

Mistaken Marriage, Unexpected Love

Chapter 122

Chapter 122 Complicated Love

"Yes." Laura smiled bitterly. "Forrest said that I was his girlfriend in front of that girl. Thinking that she had been fooled, she called Forrest's mom on the spot. Things went from bad to worse..."

Camila could only imagine how badly it went

"And then what happened? How'd you end up in his house? Did you tell him the truth?" Camila asked with concern

After a long silence, Laura said in a voice barely above a whisper, "He knows."

"You two love each other very much. Now that he knows the truth, he won't let you go. You don't know how depressed he has been these days

He drowns himself in alcohol every day, and he has lost a lot of weight

Don't you feel sorry for him?"

Laura wasn't oblivious to this. Forrest used to be so lively and cheerful

She couldn't bear to see him become so depressed either But now, his mother hated her even more. Forrest's mother used to think that Laura was from a poor family and didn't deserve him. Now,

Laura broke her promise to her. Nobody liked a promise-breaker

She had promised to leave Forrest, but she was found coming back to him now

Once again, she was faced with a difficult choice

It was no secret that Forrest's mother hated her

Camila sighed and reached out to pat Laura's hand. "Don't worry. I know that you'll be able to convince Forrest's mom that you're more than enough for her son. And I'm sure Forrest will take your side. His mother will have no choice but to learn to accept you."

Laura, on the other hand, was not so optimistic

She could still remember how angry his mother was at that time

"Honestly, I think it'd be good for you two to face the problem as soon as possible. You'll have each other to rely on, and at least now he won't be as depressed. The only obstacle in your relationship is his mother. |

think he'll do his best to convince her," Camila added

At this point, Laura had no choice but look on the bright side

"I hope everything will turn out okay," she said, sighing heavily

"Take a hot bath first. I'll lend you a pair of pajamas."

Camila then led her to the guest room Glenda had prepared

This guest room had its own bathroom, so Laura didn't have to worry

"Sorry, I don't have any new pajamas. Is it okay if I just lend you an old pair?" Camila asked with a smile, trying to cheer Laura up

"We share clothes all the time. Why would I mind? Thanks for being there for me, Camila. I feel much better now. Don't worry about me.

Good night." Laura cracked a smile for the first time in what felt like ages

"I can still keep you company," Camila insisted. After all, she was still worried about her friend

"That man you showed up with—is he Joe's father?" Laura couldn't help but ask Camila shook her head helplessly. "If only."

"Huh? What do you mean?" Confusion was written all over Laura's face

"The man a while ago, Isaac, is the man I married. But the man from that night, Joe's father..." Her voice trailed off

"Does your husband know about Joe? He doesn't mind?"

Laura felt that Camila was facing an even more complicated situation than her

Sighing heavily, Camila walked to the bed and plopped down

She had mixed feelings about this

"I... [didn't like him before, but after spending more time with him..." "You have a crush on him, don't you?" Laura interrupted excitedly

Camila decided to be honest. She nodded, muttering, "I fell for him by accident—"

"It's no accident!" Laura said firmly. "Although I haven't really known him yet, he's young, handsome, and rich. Any woman would fall in love with him!" 4

True

In the past, Camila thought that looks didn't matter, and that character was more important when it came to picking a husband

But she was wrong—at least, partially wrong. She couldn't deny that Isaac was so handsome that she sometimes forgot herself

She was also attracted to his kindness and consideration to her. 1

"I just wasn't expecting to fall for him, you know? I want to tell him about Joe, but I just don't know how. I've never regretted anything before in my life, but when facing Isaac, I feel so..."

"You regret having Joe?" Laura's eyebrows shot up Camila shook her head quickly and said in earnest, "I regret having sex with that man that night."

No, she never regretted giving birth to Joe

He was her treasure. 3

But now that she liked someone, she wanted to give herself to him completely

Although Isaac said that he didn't mind her having a child with someone else, she did

Laura sat next to her, lost in thought. "Maybe what I'm about to say is wrong. It's just my opinion, but if you marry an ordinary man and he says that he doesn't mind that you had a child with someone else, he means it. 2

But Isaac is no ordinary man, right? With his wealth and status, he could've had any woman he wanted. Now, he may be interested in you and willing to accept your child, but what if he changes his mind someday? Humans can have wild imaginations.

What if he pictures you having sex with another man whenever he looks at that child? Will it really not affect your relationship?" 2

What Laura said hit the nail on the head. This was also part of the reason why Camila didn't tell Isaac about her son

After all, Joe was not his child. Would he really be willing to treat Joe well?

And she didn't want Joe to live his life walking on eggshells

"Well, I might just be overthinking..." Laura faltered upon seeing the gloomy expression on Camila's face. ©

"Thank you anyway." Camila knew that Laura was saying these things because she cared about her. And Laura was right. After all, she wasn't sure whether Isaac was just infatuated with her or if he really loved her

How long could such a love last?

She shouldn't have fallen in love with him

Even now that she had fallen for him, she had to keep a rational mind

Taking a deep breath, she said, "I know what I have to do."

"Are you going to break up with him?" Laura tried to dissuade her

"Maybe he's different from other men..."

"No, actually... We only live together because we're married on paper." Camila made up her mind. She could wait until she knew for sure that she wanted to spend the rest of her life with him. *

By then, she would tell him everything

"Mila, if you want to hold off telling Isaac about Joe, I can help you raise him in the meantime. That way, you can still visit him anytime you want." Laura held Camila's hand and spoke sincerely

But Camila immediately shook her head. She had to raise her son by herself

She had given birth to Joe

She could live without Isaac, but never without her son

Laura sighed again, feeling exasperated with both of their frustrating love lives

How come love had to be so complicated?

"Anyway, go ahead and take a shower. I'll go upstairs now. Call me if you need anything, okay?" Camila said as she stood up

Laura nodded. "Okay."

After taking a shower, Camila tried to go to sleep, but she just tossed and turned all night. Finally, she got up and sat

by the window,

looking at the moon in the sky

Just then, the door was suddenly opened. 2

--- The new chapters will update daily ---