Married at First Sight Chapter 2474-For her father's sake, that's just a polite way of saying it.

She and Camryn shared a hatred that rendered her helpless, believing that her current situation was entirely the fault of Serenity and Camryn and that her parents, who were trying to protect her, had suffered because of Camryn. Looking at two enemies, one of whom was the eldest mistress of the York family and the other was the second young mistress, Carrie couldn't do it.

As for her biological brother, Trenton had been close to Camryn since he was a child. He was not close to her, the second half-sister, and always accused her of bullying Camryn.

Carrie knew that she couldn't count on her brother to join forces with her.

Because she was young and didn't have many connections or skills, it seemed she could only join forces with others.

Regardless of whether what Mrs. Janzen said was true or not, as long as it was aimed at Serenity, she was her partner.

An enemy of an enemy is a friend.

So Carrie got into Mrs. Janzen's car.

After Mrs. Janzen asked the driver to drive, Carrie asked her: "Mrs. Janzen, do you know what happened to my two eldest aunts? I want revenge and take back everything in my family. I can't do it by myself, but my brother, I can't count on it. My two eldest aunts have a good relationship with my father, and they will help me."

She remembered that her two eldest aunts had sons working at Newman Enterprise. Her father arranged for them, and they belonged to her own family. It could also help her.

The two eldest aunts disliked Camryn very much. They would never sit idly by when Camryn took over the Newman family's business.

"Your two eldest aunts, you don't have much hope. The Chandler family and the Joyner family are your cousins. As soon as your father comes in, they want to help you manage the company, but they can't defeat your eldest sister and Dalton. They all joined forces and lost.

Then your cousins were fired and left Newman Enterprise. That's not all, because your cousin and your two eldest aunts were unwilling to give in. They always pestered your eldest sister and wanted to return to the company. Your eldest sister was ruthless. With the help of the power of the York family, the businesses of your two eldest aunts failed.

Now that their small company is gone, they still owe debts, and their houses, cars, jewelry, and other luxuries have all been sold off. In order to pay off the debt, their whole family has to rent a house to live in. Your two aunts, the elder ones, have to find a job as a cleaner, earning three to two thousand dollars a month, which is very miserable."

Hearing this, Carrie was so angry that she cursed: "Camryn, you blind b!tch, you are too cruel. You are too cruel. Wait, I must get all my father's property back, thinking there is a war. Am I afraid of you since you have a backer?"

She had always enjoyed bullying Camryn, as long as she could remember.

She never took Camryn seriously.

Even if she made a mistake and went in once, she also saw the dangers of human nature inside. She was no longer the ignorant Carrie she was before.

Wait!

She wanted to take back what belonged to her!

Did Camryn think that by joining the York family, she would be able to secure her position as head of the Newman family?

Then she would make Camryn lose the support of the York family!

Camryn got into the York family after being appreciated by Serenity and thus seducing the second young master York, right?

It's still Serenity!

Carrie thought furiously—she must make Serenity walk away without finishing the meal!
