed out blood. He roared, “Andrius Moonshade, I’m going to teach you a lesson today!”

“Ahem...” Andrius pretended not to hear and laughed playfully, pouring a glass of wine and handing it over. “My dear Mr. Wimbleton, my dear Warzone Master, calm down!”

“You know that I’m not good with words, and I’m reserved by nature. I have no experience at all dealing with things like this, so I wanted to seek advice from you.

“For the physical and mental health of the young ladies in Florence, for the bright future of the Wolf King, and for the peace and stability of your Southern Warzone, I hope that you can offer me some guidance.”

Dax’s expression improved somewhat.

He sat down and down three glasses at once, then said solemnly, “You really got the wrong person for this, Andrius.

“Who in Florence doesn’t know how I am? I have face blindness and don’t know if girls are pretty or not, let alone what’s going on in their hearts, so you should ask someone else for advice.”

After saying that, he continued to drink as if nothing happened.

Andrius looked at him with a vague smile and said, “Dax, tell me honestly, were you trying not to laugh when you were saying that?”

Dax looked confused. “What do you mean?”

“Oh, keep acting.” Andrius laughed and said teasingly, “Could it be that the title of Time Management Master I saw was fake?”

“What Time Management Master?” A trace of panic flashed in Dax’s eyes, and he said sternly, “Andrius, although you’re the Wolf King, you can’t just spew nonsense. This is slander! I’ll sue you for slander! You’re slandering the reputation of the Southern Warzone Master!”

Andrius did not say much when Dax refused to admit it.

Instead...

Smack!

He dropped a stack of documents in front of Dax.

He clicked his tongue, flipping through the pages of illustrious achievements, and criticized, “You started getting around the moment you reached 18, and you even almost got it on with your high school teacher. “Since then, you opened the door to a new world that couldn’t be contained