Chapter 1391

Zachary heard Jasmine shout from the other side of the phone. He also kept calling, "Seren, Seren!"

Elisa picked up Serenity's phone and yelled at Zachary, "Zachary, what did you say to Serenity? What did you say happened to Liberty?"

"Elisa, send Serenity back first. Liberty is injured and is being treated at the hospital. Let's talk about the rest when you're back."

"How is Liberty doing?"

Elisa's face changed as well.

She knew Serenity was only so frightened because something happened to Liberty, but she did not know what exactly happened to Liberty.

After hearing what Zachary said, Elisa was feeling nervous and afraid too.

The Hunt sisters were her mom's favorites.

If something were to happen to Liberty, who knew how sad Elisa's mom would be?

"I don't know either. She was stabbed a few times and is still being rescued. We're already at the hospital. Elisa, send Seren back with Ms. Sox now. Drive safe."

Zachary wished he could fly over to pick up his wife.

However, he could not go away at this moment.

Liberty needed a family member to be present. In case she needed to be transferred to another hospital, Zachary could make a prompt decision.

He dared not leave her to Hank.

"Alright, I got it. We'll go back immediately. Find the best doctor for Liberty. She must be saved no matter how much it costs!"

Zachary would do his best to save Liberty regardless of Elisa's reminder.

After the call ended, Serenity woke up unhurriedly and instantly climbed into the driver's seat to drive.

Jasmine and Elisa stopped her from doing so.

If they let her drive, something serious would happen.

“Liberty!”

Serenity could not touch the steering wheel. She pounded the seat and cried.

She was going to lose her sister!

Serenity only had her sister left. Why did God want to take her sister away as well?!

Her parents were robbed of her, and now, it was going to be her sister!

God was unfair!

“Seren, stop bawling and sit still. We’ll go back right away. Liberty is still alive, so why are you crying? She’s injured but is still being treated. She won’t die, so sit still, and we’ll head back.”

When Serenity heard that her sister was still alive, she grabbed Elisa’s shoulders and shook her.” Elisa, let’s go let’s go back now!”

Elisa and Jasmine helped seat Serenity.

“Sit still and don’t go crazy. I’ll drive,” Elisa ordered Serenity.

Serenity nodded vigorously.

More people had come to wait at the hospital.

After Duncan arrived, he could not help but grab Zachary’s collar and asked angrily, “You arranged for so many people to keep an eye on them. How did they let Liberty get hurt? How is she doing now?”

When he heard that Liberty was stabbed several times and was sent to the hospital to be saved with her life shrouded in uncertainty, it was heart-wrenching.

At this moment, he realized that his feelings for Liberty were different.

He liked Sonny, but he also cared about Liberty.

Duncan was terrified-he was scared to death!

He never panicked and was not afraid when he was injured and hospitalized back then.

Now that Liberty was injured, he was frightened and freaking out.

He was afraid that she would not wake up.

Zachary did not say anything.

Josh pulled Duncan away and said, "Why are you blaming Zachary? He doesn't want Liberty to get hurt more than you do. That's his sister-in-law's life! We've all sent people to secretly protect Liberty. This can't be blamed on Zachary alone."

None of them wanted Liberty to get hurt.

When Liberty and Sonny left with Hank and Jessica, the men who were secretly protecting them followed them every step of the way.

Chapter 1392

When Sonny was snatched, even if Liberty and Hank did not go after him, the men who were secretly protecting them could also save him. They had long set up a trap and were ready to catch the kidnappers.

Only, they neglected a mother's determination to protect her child.

Mothers were willing to sacrifice themselves for their children.

A mother who saw her child being abducted would definitely run after the child.

The men who were protecting Liberty and Sonny thought of that but did not expect Liberty to be able to keep up with the kidnappers. Her physical strength was amazing.

She refused to give up no matter what.

Even when she was kicked hard and stabbed by the bad guys, she did not let go.

Only when she saw the Yorks' bodyguards did she know it was safe and was willing to let go. In the end, she was seriously injured while Sonny was unharmed.

Duncan turned around and punched the wall.

Yes, he too had sent people to protect Liberty and her son.

Despite that, Liberty was still hurt.

Duncan failed to protect her well!

At this time, Clive and Mrs. Stone arrived.

“Zachary, how’s Liberty doing? Have you told Serenity about this?” Clive asked.

Mrs. Stone was so scared that she clutched her husband’s hand. She was afraid that her niece, whom she had only recently reunited with, would leave with her sister.

She had searched for her sister for decades but when there was finally news about her, it turned out that her sister had passed away more than a decade ago. Luckily, she still had two nieces to console her.

Now, if even her niece was...

“She’s still inside and hasn’t come out yet, so I don’t know about her situation. I’ve told Serenity, and she’s on her way back.”

Clive hummed.

Afterward, he comforted his mom.

Jessica had also quietly come and was keeping Hank and his son company. Her face was pale white.

Sirens sounded endlessly at that time, so she knew many police had arrived.

She also found out that Zachary had arranged for people to secretly protect Liberty and her son all this while.

Since Jessica helped the bad guys snatch Sonny away... She had probably been watched for a long time too. Zachary was waiting to collect evidence and catch those people in one go.

Perhaps Liberty getting hurt was an accident to Zachary and the others.

Hank told his parents about what happened.

They were almost scared to death when they heard that their grandson was almost kidnapped again. They were only relieved after knowing that he was fine. When they heard that Liberty got injured from protecting Sonny and was being treated, they came to the hospital as well.

Hank advised his parents to wait at home, but they were not willing to do so.

Not long after Serenity, Jasmine, and Elisa arrived at the hospital, the door of the emergency room was opened.

“Doctor, how’s my sister doing?”

Serenity jumped over and grabbed the doctor’s sleeves. She asked anxiously.

Zachary held her.

He was afraid that she might faint.

The doctor responded, “The patient’s vital parts weren’t stabbed, but her internal organs were injured, and she lost too much blood, which endangered her life. We operated on her, but she needs to be transferred to the ICU now and monitored for a few days.

“If she pulls through these few days, she’ll be fine.”

Surviving the next few days would mean that Liberty had truly passed the critical period and would be able to live.

“Doctor, you must save my sister-you must!”

The doctor said, “We’ve done everything we could. Now, it’s up to the patient to get through it.

“The stab wounds weren’t fatal, but what’s keeping her teetering on the edge of life and death are her internal injuries.”

Serenity’s legs went weak.

Zachary held her and comforted her, “She’ll be fine-she’ll definitely be fine.”

“Zachary!”

Serenity turned around and buried herself in his arms. She cried in pain.

“I’m so scared-I’m scared that she’ll... I’m only left with her... My parents are gone, so she’s the only person I have left. If even she is... Zachary, I’m scared-I’m really scared.”

Chapter 1393

Serenity's words brought Mrs. Stone to tears as well.

She thought of herself back then when she and her sister were sent to the orphanage, there were two of them.

However, when she finally had news of her sister, she became the only one left. She did not even see her only sister one last time.

Zachary hugged Serenity tightly, giving her support and comfort.

"Seren, Liberty will be fine. She'll wake up soon. It'll be alright.

"Don't worry. We still have to help her take care of Sonny. He's terrified."

Serenity was so scared that she could not stop crying. Zachary's reassurance did not work at all but once he mentioned Sonny, her cries became softer.

Yes, she still needed to help her sister take care of Sonny.

After crying for a while, Serenity adjusted her emotions and took the tissue given to her by Zachary to wipe her tears. She then left his embrace and walked toward Sonny, who had been held by Hank.

"Aunt Ser."

Sonny stretched out his hands toward Serenity.

Serenity picked him up and carried him.

"Serenity, I'm sorry."

Hank apologized guiltily. It was his fault. He did not carry Sonny and wanted to pull him over from Liberty.

He would blame himself for the rest of his life if anything happened to Liberty and if Sonny was taken away.

Serenity carried her nephew and turned around to return to Zachary's side. She did not want to respond to Hank.

Hank blamed himself.

Mrs. Brown wanted to say something but was held back by Mr. Brown.

Anything they were to say at this time would be wrong.

Serenity must have hated their son.

Jessica was even more afraid. She tried hard to be invisible.

“Aunt Ser, is Mom going to die?” Sonny asked in fear.

The thought of his mom covered in blood scared him.

Serenity pressed her nephew’s head into her arms and hugged his still-shivering body tightly. She answered firmly in a hoarse voice, “No, your mom will live a long life. She’s not going to die. She loves you so much, Sonny. She’ll watch you go to school and grow up. She won’t leave you behind.”

“Aunt Ser, I’m so scared.”

“Don’t be scared. I’m here, so don’t be scared. We’re not scared. Your mom will be fine—she’ll be fine.”

Sonny lifted his little face. His eyes were red and swollen, his face full of tear stains, and he looked extremely pale with dried blood stains on his face.

Serenity looked down at her nephew and she felt her heart break again. She pressed Sonny’s head against her arms once more and hugged him tightly while he hugged her neck.

The door to the emergency room opened again.

Liberty was pushed out.

Serenity rushed over with her nephew in her arms.

Even so, the nurses blocked her away. They pushed Liberty away and said, “Family members, don’t block the way. The patient has to be transferred to the ICU first.”

Zachary quickly pulled Serenity out of the way.

Afterward, they went to the ICU together, but the medical staff disallowed family members from following them inside.

Serenity saw her sister lying motionless on the hospital bed with a pale face. Her tears could not help but fall again.

A small hand gently wiped her tears. Sonny said to her, "Aunt Ser, don't cry. Mom will be fine."

Despite that, his face was already covered in tears.

He knew his mom bled a lot because of him.

"Mm, I won't cry. Dust got into my eyes."

Serenity freed one of her hands to wipe away her tears.

Chapter 1394

Liberty was in the ICU and did not need to be taken care of by family members, who were only allowed to visit inside for a while every day.

Although Serenity could not watch over her sister in the ward, she refused to leave the hospital and insisted on waiting outside for her sister to wake up.

Her sister would definitely wake up.

Police came to the hospital.

Everyone watched as several police officers walked over.

"Which one of you is Jessica Yates?" asked the policeman in the lead.

Everyone looked at Jessica.

Jessica answered with fear, "I am."

After saying something, that policeman immediately let two policewomen go forward to take her away.

"Officer."

Hank hurriedly blocked their way. His parents followed behind him.

They all looked at the police officers.

“Officer, may I ask what crime my wife has committed? Why are you taking her away?” Hank questioned.

“We suspect that Jessica Yates is involved in this child abduction, so we need to take her back for the investigation. Please cooperate with us.”

Jessica’s face was ashen right away. Her legs went weak, and she could not even stand up. If not for the two policewomen supporting her, she could have collapsed to the ground.

She could not believe it.

It had only been a few hours since the incident, but the police had come to arrest her already. Were all the people sent by that unknown woman captured? Did they sell her out?

When the incident happened, Jessica saw that many individuals from the other party helped stop Liberty from chasing the man who ran with Sonny in his arms. Though a group of people helped Liberty and the two groups fought, causing the scene to be more chaotic.

There were also a few people who desperately tried to chase after Liberty.

Jessica heard clearly when those people called Liberty “Ms. Hunt”.

Those were not the bad guys, but people who were helping Liberty. If Jessica guessed it right, they were sent by Mr. York.

Jessica was hit with the sudden realization that time-Mr. York had been arranging for people to secretly follow Liberty and her son.

Liberty was Sonny’s biological mother. A woman’s true potential could be seen when something happened to her child.

The Yorks’ bodyguards were all trained, so they were definitely not slow at running.

Even so, they could not catch up to Liberty. Perhaps it was also because killers were charging out along the way to stop them.

The Yorks’ bodyguards and Duncans’ men were only a few minutes late to catch up to Liberty. In the end, she was already stabbed a few times...

Jessica thought this incident would be the same as the zoo incident, where there would be no outcome to the investigation.

Chelsea had complained many times about how the police had not solved the case and caught the bad guys who tried to abduct the kids.

Jessica received the news and was asked not to make a move for a while. She thought the other party would only act again after at least a few months. Who knew, she was deliberately urged these two days to bring Sonny out again.

“Officer, you must be mistaken. My wife... How can she be a suspect in this incident? S-she was always with us, and she doesn’t have the ability to do that.”

Hank suspected that the police had made a mistake.

The policeman said seriously, “We have evidence. We’ll never wrongly accuse anyone.”

Hank wanted to say something else but was pulled away by his parents.

“Hank, didn’t you see your wife’s reaction? Her face was pale, and her legs were weak. That’s the sign of fear after something comes to light,” Mrs. Brown noted.

After saying that, she came to her senses and quickly swooshed in front of Jessica. She raised her hand and slapped Jessica twice.

If not for one of the officers stopping her, she would have continued.

“B*tch, it was you indeed. How dare you collude with the kidnappers to kidnap my grandson?! You spiteful woman! Witch! Don’t stop me, I’ll rip her apart!”

Chapter 1395

“Jessica wants to cut off our family line! She wants to get Sonny and Liberty killed! This wicked woman! You b*tch!”

Mrs. Brown cursed at the top of her lungs.

If this incident was caused by Jessica, then the past accident when their family went to the zoo was not an accident, but a scheming plan by her.

How could this woman be so malicious?!

She wanted to abduct both of her grandsons.

When Serenity heard that Jessica was involved in the incident, she shoved Sonny into Zachary's arms and wanted to beat Jessica up.

"Seren."

Zachary tugged at Serenity and reminded her, "She'll be punished by law. Don't do this."

The police had come, so they did not need to be the ones to teach Jessica a lesson.

Julian had collected evidence, so Jessica would not be able to get away.

She would be jailed for a few years at least.

If the men of Mrs. Newman's godfather were captured, all of them had prior criminal records and would be dealt heavier sentences.

That was because they were directly involved.

Of course, Mrs. Newman could not escape too.

In fact, the police had split into two groups. Some of them came to the hospital to take Jessica under investigation while the rest went to the Newmans' villa.

With the help of Zachary, Josh, and Duncan's people, none of Mrs. Newman's men could escape this time. All of them were captured.

In order to take Sonny away, Mrs. Newman acted desperately. She mobilized hundreds of people to help her complete this conspiracy without discussing it with her husband. Nonetheless, more than hundreds of people were truly involved in the plan with many gangsters being hired.

Camryn had said this before. Mrs. Newman would resort to drastic measures if she was impatient.

Of course, Mr. Newman would probably vomit blood if he found out.

He would scold his wife for being too hasty.

Carrie was imprisoned because she was too impulsive.

Who knew, Mrs. Newman bore the same impulse as her daughter. On top of going to be imprisoned, she had cost them many men in the process. This was the most heartbreaking thing for Mr. Newman.

Serenity did not go forward to bash Jessica up because her husband stopped her.

At last, Jessica was taken away by the police.

She was in fact carried away because she was too weak to walk anymore.

As an educated person, she knew what awaited her now that she was arrested.

“I was forced to do it...”

Jessica turned her head and shouted at her husband with all her might.

She was coerced indeed.

If she did not do that, those people would kill her family.

Was she supposed to watch her family get killed for the sake of Sonny?

Jessica did not dare report it to the police, afraid that her family would still be killed if she did. She knew that she and her family had always been monitored. She had never met the people who were watching them, but she knew they were being watched.

That unknown woman was powerful.

“It was because of Serenity...” said Jessica powerlessly.

It was all because of Serenity.

Chapter 1396

It was Serenity who offended the unknown woman. The woman wanted to take revenge on her, so she found Jessica and forced her to use Sonny.

That woman said that even if Sonny was in her possession, as long as he behaved well and did not cry or cause trouble, she would not do anything to him. As long as Serenity went to see her, he would return safely.

Sonny would not lose a single hair.

How could Jessica know that Liberty would get hurt because of Sonny?

Sonny was going to be fine no matter what.

Hank stood in place and muttered, "How could it be Jessica? How could it be Jessica...? How could it be?"

"Hank!"

Mr. Brown shouted fiercely and slapped Hank all of a sudden. The slap was as loud as it could be.

Everyone watched, but no one stopped him.

"It was you-it was you who brought that spiteful woman into our family. She broke your marriage and caused havoc in our family. Sonny's custody was given to Liberty, and yet she did such a malicious thing to him. That vicious woman... It was you-you were blind!"

Mr. Brown pointed at his son and cursed at him.

Hank did not dare speak even after being slapped by his dad. He covered his beaten face and could not look at his parents.

He did not know it would come to this-even he could not imagine Jessica plotting something. against Sonny.

Sonny was given to Liberty. If they did not go to see him, Sonny and Liberty would definitely not appear in front of them and their lives would not be affected at all.

Why would Jessica do this?

Was she afraid that Hank would rekindle his feelings for Liberty because of Sonny and would ask for a remarriage?

She underestimated Liberty.

Since Liberty divorced Hank, there was no way she would go back to him..

Not to mention Liberty's life was getting better while Hank's was getting worse. Even if it were the other way round, given her temperament, she would not look back and disturb his life.

A smart person would not return to the life that had been given up.

Liberty was that person. She would rather be a single mom for the rest of her life than return to a terrible man like Hank.

"I told you not to marry her as she's not as good as Liberty. You didn't listen and insisted that you were truly in love. Pfft, you used to say that about you and Liberty too!"

Mrs. Brown scolded her son, "What about now? Look what Jessica did. She quarrels with me and fights with your sister every day. She even said that we joined hands to bully her, but it was she who has been bullying us. She relies on your love for her and disregards us.

"Hank Brown, are you satisfied now? Are you?!"

After scolding her son, Mrs. Brown pushed her husband and scolded him instead, "I stopped you from transferring the money to Liberty and told you not to let them divorce. Neither you nor Hank listened to me. Now, you're blaming your son for it!"

Mr. Brown pushed Mrs. Brown back in anger and said, "The worst was you and that great daughter of yours. If not for you talking so much, liking to pick fights, and sowing discord between Hank and Liberty, would this have happened?"

"How much better do you think you are? Have you ever said anything? Have you ever made a sound?"

Mrs. Brown knew she was wrong-so wrong.

She made Liberty, who used to be a good daughter-in-law, leave her son. As a result, her son married Jessica, a troublemaker and spendthrift who stirred their family into a tempest.

It was fine if that was it, but that evil woman wanted to harm Lucas and Sonny.

Chelsea was loose-tongued, but as their aunt, how could Jessica be so ruthless as to collude with the kidnapers to kidnap Lucas?

Did she do that to get back at Chelsea?

After Liberty divorced Hank, she never clung to him. If Hank and Jessica did not always pester her, she might not have wanted to see them at all. She did not affect Hank's new life whatsoever, and yet Jessica wanted to harm Sonny.

Mrs. Brown recalled how she kept asking her son to divorce Jessica and remarry Liberty. She even said that Liberty was capable enough to earn money and successfully slimmed down to how she looked pre-marriage. If she and Hank remarried, Hank would benefit a lot from it.

Did Jessica become resentful because of that and targeted Sonny as a result?

Chapter 1397

After a long time, Mrs. Brown approached Serenity.

She looked at Sonny, who was being carried by Serenity, and reached out to touch him but retracted her hand halfway. She said to Serenity with guilt, "Serenity. I'm sorry. It's our family's misfortune to have taken in a wicked woman and harmed your sister."

Serenity looked coldly at Mrs. Brown.

When the police took Jessica away, Serenity did not know what exactly happened but she had her guesses.

"My sister divorced Hank and started her new life. Sonny has also been well taken care of by her. Please stay away from her in the future. She has never thought of remarrying Hank.

"Jessica is detestable, but so are you guys!"

Mrs. Brown lowered her head in shame.

Yes, they were equally detestable.

Mrs. Brown saw Liberty and Serenity reunite with their rich aunt and learned that Serenity became the Yorks' missus. She desperately wanted to break up Hank and Jessica, hoping that he could remarry Liberty. As a result, Jessica developed hatred and wanted to take it out on Sonny.

"I don't want to see you. Please leave now."

When the police only took Jessica away, Serenity knew the Browns had nothing to do with this matter. Sonny was their grandson, after all. It was true that Mrs. Brown favored her daughter's son more, but she also cared about the only grandson bearing her family name; she would never collude with the bad guys to take Sonny away.

Despite the Browns having nothing to do with this, Serenity did not want to see them.

"Serenity, I know whatever we say now is useless, but we truly care about your sister. When she wakes up, I dare not ask to come to see her, but I hope you can send us a message to let us know that she's safe and well."

Serenity tensed up and did not say anything.

After apologizing again, Mrs. Brown turned around and walked over to her husband to leave with him. Hank did not want to go but was dragged away by his parents, so he left with them.

Once the Browns left, Serenity asked Zachary, "Did Jessica do this?"

"She was just a pawn. The police have probably gone to the mastermind's house to take her away for investigation. Josh has submitted all the evidence and information on all those people to the police."

In the beginning, Josh only let Zachary take a quick look at the evidence and did not let him take them away. He was ready to hand them over to the police, but it was also for the sake of their safety

In Josh's words, those people were good at counter-investigation. Zachary's status in Wiltspoon was fearsome, but those people were not afraid of him.

If Zachary possessed the evidence that could crush them, nobody knew if he would be able to live to see tomorrow.

On the other hand, the Buchams were different.

The Buchams had a low profile, but their network was shocking. Nobody dared to thoughtlessly lay their hands on the Buchams because countless big families might retaliate against them. Besides, the Buchams were known for finding information and had a powerful intelligence network. Nobody would know if those pieces of evidence were in Josh's possession.

"Seren, I'll tell you more about it later. You should go home to rest first."

Many people were coming and going, so it was not the right time to talk about the details.

"I'm not going home; I'm going to wait here for my sister to wake up."

Even though Liberty did not need family care, Serenity did not want to leave.

"Seren, Liberty is in the ICU now and doesn't need our care, so let's go home first. You need to rest well to be able to take good care of Sonny. You have to take care of your sister too once she wakes up."

Zachary wanted to persuade his wife to go home to rest.

"I don't want to go home; I want to stay here to watch over my sister. For all we know, she'll wake up at night. Once she does, she'll want to see Sonny first."

Serenity was determined not to go home.

“Seren, Zachary is right. Your sister doesn’t need our care now. You and Zachary should go home and rest first. I’ll stay here to keep watch.”

“Mom,” Clive and Elisa called out to Mrs. Stone.

Mr. Stone also disapproved of his wife’s staying. He said, “We can’t do anything by staying in the hospital. Let’s all go back to rest and take care of the things that haven’t been taken care of yet.”

“I’m worried!”

Mrs. Stone’s voice choked up right after she said that.

She was worried about her niece as much as Serenity was worried about her sister. She and Serenity were the same.

“Aunt Audrey, go home and rest. I’ll let you know as soon as my sister wakes up.”

Serenity helped to persuade Mrs. Stone to go home.

Mrs. Stone was gradually getting older, after all.

She finally left the hospital after everyone repeatedly persuaded her.

In the end, only Zachary, Serenity, and Duncan remained.

“Duncan, there are still many things you and Josh need to deal with together. Don’t worry, I’ll let you know once Liberty wakes up.” Zachary knew his good friend was also worried about his sister-in-law. He patted Duncan’s shoulder and said, “I’m counting on you and Josh to wrap things up.”

Duncan looked at the ICU ward. He wanted to be by Liberty’s side, but she was in the ward at the moment. Even Serenity could not take care of her sister, let alone him.

After a long silence, Duncan looked at Sonny again.

Sonny had fallen asleep in Serenity's arms but was still subconsciously grabbing her shirt. What happened today was going to be a lifelong trauma for the three-year-old kid.

Duncan's heart ached for Sonny.

"Let me know if anything happens. I'll go deal with the follow-up first."

"Okay."

Duncan took a deep breath and looked at the ward again before he turned around to leave.

If they wanted Liberty and Sonny to be safe and be able to live like normal people in the future without having to worry about something like this happening again, they needed to handle this matter well.

Zachary ordered his bodyguard to go out and pack some fast food back. He then asked his driver to take his RV to the hospital so that it would be easier to cook food for Sonny.

After giving his orders, Zachary sat next to Serenity. He wanted to carry Sonny instead but as soon as he touched Sonny, the little boy was so frightened that he clung to Serenity's shirt with both hands.

"Sonny, don't be scared. I'm here."

Serenity quickly hugged Sonny and patted him. She then lowered her head and rested her forehead against his. It had a calming effect, and Sonny was soothed again.

"I should carry him; he has taken a fright."

Zachary did not try to hold Sonny again. He removed his suit jacket and draped it over Sonny's body.

Following that, he reached out and wrapped his arm around Serenity's shoulder. He comforted gently, "Seren, Liberty will be fine. Don't worry too much."

"Why did I have to go back to my hometown today? If I hadn't gone back..."

Even if Serenity did not go back to her hometown, she would be in her bookstore.

Sonny started school today, and Jim was responsible for picking him up and dropping him off.

“Seren, even if you didn’t go back to your hometown, you couldn’t have protected Liberty when the incident happened. We were prepared to protect her, but she was still harmed... We didn’t protect her well.”

Serenity tilted her head to look at Zachary and asked him, “Did you guys discuss this long ago? Or did you already know the other party’s plot and deliberately used Sonny to lure them?”

“We didn’t!” Zachary hurriedly denied it.

“The Buchams only watched Mrs. Newman’s moves and noticed that she was unusual today. They informed me and Duncan, so we increased our efforts to protect Liberty and Sonny.”

Zachary explained, “If they snatch Sonny away, we can surely save him. Only, we underestimated Liberty’s determination as a mother to protect her child. She ran so fast at that time and left our bodyguards behind.

“They were only a few minutes slower, but she was already harmed.”

Serenity looked down at Sonny, who was not even sleeping soundly. She said with red eyes, Sonny was born to my sister and is her life. Not to mention she didn’t know you had people secretly protecting her and could help her save Sonny. But even if she knew, she would still chase after the bad guys out of a mother’s instinct to get him back.”

Zachary blamed himself and said, “It was also due to our poor protection.”

Serenity freed one of her hands to wipe her tears. “Why didn’t you remind my sister that Jessica was being used?”

“She knows—it was she who suspected Jessica first and called to tell me about it. She insisted on following Hank and Jessica today because she suspected Jessica and refused to let Hank take Sonny away by himself.”

Serenity asked, “Why didn’t she tell me?”

Zachary was stumped for an answer. Liberty had her reason for not saying it, but he did not know why.

“Did Mr. Bucham have all the evidence?”

“The evidence is with Julian.”

“Why didn’t you call the police when you have all the evidence?” Serenity questioned.

Zachary answered after a moment of silence. “Mrs. Newman’s men were scattered in their hiding, so arresting one of them would alert the rest. After the last zoo incident, I told you and Liberty to treat that as an accident and to live as usual.

“But Mrs. Newman would definitely strike again. We just needed to bide our time, and when she goes crazy, we can focus our efforts on catching her and her men. Even if we can’t capture all of them, we can capture most of them.”

Serenity touched her nephew’s face gently. “At the end of the day, you were using Sonny.”

Zachary was speechless.

“Now, I don’t even know if it was right that I saved Camryn in the past.”

“Seren, this isn’t your fault; it’s theirs. If you had watched Ms. Newman get hurt back then and didn’t step in, you would have a bad conscience for the rest of your life.”

Serenity bit her lip and did not speak.

“Have those people been caught now?”

Zachary responded softly, “None of those who helped create chaos and stopped my men escaped. All of them were captured. There were about a hundred people.”

Serenity looked at him again, “That crazy woman assigned so many people to be involved?”

“Yes, she probably thought that there’s strength in numbers and they would certainly succeed in snatching Sonny away.”

Serenity remembered what Camryn said and repeated it, “Camryn said that Mrs. Newman would resort to drastic measures if she was impatient. Carrie had really learned that well from her.”

The mother and daughter did things based on their little whims regardless of the consequences.

“Mr. Newman might be taken out of this matter. He’s 99% unaware of Mrs. Newman’s arrangement today. If he knew, we wouldn't have let her do it. The pieces of evidence from Julian are also mostly unfavorable to Mrs. Newman."

Serenity said, "Perhaps Mr. Newman had long thought of letting Mrs. Newman be the scapegoat."

Zachary hummed and said, "That's possible. That couple is truly an eye-opener."

Ring, ring, ring...

Serenity's phone rang.

Zachary's phone rang as well.

The couple answered the calls at the same time.

Chapter 1400

"Seren, how's Liberty? It hasn't been long since I followed Kevin on a business trip, and such a big thing has happened."

The person who called Serenity was Grandma May.

She followed Kevin to Jensburg on a business trip and had only just received the news of Liberty's misfortune.

"Nana..."

Serenity had just stopped crying but wanted to cry again when she heard Grandma May's voice. She said in a sobbing tone, "Nana, my sister is injured."

"Seren, don't cry and tell me how she is. I'm on my way back. Don't worry, I'll be there even if the sky falls."

When Grandma May heard that Liberty was injured, she could not be bothered about creating opportunities for Kevin and rushed back to Wiltspoon.

Kevin's work was almost finished, and he was worried about letting his nana go home by herself, hence he handed over the remaining work to someone else and returned to Wiltspoon with her.

“The doctor said she’s out of the woods for now, but she has to stay in the ICU for a few days. She’ll only be truly fine if she can pull through these few days.”

“Which hospital is she in?” Grandma May asked.

Serenity told her.

Grandma May said, “That hospital is excellent and is one of the top three hospitals. Don’t worry. your sister will get better. If anything, I’ll be thick-skinned and beg the genius doctor to go and save your sister. Don’t worry and don’t cry anymore, okay? I’ll be right back. There’s nothing to be afraid of when I’m there, so don’t you worry.

“I can tell one’s fortune and have told the fortunes of you sisters. You’re both destined to live a life of wealth and nobility and are very blessed. It’ll be hard at first, but the reward will come later.”

Grandma May had even told her granddaughter-in-law about the sisters’ fortunes to reassure her.

Under Grandma May’s comfort, Serenity’s heart was slowly finding its peace.

She also thought that her sister was blessed and could live a long life.

The call Zachary received was from his mom.

Tania asked about Liberty’s injuries and Sonny’s condition over the phone. At last, she urged Zachary to take good care of Serenity.

Zachary responded in a low voice, “I will, Mom.”

After the mother and son ended the call, Serenity was still talking to Grandma May, who also asked about Sonny’s condition. She was slightly relieved to know that Sonny was fine.

“Mom, Mom...”

Sonny was having a bad dream.

Serenity immediately ended the call with Grandma May and calmed him.

Sonny shouted for his mom.

“Sonny, Sonny, don’t be scared. Your mom is fine, and I’m here.”

Serenity kept patting Sonny’s little body to calm him down.

Sonny suddenly opened his eyes.

He looked at Serenity and seemed to have come back to his senses after a while. He sat up, wrapped his arms around Serenity's neck, and said with fear, "Aunt Ser, I dreamed of a lot of blood. There was a lot of blood—Mom lost a lot of blood. I'm so scared."

"Sonny, don't be afraid. Your mom is fine and will wake up tomorrow."

"The bad guy hit her, kept kicking her, and even stabbed her with a knife..."

Sonny was pale white when he described everything. His usually clear and bright big eyes were filled with fear at this moment, and his little body was shaking.

That scene was seared onto his mind.

He would dream about it whenever he closed his eyes and fell asleep. He was terrified!
