I am a quadrillionarire chapter 2782-The clones got out of the way and created a path for it. Soon, the force came to Lu an.

As he faced this sudden blow, Lu an did not intend to dodge it. He had strong con dence in his Heavenly Overlord body.

The Robotias' Mother could hurt him only because it had a treasure from the Almighty.

No one in Leila could hurt him.

Sword in his hand and frowned.

Ding!

The red sword force struck Lu an, making a crisp sound.

Lu an crossed his hands on his chest to withstand the blow.

When David saw this scene in the distance, he looked down at the Evil-Splitting

He murmured to himself, "Don't you claim to be able to slice everything in the world? How come you can't even kill a Heavenly Overlord? Are you nowhere near as good as you're made out to be?"

It was as if the Evil-Splitting Sword understood David. The entire sword vibrated as if it wanted to express something to its master, David.

Without clones, David would be no match for Lu an.

David's clones were constantly being destroyed, so David could only continue to rst was.

essence like this?

summon more to II in the positions.

The battle continued.

Otherwise, it would not take long before Lu an slaughtered all the clones.

A palm-sized gourd appeared in David's left hand as he felt his blood essence exhausted. Then he put it to his mouth to take a sip.

The blood essence was restored to its original state within a few seconds.

Only then did David understand how wise his decision to go to the Elven Forest

If he had not obtained the divine sap from the Elves, which could instantly replenish his consumed blood essence, how would he dare to use his blood

He might have already exhausted his blood essence a long time ago.

David felt that the bene ts he had given the Elves were not enough.

It would then also affect other functions in his body.

them more help.

He would make sure to pay more attention to the Elves in the future and give

After going berserk, Lu an kept tearing apart one clone after another as if he

His body also withstood the attacks of dozens of other partial Heavenly Overlord were tireless.

clones.

This was such a great kindness.

He was ne doing it once or twice. He was also ne doing it a hundred or a thousand times.

However, as more attacked, Lu an gradually began to feel some discomfort.

He knew he could not continue like this.

Then, a glimmer of sanity returned to Lu an's body. During the battle, he kept leaning towards David's main form.

Of course, David was not a fool.

David was able to summon clones in an in nite loop.

He would always maintain a relatively safe distance. With dozens of partial Heavenly Overlord clones surrounding him, Lu an could not catch up with him at all. "Boy, you only know how to run away? Are you a coward?" Lu an roared.

As Lu an moved closer, he would continue to back away.

"I'm not! Aren't I ghting you? The clones I summoned are also a part of my body. You have to kill the clones before you can see me," David smiled and said calmly. "You scoundrel! I'm going to kill you!" Lu an was furious.

Then his body disappeared as he rushed towards David's main form.

Boom!

glaring angrily at David.

He was so fast that he covered almost half the distance in the blink of an eye. David was prepared for Lu an's charge.

He gave out another powerful blow, killing more than ten clones before him.

Lu an. At the same time, David's main form backed away quickly.

Suddenly, ten clones appeared around him, and they rushed forward to meet Boom! Boom! Boom! A series of crashes sounded.

Lu an knocked out all ten clones. However, Lu an was blocked by a huge force. He stopped, his blood-red eyes