

The Wolf's Bride by Coffee's Tea Chapter 701 -

Chapter 701

Right now, Calmert Estate was eerily quiet.

After 'Andrius' and the Ghosts wreaked havoc there, the guests fled.

Vroom...

Clack...

Rumble...

Just then, multiple black cars without number plates arrived outside the estate like a hurricane.

Several people got out of the first car.

Among them were Baron, the Second War God, and other experts.

Then, countless soldiers got out of the cars behind them, swarming like a tide.

Each of them was spirited and sharp-eyed. They were the elites of the soldiers in the Central Warzone.

"Surround the place!" There was a spark in Baron's eyes as he shouted, "No one is allowed to enter or leave without my order, not even a stray dog or a fly!"

The explosion at the Dragon's Dungeon was a major incident.

As the Warzone Master of the Central Warzone and the second in command under the emperor, Baron had to make a statement!

Whoosh...

The soldiers immediately surrounded Calmert Estate completely, leaving no blind spots.

At the same time, they prepared various equipment such as heavy machine guns and even RPGs.

After everything was prepared, Baron, the Second War God, and the others barged into Calmert Estate without a word.

Whoosh...

Swoosh...

Black figures blocked their path. They were the Ghosts that Andrius had carefully selected.

“Get out of my way, or die!” Baron’s eyes were covered with a layer of frost.

However, the Ghosts did not move. They exuded a powerful aura, making it clear that they would not budge.

“Alright. Alright!”

Baron narrowed his eyes and scanned them. Then, he suddenly exploded and lunged at the nearest Ghost. The distance between them was less than ten meters.

For an expert like Baron, it happened in an instant.

Bam!

The next moment, he delivered a punch.

The Ghost hurriedly blocked his blow, but it was futile. He was immediately sent flying and crashed heavily on the ground, unable to get up again.

The difference in strength was too great.

However, the remaining Ghosts did not show any fear or retreat.

Bam!

Bang!

Baron resolutely incapacitated all the Ghosts expressionlessly, leaving none standing.

“The elite soldiers of the Lycantroops?” Baron glanced at the Ghosts coldly and said in an icy voice, “This is Kiyoto! This is the emperor’s domain!

“How dare you enter Kiyoto without the emperor’s orders? This is a capital offense!”

A killing intent flashed in his eyes as he spoke.

However, the Ghosts were not cowed at all.

Even as they lay on the ground, their aura did not weaken. “We’re not from the Lycantroops. We don’t have ranks, and we’re not registered. We’re just Andrius’ bros!

“Philip Rourke dared to steal Andy’s woman, so we’re here to help him get her back!

“A capital offense? This is just fighting and disturbing public order, at most!”

Baron froze. He could not refute those words.

However, as a Warzone Master, he was not easily deceived!

“Hmph...” He glanced at the Ghosts with cold eyes, and his killing intent grew stronger. “If I enter and find that Andrius isn’t here, then that means you’re lying.

“You’re deliberately causing turmoil and a threat to national security! As the Central Warzone Master, I have the right to execute you on the spot!”