

Chapter 794 Taunts And Ridicule

Yesenia remained steadfast in her refusal to compromise, harboring a deep animosity towards Liam.

As Liam faced trouble, she seized the opportunity to mock him relentlessly. "See Asher? Do you really think you deserve to see him? Can you even provide for him? Do you have a house or a car? What assets do you have? What have you accomplished after leaving the Hoffman family? Without them, you're nothing but a failure!"

Liam reacted with disdain but chose not to engage.

He knew Yesenia's snobbish nature well enough.

Persisting, Yesenia continued tauntingly, "Why are you silent? You're just a failure. How dare you return and stay with Julie and Asher?"

With a cold sneer, Liam replied, "I can get any amount of money I need. Asher is my son, and I can provide for him. You don't need to concern yourself."

His words were true. With his current elevated status, money was not a concern for him.

stay with Julie and Asher?"

With a cold sneer, Liam replied, "I can get any amount of money I need. Asher is my son, and I can provide for him. You don't need to concern yourself."

His words were true. With his current elevated status, money was not a concern for him.

Yesenia's smile turned mocking and sarcastic as she said, "Oh, do you still think you're the Hoffman family's young master? You're just back to freeload off Julie. I'll give you three thousand dollars. Take it and find a rundown place to live. Don't bother my daughter and Asher. You have no place here anymore."

Liam dismissed Yesenia; she was insignificant to him now and posed no threat. If he wanted to teach her a lesson, it would demand time and effort.

In the midst of this confrontation, Julie had gone to get Asher. A few minutes later, she emerged from her room, visibly worried. "Mother, where's Asher? Why isn't he home?"

Flatly, Yesenia replied, "I forgot to mention. I sent him to your uncle's house early today. You're supposed to be engaged to Ruben today, so I couldn't bring a child from another man to the event."

Julie blushed but composed herself swiftly. "My uncle's family doesn't like Asher. Aren't you worried he'll be mistreated there?"

Ignoring Julie's concerns, Yesenia said, "Don't fret. They're family and won't mistreat Asher. If you're concerned, go get him."

Preferring not to argue, Julie hurried to get her child.

Among the array of villas, the residence belonging to Julie's uncle was nestled within. To be precise, they were the rightful owners of the entire set of terraced villas.

Furrowing his brow, Liam contemplated the situation. While he wasn't privy to the entire narrative, he could infer the events unfolding. His inclination to reprimand Yesenia lingered, yet he refrained from immediate action. Instead, he chose to quietly trail behind Julie.

Following a stretch along the winding path, Julie came to a halt before a lavishly adorned villa positioned at the heart of the terraced villa complex. She proceeded to knock on its door.

At that instant, she and Liam could hear the faint sounds of two children from inside the villa, one of them softly sobbing in a low voice.

Julie was thrown into a state of panic upon recognizing the crying child's voice, realizing that it belonged to none other than Asher, the son she had with Liam.

Chapter 794 Taunts And Rid

 +120 Points at most

In that moment, both of them increased the frequency of their knocks on the door, growing more insistent and calling out, "Open the door!"

 I want no ads >