

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2727-"David, thank you!" Evie had a thousand words in her heart, but she did not know how to say them. In the end, she just said thank you.

"Princess Evie, you don't have to be so polite! Did you know that in my hometown, trafficking women is a very serious crime? I hate people like this the most. They completely disregard the lives of others for their own interests. It's none if I wasn't aware, but now that I do, I won't stand idly by even if I didn't have a relationship with you," David said seriously.

What he said is true.

The Vingeans' behavior had seriously violated David's bottom line.

Even if he encountered this kind of thing while he was traveling, he would have stuck his nose in it. Besides, Evie was also his friend. Since they had a relationship, there was no reason for him to stand idly by and watch.

However, Evie did not understand the environment in which David grew up, so she did not know what David's philosophy was.

The Leila she lived in was a world where the strong were respected.

As long as one was strong enough and did not betray Leila, commit any outrageous disaster, or attract the attention of the five Overlords, no one would care about them.

Not to mention the trivial matter of capturing Elven women, even if the entire Elven clan was wiped out, no one would bat an eyelid.

This was unless two superpowers started a war and caused countless lives to be killed or injured. At that point, the legendary Overlord might step in to stop it.

As for other things, they were all insignificant in the Overlord's eyes.

Countless small wars occurred in Leila every day, and countless forces were wiped out.

This was very normal.

Therefore, in Evie's opinion, David's righteous words were just him trying to find an excuse to help her.

The Elves had been troubled by the Vingeans' secret kidnapping for so long.

They asked the other forces for help before, but since they could not offer too much in return, no one was willing to help.

After all, the Vingeans were not a small force that could be wiped out so casually.

The Vingeans could be considered an above-average force in Leila.

Although not as powerful as those top forces, it would not be easy to destroy the Vingeans without a partial Overlord getting involved.

Meanwhile, a partial Overlord would be in seclusion all year round and rarely come out, let alone take action so freely.

In just a moment, Evie thought of a lot of things, including the cold discrimination the Elves had received over the years.

Even now, not one force was willing to fully help the Elves.

Thus, she could be sure that the reason why David said this was just that he was looking for an excuse to help her.

Evie's gratitude to David was like an unlimited torrent of water.

Once David helped the Elves avenge the Vingeans, Evie would not know how to repay such a huge act of kindness.

"David, no matter what, thank you! We took advantage of you, and not only did you not get angry, but you repaid evil with kindness and were even willing to stand up for our clan.

I will always remember this kindness in my heart and will never forget it until my death!" Evie looked at David and said solemnly.
