

Chapter 630 Investigating Black Fiend

Now that Liam had taken care of the traitor issue, he had to focus on his real target.

Liam returned to the base of the Dark Night Organization and found the person in charge, Prometheus. After telling Prometheus about what happened to the traitor, the man was shocked.

"I still can't believe that Aaron was the traitor all this while."

Not long after Prometheus was transferred to be in charge here, Aaron also came. They had worked together for more than twenty years. Of course, he cared about him as a friend.

Prometheus had known for some time that there might be a traitor in his team, but Aaron had never been a suspect.

He could have never imagined that his good friend, with whom he had been working for more than twenty years, had switched teams.

Before Liam entered the room, Theo had called

Prometheus had known for some time that there might be a traitor in his team, but Aaron had never been a suspect.

He could have never imagined that his good friend, with whom he had been working for more than twenty years, had switched teams.

Before Liam entered the room, Theo had called Prometheus. Now that Liam had caught the traitor, Theo revealed to Prometheus Liam's real identity.

So Prometheus bowed respectfully to Liam and said, "Mr. Hoffman, you solved the problem so quickly and decisively."

Liam brushed it off and said, "There's no need for the ruckus and praise. The traitor has been found, but my problem hasn't been solved yet. I'd like to know, how much do you know about the Flower Club and the Blaze Gang?"

A look of disgust appeared on Prometheus' face when he heard the names. "They are just the followers of the Black Spider in the delta region. They are not presentable, and certainly can't be compared to the Dark Night Organization. Why are you asking about them, Mr. Hoffman? Do you need my help with anything?"

Liam shook his head decisively. In a situation such as this, it wouldn't be wise to use too many people from the Dark Night Organization. If he did, the chances of alerting the enemy would be greater.

Besides, it was about Julie. He would take care of saving her himself.

Days went by rather quickly. Liam had spent the time getting to know this Blaze Gang in his own way.

Yusuf was discharged from the hospital today. Liam dropped everything he was doing and went to pick him up in person.

However, he didn't take the man back. Liam took him directly to the Flower Club.

Yusuf burst into laughter when he saw where Liam was taking him. "You know me too well. I owe you a favor, and although I've just been discharged from the hospital, I can still have some fun."

Liam rolled his eyes. Yusuf was a good man, but he played a lot.

Liam wasn't someone who would bring Yusuf to a place like this for a favor. He only brought Yusuf here because he wanted to get some information on the Black Spider.

After all his investigations, he was led to believe that this was the best place to find answers. Perhaps whatever they found could lead them directly to Black Fiend.

Liam was very precise in his investigation. He was simple and direct to the point. He had no time to throw away.

In the Flower Club.

As soon as they entered, the female manager came over and welcomed them.

Liam was a new face to her, but Yusuf was a regular customer. She warmly ushered the two men into a luxurious private room.

The overall decoration of the room was flashy, with golden and dazzling light shining everywhere. The murals around were all naked women, which made Liam feel sick.

If he didn't have such an important reason for being here, he would have never stepped foot in a place like this.

The manager smiled enthusiastically at them. "Mr. Moran, what can we offer you today?"

Yusuf said, "You see my bro here, right? Well, this is his first time here today. You have to take good
