I am a quadrillionarire chapter 2733-The edge of the Misty Forest was shrouded in a thick layer of fog, a sharp contrast to the Elven Forest opposite.

There was a river, dozens of meters wide, between the Elven Forest and the Misty Forest.

As to why there was such a big difference between two places separated by a river, no one knew.

It was formed before the Elves and the Vingeans settled here.

There was silence at the edge of the Misty Forest.

At this time, a deep voice suddenly cried.

"Let's go!"

The quiet edge of the Misty Forest suddenly became lively.

Sparse sounds came and went.

First, a man with black wings on his back rushed out of the Misty Forest.

Then countless strange humans like him rushed across the wide river and headed towards the Elven Forest.

A river of tens of meters was nothing to the Vingeans who could y freely in the air.

They could cross it in just one leap. They did not even need to ap their wings.

They could cross it just by gliding.

After entering the Elven Forest, the Vingeans, led by their head, ran wildly and continued to go deeper into the small valley at an extremely fast speed.

The huge trees did not hinder their speed at all.

The Elves and the Vingeans were races that lived in the forest all year round, so the forest was their home.

If they could travel freely in the Misty Forest that was shrouded in thick fog, the Elven Forest would be no problem forthem.

The Vingeans team this time was very strong.

Not only was the head personally leading the team, but he also had the most elite troops with him.

It was because they knew that the Elves would also send elite troops to stand guard while they collected the Water of Life.

Although the Vingeans had emerged victorious in the previous battle, capturing tens of thousands of Elven women and acquiring the Water of Life, it was their rst attempt. At that time, they had dispatched an insuf cient force and encountered erce resistance from the Elves.

As a result, the Vingeans also suffered huge losses.

However, compared to the value of what they obtained, it was all worth it.

Therefore, the Vingeans did not want to give the Elves any chance to ght back this time, not even if the Elven Queen was the one leading.

When the Vingeans entered the Elven Forest, Elven Queen Isa sensed it and immediately shouted.

"Everyone, hurry up! Gather up and evacuate immediately. We have been discovered by the Vingeans, and those scumbags are on their way!"

It would be better if she did not shout.

Once she did, the originally orderly scene suddenly became chaotic.

After all, they were just women, so they were still traumatized when they thought of the cruelty of the Vingeans.

Is a ignored everything once she saw that her words not only had no effect but made the team more chaotic.

people. This time we ght against the Vingeans and protect our will avenge our sisters who were tortured to death!"

She shouted again, "All Elven warriors, come with me to

"Revenge!"

"Revenge!"

"Revenge!"

All the Elves warriors roared at the same time.

of Life.

These Elven elites were naturally not comparable to the ordinary Elven women who collected the Water