

Chapter 783 Bryan's Schemes

At the moment, observing Liam kneeling before him, the president was suddenly struck by a revelation.

Liam bore a striking resemblance to that man!

The president was astonished, yet his demeanor remained unchanged. All the uncertainties that had lingered in his mind over the past few days vanished.

It became clear why Liam had been able to coexist with the primogem since childhood, drawing sustenance from it day by day.

The president finally grasped the truth. However, he opted not to disclose the secret harbored within him. Instead, he regarded Liam with approval.

Extending his hand, he assisted Liam to his feet. "Up you go. From now on, you are under my tutelage. Take a day to attend to your personal matters. Special training begins tomorrow."

Liam nodded solemnly. "Yes, master!"

The president promptly took out an identity card adorned with a dragon motif and tossed it to Liam. It represented the president's disciple, granting unrestricted access to the central area.

Moreover, it had an abundant number of points.

Accepting it respectfully, Liam glanced at the card before bowing in reverence. He then turned and left.

At Emmeline's residence on the outskirts.

Excited to share his good news with Emmeline and Claudine, Liam joyfully entered their home.

Emmeline and Claudine were the sole individuals on the island who he cared about. This time, he intended to fulfill his promise by bringing them back to the central area to reside.

However, upon searching the entire house, he couldn't find them.

Liam furrowed his brow. Emmeline and Claudine had assured him they would await his return with good news. Their absence now evoked a sense of foreboding within him.

Without delay, Liam dashed out of the house.

Meanwhile, at Bryan's residence.

Wearing a lecherous expression, Bryan looked at the drugged Emmeline and Claudine, reveling in his schemes. "Ha! Ha! You two are so naive, easily deceived!"

Following his expulsion by Dragon and return home, Bryan harbored resentment. During Liam's ongoing test, he falsely informed Emmeline and Claudine of Liam's demise.

Hearing Bryan's words, Emmeline and Claudine panicked.

Aware of the perils within the Salvation Society tests, they didn't doubt Bryan's claims about Liam's fate, considering Liam's physical condition.

Having successfully tricked them, Bryan convinced Emmeline and Claudine to journey to the central area to retrieve Liam's body. Halfway through, he drugged them and brought them home.

As he looked at the two women lying nearly naked on the bed, Bryan felt aroused. Excitedly licking his lips, he lasciviously caressed them.

Having undressed himself, Bryan proceeded to strip Emmeline and Claudine.

However, just as he reached for Emmeline's undergarments, a powerful force shattered the door behind him!

Startled, Bryan instinctively leaped away and faced the smashed door.

Liam swiftly entered the room. Upon seeing Emmeline and Claudine almost unclothed on the bed, he seethed with anger.

Upon realizing Emmeline and Claudine were missing, Liam immediately suspected Bryan. Armed with his new identity as the president's disciple, he effortlessly discovered Bryan's location and arrived in the nick of time.

Seeing Liam, Bryan was both surprised and enraged. He cursed, "You cripple! You've spoiled my plans. Now I'll settle the score by killing you today!"

Despite his boiling rage, Liam struggled to restrain himself.

Within the confines of the Genesis Island's central area, laws were upheld. But typically, avoiding the act of killing spared individuals from severe repercussions.

However, the Salvation Society members operated beyond these laws. Their actions fell under the internal control of the organization. In essence, their superiors were aware and had authority over their actions.
