

The Wolf's Bride by Coffee's Tea Novel Online

Chapter 951

Halle!

A delicate and pretty face flashed in Andrius' mind, and he furrowed his brows. "What happened to her?"

Noir suggested, "It's urgent, Andy. Let's board the plane first. I'll explain on the way."

"Okay." Andrius' heart sank at the severity and agreed immediately.

Moments later, they boarded a plane bound for Sumeria.

"Noir, tell me now. What's going on?" Andrius' brows were constantly furrowed.

"The Lycantroops received a report." Noir said in a low voice, "Halle suddenly fell ill with a strange condition when she was in the Western region. No doctors could provide an explanation, including the head physician of the hospital.

"Now, she's back at Sumeria recuperating at the Royal Gardens."

Sumeria...

Ever since Luna's return, New Moon Corporation had risen to prominence, and numerous famous doctors flocked to the city, either due to the celebrity effect or to learn acupuncture techniques.

Many medical-related companies were also taking root there. Sumeria's name was very famous, so everyone wanted a slice of the pie.

Currently, Sumeria even gained the moniker 'Capital of Medicine'. Whether it was common or rare herbs, including legendary herbs with extraordinary properties that could only be found deep in the wilderness, they were present in Sumeria's market.

Andrius had originally planned to return to Sumeria to try his luck, hoping to find some rare and exotic herbs to quickly accumulate his inner energy to its peak.

Andrius headed to the Royal Gardens directly after the private jet landed.

To his surprise, he saw Luna coming out in a hurry as soon as he entered.

The two of them were stunned.

Andrius instinctively asked, "Why are you here?"

Luna was surprised to see Andrius and replied, "Halle contracted a strange illness, so I came to check on her."

After saying that, she wondered if Andrius had returned because of Halle, and her heart was filled with a sense of loss.

"How is her condition now?" Andrius came back for this reason and asked casually.

Luna's guess was confirmed, and her heart became even more bitter. However, she quickly replied, "It's very bad. Her body has an excessive amount of yin energy, which is affecting her blood vessels dramatically. As a result, the vessels have undergone mutations and become stiff and frozen."

Excessive yin energy?

Frozen blood vessels?

Andrius was confused.

"Okay," Andrius replied and then entered the house to see Halle's condition.

Luna immediately followed him.

In the room, Halle lay in the sickbed while breathing weakly. Her complexion was deathly pale like a sheet of paper, devoid of any hint of color.

The sight made Andrius raise his brows. He stepped forward to check on her.

The moment he did, his eyes widened.

Halle's body temperature was too low, and she was cold to the touch. Andrius' expression could not help but sink. As for everything else, her pulse was completely normal with no hints of anything unusual.
