

The Wolf's Bride by Coffee's Tea Chapter 688

Chapter 688

The steak tilted to the side and revealed the truth.

Every slice was flawless and had the same thickness!

It was as if it was sliced by a machine!

Seeing this scene, Philip turned pale as if his throat was blocked by a wad of chewing gum. His expression was extremely ugly.

Andrius had just given him a lesson.

When it came to cutting steak, he was the clown!

Andrius spoke with endless disdain, "It's not that I don't know how to cut steak. I just can't be bothered to cut it like a lady and dawdle. Real men eat and drink with their mouths open wide!

"Are you lacking in strength that you have to follow that set of actions that are only good for showing off but are impractical...."

"Can you even get it up, you wimp?"

Wimp!

Andrius called him a wimp!

Philip nearly choked, and his chest felt like there was a huge stone pressing on it.

He would not care if someone called him ugly, because he knew he was not. They were probably just jealous of him.

However, when someone called him a wimp...

}

Philip took offense to that because he really was a wimp!

For a moment, he panted heavily, and his eyes emitted a sinister light. He wanted to swallow Andrius whole.

However, Emmy was still there!

He could not lose his composure now.

Philip held back his anger, forced a smile, and said, "Mr. Moonshade's knife skills are indeed unparalleled. It's very admirable."

After this scene, Philip fell quiet.

Emmy and Andrius were not affected and continued eating heartily, soon burping from the fullness.

"Well, we've eaten and drunk our fill. We'll get going now."

Emmy held onto Andrius' arm and got ready to leave.

Philip escorted them to the door. "See you again, Emmy!"

"See you never!"

Then, Emmy swaggered away with Andrius.

Crack!

Crack, crack.

2/2

Philip gnashed his teeth and glared at their backs. He clenched his fists so hard that veins bulged from the back of his hands, and his expression turned gloomy.

"Ford."

"I'm here, Young Master!"

Philip narrowed his eyes and ordered, "Gather some people and make arrangements. Since Emmy doesn't know what's good for her, we'll just take her back to Kiyoto by force.

"When we're at Kiyoto, I won't be the only one watching her. Her father will keep an eye on her too.

"By then, we'll finish the wedding ceremony and do what has to be done. She has no choice in this matter!"

A cold glint flashed on Philip's face.

"Also, look into Andrius Moonshade and find out who he is."

He was a young master from Kiyoto, but he was humiliated by a bumpkin from the mountains in Sumeria

He could not swallow this anger!

"Yes, I'll handle it right away!"

Ford immediately left the hotel to carry out the order.

After leaving Faerie Hotel, Emmy showed no intention of letting go of Andrius' arm. They walked toward the underground parking lot.

"Thanks, Mister. Your performance today was really impressive!" Emmy smiled cheerfully at the memory of Philip's expression and said, "Philip always acts pretentiously. It's annoying just to look at him.

"This is my first time seeing him so humiliated. I'm so happy!"

Andrius smiled and said nothing.

Elegance...

Even those self-proclaimed nobles and ministers from Arbral had to retract their arrogance and show proper behavior before him. They did not dare to be impolite in the slightest.

However, someone like Philip dared to act pretentiously in front of him. It was naturally satisfying to teach him a lesson.

"Mister, where are you going next? I can give you a ride.

They arrived at a pink Porsche. Emmy took out the car keys and pressed a button, causing the car's lights to illuminate with two beeps.

"Noir's Garage."

In Sumeria, Andrius did not have many places to go besides the Royal Gardens.

"Okay"

Then, the two got into the car.

Unbeknownst to them, a group of people appeared behind them as they got in the car.

"Luna, look. Isn't that guy Andrius?" Roxy pointed at Andrius' back.

"Yes, it really is him." 1

Luna looked closer and recognized him immediately.