

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2750-The role of the inheritance bow was only to deter other forces and protect the Elves.

However, how could the intimidating power of a bow compare to the fierce power of an Overlord?

The difference between the two was worlds apart.

It would be worth it even if they handed her, the Elven Queen, to David, let alone the inherited bow.

When David saw Isa silent, he thought she was reluctant.

After all, it was something passed down by the Elves' ancestors. If they gave it away, wouldn't it be a betrayal to their ancestors?

However, Sun Bow was one of the three keys that unlocked the ultimate evolution of the system, so David could not give it up just like that.

Hence, he added, "Ms. Isa, if you think it is not enough, you can make any request. As long as it is within the scope of my principles, I will try my best to satisfy you. However, that bow is of great use to me, so I hope Ms. Isa can let me have it."

These words brought Isa back from her excitement.

"No, no, no! Master David, you have misunderstood. You had shown us such great kindness; no matter how precious the inheritance bow is, it is just a treasure. If it weren't for you, we might disappear completely in the near future. If we're not around anymore, what's the use of the bow? So, you don't have to make other promises. Just take the bow if you want it,"

Isa replied hurriedly.

David was delighted when he heard this.

Everything would be fine if she agreed.

Otherwise, it would not be good for him to use force because of his relationship with Evie.

He was determined to get the Sun Bow.

“Since you have agreed to give me the inheritance bow, I can’t lose my courtesy. Each of these three wooden boxes contains my clone. In the future, if you encounter a disaster like today, you can undo the seal and summon my clone. My clones have the same strength as me and can exist for an hour. I believe they are enough to resolve any crisis,” David said, taking out three exquisite wooden boxes before placing them on the table.

Isa and Evie’s eyes lit up. They immediately picked up a wooden box and began to observe it like a treasure.

Having the clone of an Overlord was a great thing.

One hour was enough to solve all problems.

So far, Leila had never encountered anything that an Overlord could not solve. Even if there were, it would not happen to the Elves.

“Then, on behalf of the Elves, I would like to thank you. Master David,” Isa said happily.

“Ms. Isa, you’re welcome. If you run out of clones, you can come to me. I will never break my promise since I said I will always protect your clan. If anyone dares to take action against the Elves in the future, I, David Lidell, will be the first to defend you.”

Both parties happily reached an agreement.

Isa gave the Sun Bow to David while David would protect the Elves from any invasion.

Both parties were delighted with the result.

This time, David’s journey had been very rewarding.

He never dreamed that by attending the sacrificial ceremony at the Elves, he would receive the Sun Bow among the top three Ancient Weapons that would initiate the ultimate evolution of the system.

Now, all that was left was the Sky-Splitting Ax. After that, he would have all of the top three Ancient Weapons.

Mysteriously and inexorably, David had a feeling that the Sky -Splitting Ax would not be too far away.

At the same time, the Elves would get the biggest benefit possible.

Although it cost them the inherited bow, they gained eternal protection from an Overlord other than having their blood feud avenged.

That was much more useful than the inherited bow.

The next step was to wait for the sacrificial ceremony of the Elves. After that, David would leave the Elves to find Sylvio.
