

The Wolf's Bride by Coffee's Tea Novel Online Free - Chapter 956-960

The Wolf's Bride by Coffee's Tea Novel Online Free

Chapter 956

1/2

Andrius choked at Madeline's words and explained, "I left in a hurry this morning and forgot about it.

I'm really sorry."

"Don't be!" Sandra quickly intervened to smooth things over. "The most important thing is that you brought the medicine that we needed this month. Other gifts aren't necessary."

"Tsk." Madeline glanced at the bag of medicine and sneered "Medicine? They're probably just random weeds they plucked from the wild. Only an ignorant old woman like you would treasure it.

"As for condolences. What are they worth if they're not hundreds of thousands or millions? That's not even enough for me to buy a handbag."

Andrius' frown deepened.

At those words, Sandra's expression immediately stiffened, and she reprimanded, "Maddy, how could you say that? They're being kind. Those herbs have helped to alleviate some of your father's and my health problems. How can you be like this?"

Madeline did not change her tune because of her mother's reprimanding "Did I say something wrong? What's the use of some weeds?"

“My brother was quite pitiful. He lost his life on the battlefield, and all he got was a worthless certificate. What good is that? It can’t be sold for money or put food on the table. It’s completely useless.

“The military is too much, too. My brother is a martyr who sacrificed his life for the country. They should give us several hundreds of thousands, or a house at the very least.”

Sandra was just about to discipline Madeline.

However, Andrius said, “You’re right. Your brother sacrificed his life for the country. Giving several hundreds of thousands or a house is only appropriate.”

“Heh... So, will you?” Madeline sneered. “You’re just a bunch of paupers who use useless herbs to fool people and call it giving condolences.”

She was getting worked up. In her peripheral vision, she noticed Lyra who came out of the kitchen after hearing the commotion, and instantly felt jealousy when she saw Lyra’s youthful beauty.

“Get out.” Madeline’s face twisted. “You’re trying to mooch off a meal from my family in exchange for a bag of useless weeds? That’s disgusting!”

At those words, Sandra and Lyra’s expressions changed.

When Madeline saw them not reacting, she walked over to Lyra to push her outside.

Ring, ring-

At that moment, her phone rang.

“Who is calling at this time?” she muttered and took her phone out of her pocket.

It was the latest and most expensive model on the market, still wrapped in a brand–new phone case which created a stark contrast with the simple room.

Madeline glanced at the screen and instantly paled. She turned the screen toward herself, not letting Sandra see who it was, and hurriedly rushed into her own room.

Bam!

Chapter 956

2/2

After locking the door, she answered the door and immediately began to plead, “Trent, please give me two more days. I can’t come up with that much money at the moment.”

“You can’t?” On the other end of the phone, Trent chuckled mercilessly. “Don’t forget, Madeline. We made it explicitly clear that you had to pay back the fifty grand within two months when you borrowed it from us back then.

“You even provided your home address and family details. You don’t want me to tell your parents, do you?”

Madeline panicked upon hearing this.

If her parents found out that she had borrowed money at such a high interest rate, they would break her legs!

“Trent, I’m begging you! Please... Please don’t come to my house....” Madeline sobbed, “As long as you don’t come to my house, I’ll do anything.”

“Anything?” Trent sneered. “Madeline, I’m not easily fooled. You better speak clearly. Do you really mean anything?”

Madeline was afraid of the situation being exposed and reluctantly agreed, “Yes. I’ll do anything as long as you don’t come to my house.”

“Great.” Trent said sinisterly, “I can give you a few more days, but you need to show me your sincerity today. Can you do it?”

In order to prevent him from coming to her house, Madeline gritted her teeth and agreed. “Yes.”

“Good, then I’ll wait for you at the usual place. Come over earlier.”

Then, Trent hung up the phone.

Madeline came out of the room with a straight face, acting as if nothing had happened.

Unbeknownst to her, as a Martial Emperor expert, Andrius had remarkable hearing and heard everything clearly even behind a closed door.

Chapter 957

“Give me five grand,” Madeline walked straight up to Sandra and spoke matter-of-factly. Sandra was stunned for a moment and said with a troubled expression, “Maddy, didn’t I just give you two thousand three days ago? Why are you asking for money again?”

Jacques came out to advise her, “Maddy, we don’t have that much money at home. Don’t...”

“Just tell me whether you’ll give it or not!” Madeline snapped before Jacques could finish.

The old couple exchanged a look, showing no intention of giving her the money.

Madeline was instantly furious.

“You old coots don’t know what’s good for you!”

With those words, she marched over to Sandra and began searching her pockets.

“Maddy, you...”

Jacques was helpless against her. When he saw her persistent attitude, he said in exasperation, “Fine.

fine!”

Then, he fetched a card from the bedroom.

“There’s ten thousand inside.” Jacques handed the card to Madeline and advised, “Be frugal. Your mom and I are getting old and need to save money...”

“Yeah, sure.” Madeline did not want to listen to his lectures. She snatched the bank card and mumbled under her breath, “Consider this a loan. I’ll pay it back.”

Upon hearing this, the elderly couple’s expressions brightened slightly.

Jacques reminded her, “Maddy, you must pay us back...”

“Yes, yes. I already said it’s a loan. Stop nagging me about it.”

With the bank card in hand, Madeline walked away and even gave Andrius a disdainful look when she passed him.

“I’m sorry you had to see that, Andrius.” Jacques smiled wryly. “That child... We could never let her suffer. so she developed such a spoiled personality. I don’t know what to do with her in the future.”

Andrius was just about to respond when Sandra said, “Okay, let’s not talk about this anymore.

Dinner is ready. Let’s eat before the food gets cold.”

“Yes, yes, yes!” Jacques patted his head and laughed. “I’m really getting old.”

Then, the four ate together.

The farm-grown meal indeed tasted unique, but Andrius could not enjoy it. He could not believe that there were families of martyrs living in such run-down houses in Florence.

As the Wolf King, he was to blame!

“What’s wrong, Andrius? Is the food not to your liking?” Sandra asked nervously when she saw Andrius silent and in a seemingly bad mood.

“No, of course not.” Andrius quickly smiled and explained, “It’s just that I’ve never had such a peaceful meal in a long time.”

Chapter 957

2/2

“Haha...” Jacques and Sandra laughed and said proudly, “The produce we grow is all completely natural with no pesticides or environmental harm...”

Andrius listened to them chat and felt even more remorseful. It was said that one should repay another handsomely for a small gift. The elderly couple treated him to such a nice meal, but what did he give them?

Andrius finished the meal with a heavy heart.

“Sir and Ma’am, we’ll be on our way to avoid disturbing you further.”

After a short break, Andrius and Lyra bade farewell to the couple.

“Okay.”

“Take care, Andrius.”

The couple stood at the door and watched the two leave.

“Mr. Wolf King, where are we going next?” Lyra finally had an opportunity to be alone with Andrius and did not want to waste it.

Andrius paused. He also did not know where to go.

He had given Halle the Royal Gardens, and Noir’s garage had been abandoned after Noir left.

As for the Crestfalls...

That was another can of worms.

Vroom-

Just then, a Ferrari pulled up beside them.

It was Luna. She had been tracking them.

“Andrius, Lyra,” Luna greeted them.

Andrius asked with some suspicion, “Why are you here?”

“I was just passing by.” Luna appeared self-conscious and quickly changed the subject. “Andrius, Grandpa has been mentioning you a lot. He just told me that dinner is ready at home and asked me to invite you. Get in the car!”

She opened the passenger door of the Ferrari.

Luna’s words made it hard for Andrius to refuse, so he had no choice but to enter.

“Lyra...” Luna asked politely, “Would you like to come along as well?”

She had spent a lot of time learning acupuncture techniques from Artemis Clinic, and New Moon Corporation and the clinic had been contributing to the martyrs recently, so they had become somewhat familiar.

Since they met, she had to at least extend an invitation. It was a matter of social etiquette.

“No need, Luna.” Lyra smiled and got into her own BMW.

“Okay. Bye then, Lyra.”

Chapter 958

“Bye, Luna.”

1/2

Luna brought Andrius back to Crestfall Manor.

The two happened to run into Harry, and Luna gave him a look. "Dad, is dinner ready?"
"It's not dinner time yet..." Harry instinctively answered but noticed Andrius standing beside Luna. He was shocked but understood and quickly corrected himself, "Dinner will be ready soon, very soon."

"Andrius, come, come, come. Sit inside." Harry immediately led Andrius inside.

Luna sighed in relief.

Harry and the Crestfalls began rushing to prepare the meal.

Belarus also quickly came out with a chessboard in hand.

"Andrius..." Belarus' old face revealed a long-lost smile. "It's been a long time since we played chess. Come play a few games with me."

"Sure."

Andrius did not think much since he was already here.

It was a familiar stone table, a familiar opponent, and a familiar opening move. Andrius was white again and moved first.

Belarus brought out the chessboard because he was worried that Andrius might run off again. He did not expect to relieve this scenario so soon and was soon immersed in the game.

Before long, they were locked in a fierce battle.

Belarus moved his pieces quickly while chatting, "Andrius, now that everything is peaceful in Florence and the Lycantroops aren't at war, you must remember to visit Crestfall Manor more often.

This is your home. The door is open for you at any time."

Everything was peaceful?

Only Andrius knew that it was just an illusion. Beneath the calm surface was an intense storm. Once it materialized, it could create a perilous situation in an instant.

However, he merely smiled and said, "I will, Grandpa Belarus."

"Good, good!" Belarus finally laughed.

Then, they were immersed in the thrilling match.

After thirty games, Andrius made the winning move.

"I've gotten old..." Belarus laughed and conceded.

Andrius chuckled and was just about to speak when Luna came out. "Grandpa, Andrius, the food is ready. Let's go eat."

Thus, Belarus and Andrius put away the chessboard.

It was as Andrius expected.

Chapter 95H

2/2

During the meal, Harry and the others kept trying to get him to get back together with Luna.

Andrius brushed them off by saying he had other things to deal with.

After the meal, Belarus said earnestly, "Andrius, you don't have anywhere to go in Sumeria, so just stay the night with Luna today."

Andrius looked at his warm gaze and the white hair on his head. The words of refusal got stuck in his throat. In the end, he agreed. "Okay."

"Great, great!" Belarus patted Andrius' shoulder and gave Luna a subtle look.

Luna said joyfully, "Let's go, hubby."

Along the way, Luna wanted to say something but did not know how to begin.

Andrius knew what she was thinking, but he knew his own circumstances and had no intention to speak first.

Thus, the two of them returned to Dream's Waterfront in silence.

"I'll go take a shower," Luna said to Andrius and went to the bathroom. Her face could not help but blush as she turned around.

Andrius hummed and went into his own room.

However, there was only a mattress remaining. The bedsheets and blankets had all been removed
What was this?

Andrius smiled wryly and went to the living room. He sat on the sofa with his phone and read the latest news.

Swoosh...

Not long after, the bathroom door opened, and Luna came out.

Andrius heard the movement and instinctively looked over. The moment he did, his blood surged. After taking a shower, Luna's skin appeared even more radiant. Her long, wet hair was draped over her shoulders, and she wore a seductive nightgown that was slightly see-through, igniting his primal instincts.

Luna walked closer step by step.

Her astonishing appearance, slender waist, and round thighs all revealed themselves in glimpses as she moved, leaving plenty of room for imagination.

Hiss...

Andrius hissed and took a deep breath to suppress his agitated heart. He asked, "Where are the bedsheets and blankets in my room?"

Luna said casually, "I thought you wouldn't come back, so I had them thrown away. You can sleep in my room tonight!"

Chapter 959

Huh?

Andrius immediately widened his eyes, unable to believe his ears.

Luna wanted to sleep with him?

Come to think of it...

After the last time he was drugged by the Second War God, lost control, and raped Princess Anna from Bardan, Andrius had not slept with a woman a second time.

"Come on."

Just as Andrius was in shock, Luna already grabbed his arm and pushed him into the bedroom.

Bam!

Once inside the room, Luna's long legs kicked the door shut. It was a familiar action she had practiced for at least two and a half years.

"Luna, are you serious?" Andrius asked incredulously.

Luna blushed. Then, she lifted her head, puffed her chest, and gazed deeply at Andrius with large eyes. Do I look like I'm joking?"

Andrius was stunned.

Was this some kind of test?

Who would be able to withstand a test like this?

As they spoke, Luna kept advancing toward Andrius and forced him to the side of the bed.

Andrius snapped back to his senses and realized that he could not let things get any further, or tonight might not end up well for him. He reached out to grab Luna's shoulders and pushed her away, saying. Luna, you need to calm down..."

However, Luna predicted his actions and pressed her slender finger on Andrius' lips. "Don't speak Listen to me."

Andrius had no room to retreat and could only let Luna proceed.

"Hubby" Luna gazed lovingly at Andrius and said sincerely, "Give me another chance."

Andrius was just about to respond, but she interrupted him, "We're husband and wife, and your master and my grandfather arranged our marriage. You once professed your deep love for me and placed this Moon and Stars intertwined on my finger"

As she spoke, she raised her left hand where there was a ring on her middle finger. There was no doubt that it was the genuine 'Moon and Stars Intertwined'.

"Did you know? Ever since you left me and went to the Western border, this ring has been my only source of comfort. Every quiet night, under the bright moon, I take this ring out and think of the words you once told me.

"Love is you and me. It's us under the brilliance of the moon. It's us among the lights of the city. It's us among the four seasons of the year.

"Life is a long journey, and there's no destination for love.

Chapter 959

2/2

"I've always held those words in my heart. They've given me strength and hope time and time again when I was lonely.

"So..." At that point, Luna blushed shyly. "Hubby, love me!"

Andrius was lost in his memories when he heard those emotional words.

Putting aside her self-righteousness, Luna was kind and sincere. Although she had been cold to him at times, she also defended him many times.

When she heard that he might be dead, she had resolutely thrown herself into the cause of supporting the families of martyrs in Sumeria...

It was commendable.

However...

Even if there was an emotional foundation between them, sleeping together like this when their relationship was blurry did not seem like the right thing to do.

Andrius remained uneasy.

At that thought, he turned to her and said, "Luna, give me some time. Let me think things through and take care of some other stuff..."

"That's what you always say!"

This time, Luna was determined.

—

Chapter 960

1/2

Opportunity only knocks once!

She summoned her courage to interrupt Andrius and pushed him down onto the bed while he was astonished.

Then, she climbed on top of him and pressed her ***y lips on his mouth.

That sensation was too intense!

Andrius' mind instantly went blank.

Ever since the incident with Anna, he felt like he had opened the door to a new world. He became more easily agitated and uncontrollable. Furthermore, after trying out the dual cultivation with Kate, those impulses had become even more intense, violent, and hard to control.

Now, after being incited by Luna in this way and pinned down on the bed, he could no longer suppress his primal instincts.

With a bit of force, he flipped her around and took control of the battlefield.

Late at night, the bright moon shone overhead, and stars glimmered. The light of the sun and stars merged together until they were one.

The wind blew gently, and the clouds floated by.

The next day, Andrius woke up early, feeling refreshed. He realized that he had a warm and tender companion in his arms like a little cat, and could not help but smile wryly.

In the end, he failed the test. He could not challenge his own weakness like this in the future again.

Andrius gently removed Luna's hand and carefully covered her with the blanket, ready to sneak away quietly.

However, just as he finished dressing, a hand reached out from under the blanket and grabbed him.

Luna was also up.

"Hubby, where are you going?" Her voice was soft and waxy.

Andrius saw that she was awake and said openly, "I'm going to visit a martyr's family again, and then I'm going to Celestial Enterprise to check if Sonia has received the funds."

"Okay, I'll get up too."

Luna got up and dressed too.

When she got out of bed, she stumbled and almost fell to the ground. Fortunately, Andrius caught her in time. "What's wrong with you?"

Luna blushed and rolled her eyes at him, saying coquettishly. "It's because of what you did last night..."

Andrius was instantly embarrassed.

That was true, but at the same time, it was not completely his fault.

Who was the one who provoked him in the first place?

That was called playing with fire!

Chapter 960

2/2

Nevertheless, it was Luna's first time, so Andrius said thoughtfully, "Then, you should rest more and get up later."

"No." Luna shook her head and said seriously, "I need to go to the office and personally oversee the purchase of medicinal herbs. I can't entrust this to someone else."

Seeing how determined she was to her work, Andrius did not feel as bad.

"Fine."

Then, they both went to freshen up.

Luna took a longer shower, so Andrius left Dream's Waterfront first.

Sonia's new secretary had been waiting for him. "Mr. Moonshade, these are the property deeds that Ms. Timberland prepared for you. Please have a look."

Andrius nodded and took the property deeds.

Willard had sacrificed himself for the nation, so Jacques and his wife should receive compensation for that. Thus, Andrius arranged a house for them.

Then, he took a scooter to Jacques' house.

Just as he arrived, he heard Madeline's high-pitched voice. "Hurry up and hand over the money!

You two will be dying soon, and the money will be left to me anyway. There's no point in just leaving the money there now!"

Andrius frowned and subconsciously quickened his pace.