An Understated Dominance by Marina Chapter 1937

“No! The golden mesh is going to break!”

Suddenly, a cry of surprise sounded.

Everyone looked around and saw that Alexis Walters, who was trapped in the golden mesh, had increased in size.

His whole body was covered in black lines.

His teeth became sharp, his nails became sharp, his eyes turned from red to black, and his mouth let out bursts of beast-like roars.

”Ho! Roar! Roar!”

Alexis Walters’s screams became louder and louder, and his expression became more and more ferocious.

His back slowly bulged, breaking the tight golden wire mesh one by one.

”Roar!!”

Alexis Walters roared again.

His hands with sharp nails grabbed the gold mesh and violently tore it out.

”Crack!”

The tough golden mesh was torn in half, revealing a huge gap.

Those young men who were holding on to the golden wire netting fell directly to the ground due to inertia.

”It’s broken! This lunatic is about to run out!”

”Quick! Find a way to trap him!”

Everyone was shocked. They took out ropes, put them on Alexis Walters, and quickly spun around, preparing to tie him up.

"Roar!"

Alexis Walters roared up to the sky, and his burly body shook violently.

There was only a crackling sound, and the ropes as thick as an arm broke one after another, without any restriction at all.

"We can't stop him! Everyone, run!"

The young men in the village were frightened, threw away their weapons, turned around and ran for their lives.

They all vividly remembered the scene where Alexis Walters killed everyone. Once they were approached by the opponent, there was only one way to die.

They were really helpless against such an invulnerable and powerful monster.

"A bunch of trash! Let me do it!"

At this time, a man in green clothes suddenly rose into the air from the crowd and stood in front of Alexis Walters.

The man in green is holding a spear, he is tall, his robes are windless and automatic, his momentum is astonishing, and he looks very extraordinary.

"Look! It's Hulk!"

"Hulk? Could it be the deadly spear that dominates the southwest?"

"That's right! I heard that Hulk has already reached the state of innate perfection at the age of thirty, and his spear skills are even better. He has reached the pinnacle and is a genius that all sects are competing for!"

"Great! I didn't expect that even Hulk would come. Now we are saved!"

The appearance of Hulk, a man in green, made many people present show their faces. They were so happy, as if they had seen a savior.

There are many masters in the southwest world, and strong ones emerge in large numbers.

Hulk, the deadly gun, is a well-known master in the world.

With such a master taking action, I believe it will not be difficult to suppress Alexis Walters.

"Alexis Walters! You are killing innocent people indiscriminately. God cannot tolerate it. You must be arrested immediately. Otherwise, don't blame me for being rude!"

Hulk pointed his spear forward and shouted in a cold voice.

"Roar!"

Alexis Walters did not speak, but roared like a wild beast.

Then he got down on all fours and kicked forward suddenly.

"Whoosh!"

Alexis Walters's entire body turned into a black shadow and rushed towards Hulk fiercely.

"Seeking death!"

Hulk's eyes turned cold and he was no longer polite. He held the spear in both hands and stabbed forward suddenly.

In an instant, light and shadow raged, and the wind howled.

One after another, the sharp spear light was like a poisonous snake, covering the sky and the earth towards Alexis Walters.

"Bang, bang, bang..."

Without any surprise, the spear light pierced Alexis Walters's body firmly.
