

Chapter 829 Satisfactory Performance

The audience quickly formed opinions upon hearing Tristan's words.

"Who acts so recklessly? Where are their manners?"

"Regardless of their identity, their fate seems sealed. If there were any positive news, President Murray wouldn't have phrased it that way."

"I couldn't agree more. I think they'll have no place left in Salem's business circles. With Mr. Murray's influence, even starting anew in other cities will be challenging."

Julie and Yesenia immediately grew anxious upon hearing Tristan's words, assuming Tristan harbored resentment towards them.

In a hushed tone, Yesenia scolded Liam, "This is all your fault. You've caused a disaster this time!"

Liam maintained a calm demeanor, not responding to Yesenia. Simultaneously, Tristan acted oblivious to Liam's presence and asked loudly, "Who is Julie Fiber, in charge of the Pearl Company? Please come up to the stage!"

Julie felt nervous and timid as she was called out by Tristan in front of the crowd. Despite their curious gazes, she shyly stepped onto the stage.

Just when the audience anticipated drama, Tristan's demeanor suddenly shifted. "Miss Fiber is a remarkable entrepreneur. Her dedication to her company is evident. What impresses me most is her commitment to ethical practices in gaining our support. Therefore, we're keen to endorse such an outstanding enterprise. So, I've decided to formally collaborate with the Pearl Company!"

This statement stunned the audience.

Competitors bidding in other sectors also felt apprehensive since they tried to bribe Tristan, unaware that Tristan's actions were merely a pretense to gain favor with Liam.

Yesenia became excited, mocking Elian beside her, "Mr. Haynes, remember your earlier words? Feeling embarrassed now? How amusing! I'm not sorry you got nothing this time."

Enraged but unable to retort, Elian said coldly, "Luck is on your side now. But it won't always be. Let's wait and see!"

After saying that, he left the party disheartened.

Yesenia's smugness made her forget her prior words. She praised Liam, "You're lucky, Liam. Your plan worked unexpectedly well."

Upon receiving Yesenia's praise, Liam only felt a slight sense of disgust.

Liam had a subtle feeling that Tristan was displaying favoritism towards him. Then, he thought of Nolan, realizing the two brothers were indeed trying to please him. Meanwhile, Julie hugged Liam after stepping off the stage, too excited to speak.

She understood the significance of this collaboration. The Pearl Company could venture into the media realm, free from dependence on others, all thanks to Liam's judgment. Onstage, following the announcement of the winner in the media realm, Tristan cleared his throat and said, "Time is limited. Regarding the other realms, we'll make announcements later after thorough consideration. Please be assured! The Red Murray Group will ensure fairness in this bidding process. That concludes today's proceedings." With a satisfied smile, Tristan swiftly retreated backstage. From Liam's reaction, his action had been quite satisfactory.
