Fated to my Enemy by Diane Doherty Chapter 133

Chapter One Hundred Thirty-Three

Alpha Blake

I pulled up to the border gates of the Crimson Lake pack. I had Luca and Aiden in my truck while Walter had the boys with him in his truck following behind us. My hands ached as I unclenched the steering wheel. My gamma, Connor was getting men ready to head out and they shouldn't be that far behind us.

Ryley has been missing for a few hours now and I can't feel her. Whoever has her must have put silver on her and I don't want to think about what it is doing to our unborn pup. It's bad enough that she had silver on her for a month, and now this. I just pray her wolf is strong enough to keep them both safe.

Knuckled against the driver's side window forced me from my thoughts. I pushed open my door, hitting the warrior standing there wanting to talk to me. I was an intimidating person and would use it to get what I needed out of these warriors.

"Alpha Darius," I growled. Both warriors took a step back, which was smart. Gunner wanted to shift and rip through the pack looking for our mate.

"And who are you?" One stammered. I didn't realize I had taken a step towards the punk until Luca stepped in front of me.

"Alpha Blake Orion," He answered him. Both blanched before looking at each other.

"Just one sec," the other one said.

My body vibrated as I waited for them to say something, anything. It's been too long now and I can't feel her. My skin rippled with the need to shift.

"Blake, I know you need to find her. We are all worried and I wouldn't tell you to calm down if it," he trailed off as a convoy of trucks sped up to the gate from inside the pack.

A man got out of one of the trucks, before rushing over to speak to the warriors at the gate. I watched him, intently, trying to place where I'd seen him before. He looked familiar but I don't know why. I don't have any dealings with the Crimson Lake pack.

"Alpha Orion, is there something I can help you with?" The man asked as he approached me and my Beta.

"Where the f*ck is you alpha?" I spat out, I clenched my fists ready to punch this f*cker in the face. I'm not here to play games.

"I'm not at liberty to say, Alpha Blake. We have been called into Evergreen as reinforcements. My blood ran cold at the mention of Ryley's ex's pack.

"Reinforcements, for what?" Luca questioned him. My mind was racing and I couldn't get the words out. He had to be a part of this. He's the only one who would benefit from getting Ryley.

"He knows she's a Luna wolf," Gunner growled.

"I'm only going to say this once," I growled, interrupting my beta and this a s s h a t.

"You step foot in that pack and I will rip you and your army apart," I threatened.

"Alpha, this doesn't have anything to do with the Orion pack," he retorted, but I ignored him. The longer I stay here to argue with him, the longer that f*cker has my mate.

“Call Connor and divert the men to the Evergreen pack,” I ordered Luca, before rushing to the driver’s side of my truck.

“Alpha Blake, you have no right to interfere in a direct order from our alpha.” he yelled. The growl that left my chest had the area deadly quiet as I turned on my heel and approached him. He blanched as the full weight of my aura hit him.

“If anything happens to my Luna, I will rip this pack and Evergreen apart, and not even the council will be able to stop me. Is your piece of shit alpha someone you want to die for today? Because I promise you won’t be leaving Evergreen in one piece,” his Adam apple bobbed as I gritted out the words. He nodded before I turned back and walked towards my truck again.

“Alpha. I have a brother in Evergreen.” he stammered. I turned to look at him.

“Then you better pray he isn’t involved in the kidnapping of my Luna.” I climbed in behind the wheel. My truck roared to life before I turned around and sped away from the Crimson Lake pack. Walter and the boys followed closely behind me.

“Blake, we should have locked down that pack. They could warn Evergreen about our arrival,” Aiden exclaimed from the backseat

“Let them. Nothing they have will stop Gunner and we don’t have time.” I told him.

“I think he will call the gamma.” Luca chimed in and it clicked.

“That’s his brother.” I breathed out. I should have felt guilty about what I was about to do, but I didn’t. His alpha took something of mine and I was going to kill anyone who knew. He should have stopped his alpha if he didn’t want to die by my claws.

“Blake, we need a plan. The warriors are about ten minutes out.” Luca said as I sped down the highway as fast as I could. We still had about thirty minutes.

“I’m going to rip the pack apart until I find her. She is carrying my child. Luca, and I can’t feel her. “My body shook with a fear I have only felt once in my life. The day I lost Mia. I can’t lose another mate. I won’t be able to live if I lose Ryley and our child.

“Blake, we will find them,” Luca clasped my shoulder pulling me from my wicked thoughts.

“You’re right, we will. Even if I have to rip every pack apart including the council. I will find her.”
