I am a quadrillionarire chapter 2730-This was where the Water of Life came in handy. With that, this plan was formulated.

The Vingeans were not fools.

Would the Elves be able to tempt them to take the bait without substantial?

The value of tens of thousands of Elven women and a newly discovered Water of Life was too high.

The temptation was also too great.

Even if the Vingeans knew that this was a trap set by Isa, they would still come.

One must know that opportunities like this do not come around very often.

If they seized it, they would get huge rewards.

Isa's plan would not go wrong.

Of course, the Vingeans would not miss such a good opportunity either.

Countless Vingeans were waiting in the Misty Forest at the junction of the two territories.

They had long faces and sunken cheeks. Their disproportionate facial features could even be described as ugly.

y freely in the air.

They were a stark contrast to the beauty of the Elves.

They had a pair of wings on their backs and could

It was hard to believe that two races lived next to each other due to their attractiveness existing on opposite extremes.

In the beginning, the Elves and the Vingeans were not enemies, and they were equally powerful.

They did not understand why the Elves were so beautiful and could occupy a good place like the Elven

Forest that produced the Water of Life.

Not only were the Vingeans ugly, but the Misty Forest had nothing to offer.

The feud between the two clans originated from the jealousy of the Vingeans.

So, they began to think of ways to usurp the interests of the Elves.

Overtime, this led to a blood feud between the two clans.

The Elves were targeted because they were too beautiful and not strong enough.

Not all good things were a blessing.

They even became prey for a while.

On the contrary, the Vingeans had nothing. They were ugly, so they were not taken seriously. Therefore, they could grow at today.

They were now much stronger than the Elves.

If this continued, it was believed that the Vingeans growth would never stop.

They might one day even become one of the top forces in Leila.

At this time, the Vingeans were quietly guarding the edge of the Misty Forest while using the fog to hide their presence.

They were waiting for the head of the clan's orders.

Then, they would go out to harvest the Elves' resources and bring the Elven women back with them.

That was a considerable fortune to them.

This time, even the head of the Vingeans came in person.

This was because they got the message that Elven Queen Isa was also in hiding. If Isa was here, the head of the Vingeans would naturally wait here as well.

The Vingeans would not give the Elves a chance to react.

As the saying went, a king would go against a king, and a general would go against a general.

They had already tasted victory once.

The reward from the last success was something that the Vingeans would never forget. The Vingeans did not think this was a trap set by the Elves either.

The two clans had been neighbors for a long time, so they understood each other very well.

The only thing the Elves owned that could instill fear in the Vingeans was the weapon passed down by the Elven Queens of the past generations. 10/21/23, 5 05 PM Read I'm A Quadrillionaire Chapter 2730

Besides that, the Vingeans did not think the Elves were a threat to them. This time, the Vingeans assumed that the Elves were ready to collect the Water of Life because they felt that the sacri cial ceremony was imminent and that the presence of many powerful forces attending the ceremony meant would not dare to act rashly.

Due to this, they were taking this opportunity to quietly bring back the Water of Life.

that the Vingeans

Little did they know that the Vingeans had no intention of giving up.

They knew that the Elves would de nitely not let the other big forces get involved in the collection of the Water of Life.

Otherwise, how could the Elves maintain their current standard of living?
