Chapter 1901

"Yes! One wrong step, one wrong step after another, Lorenzo's actions are destined to not end well. Without thinking about someone, there is still a chance to make meritorious deeds."

Thorian Rhys said, and looked meaningfully Eyes Dustin Kate.

If it weren't for the person in front of him being his third uncle, if it wasn't for his father's kindness and unwillingness to kill each other, if it wasn't for the fact that he didn't cause too much damage.

With the other party's rebellion, even ten deaths would not be enough!

"Ahem..."

After being glanced at by Thorian Rhys, Dustin Kate changed the topic with a guilty conscience: "Logan, these three treasure houses are of amazing value and are closely related. How do you plan to deal with them?"

"Of course if they are all brought back to West Lucozia, is it possible that they are still left to those miscellaneous fish?" Thorian Rhys rolled his eyes.

"We cannot monopolize these three treasure houses."

Dustin shook his head and said, "It was not we alone that destroyed the Dragon Protection Pavilion. We also invited foreign aid this time. Any benefits will naturally be shared equally by everyone."

"Divided equally? Logan, are you kidding?"

Dustin Kate was stunned and became excited: "You just heard what Lorenzo said. The treasure trove of Dragon Protection Pavilion is accumulated over decades. It is as rich as any country. , you actually want to share such a huge opportunity with others, what on earth do you think?"

This time, he accomplished a remarkable feat in wiping out the Dragon Protection Pavilion, and he might be rewarded separately afterwards.

In other words, the more treasures the Prince of West Lucozia gets, the more benefits he will get, and he is naturally unwilling to give them to others.

"Treasures are good, but they also have to be moral. People come all the way to help us. If we just take the treasures alone, wouldn't we become ungrateful people?" Dustin said calmly.

"That's what I say, but there's no need to share it equally with them, right? Just give me some benefits." Dustin Kate said.

"I have made up my mind. If Third Uncle is dissatisfied, you can complain to Rufus Rhys and see what he will do." Dustin said expressionlessly.

"You..." Dustin Kate's expression froze.

He has never seen such a stupid person, who is willing to give away the wealth he has obtained.

"Third uncle, don't judge others by yourself. My brother's heart is not comparable to that of ordinary people." Old God Thorian Rhys said calmly.

Although it was a pity, he supported his eldest brother unconditionally.

"Go up."

Dustin was too lazy to talk nonsense. After closing the wooden box, he led Thorian Rhys and others out.

In his eyes, gold, silver and jewelry are just external possessions. If you cheat even your friends, the road will only become narrower in the future.

After returning to the surface, Dustin took out two treasure maps, handed one to Adam Spanner and the other to Margaret.

"Old Dustin, what do you mean?"

Adam Spanner looked at the treasure map in his hand, feeling a little confused.

"There are three treasure houses in the Dragon Protection Pavilion, and each treasure house corresponds to a treasure map. There are exactly three of us, and each of us has a treasure house." Dustin explained.

"I'll go! Aren't you too kind?" Adam Spanner's eyes brightened.

"If you hadn't helped me this time, the Hulong Pavilion wouldn't have been so smooth," Dustin said.

"Hehe... OK, since your kindness is hard to refuse, I will accept it." Adam Spanner was not polite and directly pocketed the treasure map.

"It's useless for me to ask for this thing. You can keep it yourself."

Margaret glanced at the treasure map and stuffed it into Dustin's arms.

"Don't get me wrong, I'm not giving this treasure map to you, but to the officials. From now on, we in West Lucozia will need more care from the officials."

Dustin smiled and pushed the treasure map into Margaret's hand.

"This..."

Hearing this, Margaret found it hard to refuse.

"Your Highness, this is Buddy Dustin's wish, so don't be polite. We will have plenty of opportunities to cooperate in the future." Adam Spanner advised from the side.

"Okay, then I will thank you on behalf of my father." Margaret nodded and finally accepted it.
